INDIANA STRIKE CALLED OFF

SENATE PASSES AAA BILL WITH POWERS SHORN

Leave Final Test to Supreme Court.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—The New Deal's amendments to the agricultural adjustment act, originally designed to make Secretary Wallace an absolute dictator over the producers, handlers and consumers of the nation's farm products, were finally passed by the senate this afternoon in a form that restricts his dictatorship to milk, tobacco, fruits, vegetables, and soy beans.

The amendments, debated for eleven days in the senate, now go to conference with the house of representatives, which passed them substantially in the form desired by the administration.

On the final roll call 50 Democrats, 12 Republicans and 2 radicals voted for the measure and 9 Democrats and 6 Republicans voted against it. The overwhelming vote for passage bore out earlier predictions that there would be no serious effort to defeat the bill, most senators having preferred to leave that task for the Supreme court.

Early Court Test Planned.

Both Republican and conservative Democratic foes of the AAA are confident that the Supreme court will hold the basic act unconstitutional and an early test is assured by a senate amendment permitting suits to recover processing taxes that have not been passed on to producers or consumers. One of the major purposes of the amendments was to close the courts, but the senate rejected this scheme by a vote of 41 to 23. As a result, the Hoosack Mills case, in which the Boston Circuit Court of Appeals held the AAA unconstitutional, will not be thrown out and the highest tribunal will have a chance to pass upon it.

The senate bill specially legalizes all past activities of Secretary Wallace, including the imposition of processing taxes and the payment of farm benefits for crop reductions, "freezing" them into law as if they had been enacted by congress itself. This action, however, will serve only to meet constitutional objections to the delegation of legislative power, and the Boston Circuit court held that congress, in its attempts to regulate production, had invaded a field over which it had no power.

Call Provisions Unconstitutional.

While the bill overcomes constitutional defects with respect to the delegation of taxing and bounty paying powers, it contains a vast unfettered delegation of other powers, which senate lawyers term "palpably unconstitutional." Secretary Wallace, for example, is empowered to issue "orders," instead of licenses, whenever he has "reason to believe" that they will tend to effectuate the policy of the act.

The term "orders" is applicable only to milk, tobacco, fruits and vegetables [not including those for canning] and soy beans, but Wallace also is given a broad delegation of power with respect to basic commodities.

Powers Given to Wallace.

Whenever he has "reason to believe," or "imagines," as some senators put it, that "the current average farm price for any basic agricultural commodity is less than the fair exchange value thereof, or the average farm price of such commodity is likely to be less than the fair exchange value thereof for the period in which the production of such commodity during the current or next succeeding marketing year is normally marketed," he may:

Provide through agreements with producers for "adjustments" in acreages and for rental and benefit payments.

Provide for the storage of nonperishable commodities on the farms, make loans against such commodities and pay benefits in kind. This is Wallace's "ever normal granary" scheme.

Price Fixing Eliminated.

The senate eliminated all proposed powers to fix minimum prices at which food handlers could purchase products from producers or resell them to consumers, but in the case of milk and its products Secretary Wallace is empowered to issue orders providing for uniform prices to producers or associations of producers if such provisions are approved by three-fourths of the producers or producers of three-fourths of the milk.

His "orders" with respect to fruits, vegetables, tobacco, and soy beans may limit the total quantity of any such product, or any grade, size, or quality thereof, that may be marketed or transported to any or all markets during any specified period of time. Orders with marketing agreements in

48 UNIONS GO BACK TO WORK IN TERRE HAUTE

Soldiers Quell New Riot with Gas.

BY EDWIN KENNEDY.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 23.—[Special.]—The general strike of union workers which yesterday brought martial law to all of Vigo county and seriously affected Terre Haute's business activities for a time, was called off with dramatic suddenness tonight.

At 10:40 p. m., Chicago time, the announcement was made by Thomas N. Taylor, general organizer for the American Federation of Labor and one of the principal leaders of the strikers. The decision to retreat from the extreme position that 48 unions had taken was decided on a little earlier at a meeting of the Vigo county central labor council.

Terms Strike "Wildcat."

This central body had never authorized the general strike, declaring it a "wildcat demonstration." The withdrawal of the support of its individual member unions was strongly resented by 600 striking employés of the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company, the focus of the trouble, and they started what threatened to become widespread riots shortly before midnight.

The most serious trouble developed at the stamping plant. National Guardsmen were hurried to the scene and after a battle in which tear gas was freely used about 100 of the most boisterous pickets were placed under arrest. It was reported a few minutes later that the situation was well in hand.

Demonstration Deplored.

Leaders of the 48 unions which went out to show their sympathy for the Columbian strikers deplored the violence, saying that it would tend to make the work of peacemaking harder.

In his talk Taylor said that organized labor believed the federal conciliators, Charles L. Richardson and Harry Scheck, sent here by the department of labor, were competent to conduct negotiations between the stamping company and the union, and that in view of this it was deemed "in the best interests of the community" for those who had gone out in sympathy to return to their jobs immediately.

Tieup Losing Grip.

Another factor, possibly, was the waning effectiveness of the tieup. Yesterday at noon hardly a store in Terre Haute dared open, and it was impossible to buy many of the necessities of life. But the coming in of 2,000 Indiana National Guardsmen last night and the declaration of Brig. Gen. D. Wray Deprez that ice and milk must be delivered and shipments of food allowed to pass unmolested brought a change.

About half of the stores opened this afternoon and many of the unionized workers who saw the futility of the general strike returned to their jobs. Roving bands of the strike proponents threatened these workers, but the presence of the troops prevented any violence and the number of deserters grew.

City Celebrates Truce.

After the announcement by Taylor long lines of automobiles passed through the streets, with horns honking, to celebrate the labor armistice. Stores were lighted up. The bus and street car companies said their service would be resumed at daybreak.

Charles B. Gorby, president of the Columbian company, said he was willing to meet the federal conciliators and the union representatives in an effort to reach an understanding.

"We will enter discussion under the provisions of the Wagner law until that law is declared unconstitutional," he said.

The company plant has been shut down since the strike was called several months ago in an effort to force recognition of the Enameling and Stamping Workers' union.

Imported Guards Bring Action.

The sentiment for the general strike was aroused when the company brought in guards and gave indications of an intention to open with nonunion labor.

Aside from the disorders that occurred after the general strike was called off, the troops had dispersed several gatherings during the day, most of them in the vicinity of the Columbian plant. Private Eugene Harley of Martinsville was injured by a brick hurled at his legs.

Tear gas was used [illegible] dispersing the crowds, and some 50 men were arrested and held under military guard through the day. No decision was reached as to when martial law would be dissolved.

PACIFIC SHIPS IN COLLISION; ONE IS SINKING

San Francisco, Cal., July 23.—(AP)—The steamships Calmar and Koryu Maru collided ten miles south of the San Francisco lightship at 9:02 p. m. [Pacific standard time] and twenty minutes later the crew of the Calmar was reported taking to the lifeboats.

Radio reports intercepted by the marine department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce said the Koryu Maru apparently was in no danger.

The Calmar left San Francisco today bound for east coast ports. The Koryu Maru was inbound from Yokohama.

The coast guard cutter Shawnee left immediately for the scene of the collision and was expected to reach the stricken ship by midnight.

So far as could be learned there were no passengers aboard the Calmar.

At 9:22 o'clock the Calmar radioed she was lowering boats, but radio stations here still were in communication with her ten minutes later. At 9:34 o'clock she reported her steam was going out.

Poor visibility was believed to have been responsible for the collision. The sea was smooth.

Straub Widow Denied $4,000 Murder Claim

Mrs. Helen Straub lost her fight yesterday to collect $4,000 workman's compensation for the death of her husband, Louis K. Straub, who was shot to death mysteriously on Feb. 3 in the Saddle and Cycle club where he was employed as a bartender.

Albert V. Becker, arbiter for the Illinois industrial commission, ruled that witnesses for the widow had failed to show that Straub was killed while in the actual performance of his duties at the club. Therefore, the arbiter held, she was not entitled to compensation from the Employers' Liability Assurance company, the defendant. The assurance company successfully contended that Straub was killed because of private affairs and not in the course of his duties.

Clashes Mark Hearing.

The hearing, held in the industrial commission offices at 205 West Wacker drive, was marked with clashes between the opposing attorneys in their efforts to adduce extraneous evidence. At one point Attorney Harold Levy, representing Mrs. Straub, inquired point blank of Attorney Henry Kane, counsel for the assurance company, whether he knew who had killed Straub.

Kane refused to answer the question beyond stating that he would give any information he had "to the proper authorities."

After the arbiter had ruled, Levy said that he would appeal the case to the five members of the industrial commission. In the event of a further adverse ruling, Levy said he would carry the claim to the Superior or Circuit courts. He was given 15 days in which to prepare his appeal to the commission.

Kane said after the hearing that at the end of the 15 day period he would give Capt. Martin O'Malley of the Summerdale police station whatever information in his possession which might have a bearing on a further investigation of Straub's death.

Calls Attorney as Witness.

In an unusual legal move during the hearing, Levy called Kane as a plaintif's witness. At Levy's request the other lawyer produced an affidavit made by a Clarence Smith in which Smith swore he was connected with the federal bureau of investigation and that early on the morning of Feb. 3 shortly after the time of Straub's murder is believed to have occurred he saw a woman he identified as Mrs. Billie Edlin hurriedly leaving a drug store at the corner of Argyle and Winthrop avenues, carrying a bottle of liquor wrapped in a green paper.

Mrs. Edlin, a friend of Mrs. Straub's, was questioned during the investigation of the murder.

Kenneth Colling, a taxicab driver, had told the police that he drove a woman from the Saddle and Cycle club to the drug store at Argyle and Winthrop avenues.

Inquiries among federal officials after the reading of the affidavit disclosed that they had no employé by the name of Clarence Smith.

Kane declared that Colling, the cab driver, had told him he could identify Mrs. Edlin as the woman he had driven to the club and later to the drug store. Kane also said that Colling recognized Mrs. Straub as the woman who had put Mrs. Edlin in his cab at Broadway and Grace street earlier in the evening.

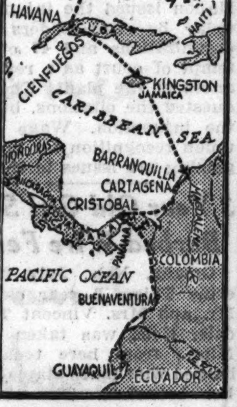
GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, July 23.—If there is any truth in the old proverb, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy, and wise," I should soon be seeing results. I arose at 4:40 a. m. today at Cristobal, Panama, and took off on the Pan-American Grace air liner Commodore at 6 o'clock.



We flew over the canal. Seeing both oceans is a spectacular sight. Culebra cut was hidden in a blanket of mist, leaving the wooded hilltops and radio towers protruding.

We passed the peak in Darien from which Balboa got his historic eyeful. We were joined at Buenaventura, Colombia, by Burton Holmes, who is preparing a new lecture, and Hudson Strode, Alabama author.

It was smooth flying over the ocean, but being over the jungles makes the caboose shake around considerably. We crossed the equator above a solid cloud floor at an 8,000 foot altitude. Mount Chimborazo was hidden.

Thomas Nast, pioneer of the modern American cartoon, encountering financial distress late in life, aroused the sympathy of President Roosevelt, who in 1902 appointed him to the consular post at Guayaquil. Nast accepted, humorously claiming it was the only way to learn to pronounce the name, but really with misgivings because of the port's reputation for yellow fever.

He drew a prophetic cartoon of a combat between himself and the "yellow jack" [fever]. He departed for the post, where he died a few months later.

Link Alterie Killing to Bond Racket Gang

The tracing of a mysterious threatening telegram filed two hours after the murder last Thursday of Louis [Two Gun] Alterie caused the police yesterday to suspect that the gangster and labor union president may have been slain for turning informer against a bucket shop syndicate whose widespread activities were centered in Denver.

Shortly after new information pointing to this possibility became known, Eddie Schulman, 29 years old, 520 Roscoe street, who had been sought for questioning, surrendered at the detective bureau. He admitted that he is under indictment in Denver on mail fraud charges but denied that he knows anything of Alterie's murder. He was held for further questioning.

Casts Doubt on Union Theory.

Heretofore the police have been pinning their hopes of solving the murder on the theory that Alterie was killed by gangland rivals in a feud to control two unions with which the hoodlum had connections.

The mysterious telegram was made public by Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan. It was dictated by telephone from a booth in a drug store in the 3000 block on North Cicero avenue. The wire was addressed to Harry Schechtel in Denver, and was signed "Jack Freed." It read:

"You'd better clear the boys with Tom Morrisey. If Louis' accident does not convince you, then you can expect the same. You will be next."

Denver police were notified, and asked to identify the persons named in the message. Detective Captain James E. Childers of Denver replied that Morrisey is the United States district attorney in Denver, in charge of prosecuting 23 Denver and Chicago men, under indictment for using the mails in the bucket shop frauds.

Story Implicates Shulman.

Schechtel, Capt. Childers, said, pleaded guilty and is expected to testify for the government in the trial, set for this fall. Asked to identify "Jack Freed," Schechtel informed the Denver police captain, the latter said, he thought "Freed" to be Schulman, who has posted bond to insure his presence for trial with the 22 others in the Denver federal court.

The night before Alterie was assassinated Schechtel told Capt. Childrers he received a telephone warning from Chicago, predicting the killing, and threatening that he also would be killed if he turned "stool pigeon."

Schechtel also maintained, according to the Denver police, that Alterie "beat him up" a month ago in Cheyenne, Wyo., and later telephoned him to "forget about it; it's all right."

At the detective bureau last night Schulman denied all of Schechtel's charges. He admitted having worked for Schechtel "on some bond deals." He met Alterie only once, Schulman declared, and that was through Schechtel's introduction.

Try to Identify Him Today.

Today he will be viewed by Mrs. Frances Kern, caretaker of the flat across the street from Alterie's hotel at 926 Eastwood avenue, where the two killers waited a week for the right time to cut the gangster down from ambush with rifle bullets and shotgun slugs. Witnesses in the Cicero avenue drug store who saw three men believed to have been telephoning the Denver message to the telegraph company also will view Schulman, police said, in an effort to identify him as one of the trio.

The druggist, whose name was withheld by police, looked at Schulman last night, but could not identify him.

More than 1,000 victims in 17 western states were swindled out of $500,000 by the bucket shop gang, according to the Denver district attorney. Police believe that Alterie may have given information incriminating the security swindling crowd, or possibly may have attempted to "muscle in" on their lucrative racket.

The slain Alterie was buried yesterday in Los Angeles.

MAYOR ORDERS A SQUARE DEAL CAR ORDINANCE

Outlines His Policy to Transit Heads.

In a round table conference with the heads of the three major transportation companies in Chicago, Mayor Kelly yesterday outlined the city's policy on transit matters. He indicated that within a year he hopes to clear up the whole tangled transit situation with an ordinance under which the service of the surface lines, the elevated lines and the Chicago Motor Coach company may be consolidated.

The mayor declared that his goal was a square deal for every one, both the public and the transportation companies, and that all the negotiations would be conducted "across the table, not under it." He spoke to the transit executives and to the members of the city council transportation committee who gathered in a room at the city hall for the conference.

Invite Lines to Draft Plan.

The committee is now preparing to draft a unification ordinance, but a highlight of the meeting was an invitation to the heads of the transit lines to get together and submit a tentative ordinance of their own. Whether this will be done was not indicated during the session, but in some quarters at the city hall it was believed that the companies will bring in such an ordinance within ten days as an evidence of the coöperation with Mayor Kelly which was promised at the conference by the transit executives.

These included Guy A. Richardson and Harry D. Fleming, co-receivers for the surface lines; Edward Eagle Brown, president of the First National bank, and Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Continental-Illinois National bank, who represent the surface lines' security holders; Col. A. A. Sprague, co-receiver, and B. J. Fallon, general manager of the elevated lines, and John A. Ritchie, president, and Benjamin Weintraub, vice president of the motor coach company.

Mayor Pushes On with Program.

The first step in Mayor Kelly's transit program was achieved on Monday with an announcement by the Illinois commerce commission that a system of transfers between the surface and elevated lines will go into effect on Sept. 22. Yesterday the motor coach company asked to be included in the transfer system and hearings began before the commission.

With the transfer victory won, the mayor felt free to outline the next steps on his program.

It was pointed out that the city's powers over transit facilities will be greatly increased by the home rule bill which was passed in the recent session of the legislature. Only public approval of this measure at a referendum next April will be necessary to make it effective.

Under its terms the city will have complete control of the use of its streets by any transportation companies, may order them to cease operation, or may establish competing services to bring them into line.

Kelly Outlines His Policy.

With this background Mayor Kelly launched into his exposition of policy before the transit executives and the aldermen.

"The unified traction ordinance will provide a square deal for every one," he said. "It is going to be a bread and butter propositon, and the cake is out. The city proposes that the ordinance will be for the people, but it does not intend to penalize the transportation companies to attain this goal.

"The ordinance must be a popular ordinance, and at the same time it must provide that local transportation will be a paying business in Chicago. All our dealing will be across the table, not under it. The people will know what is going on. We expect transportation interests to come here with clean hands, and we expect the hands of the aldermen and the mayor to be equally clean.

Says City Will Control.

"Chicago will control her streets when recent state legislation becomes law by referendum. This means that Chicago is finally able to care for her own rights. No company will be favored at the expense of others. The ordinance will be based on solid rock, and it will stand with the people because it is right."

After the mayor's statement Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the council transportation committee, extended the invitation to the companies to draft and submit their own ordinance. At the same time he directed William H. Sexton, former corporation counsel, who is now attorney for the committee, and Philip Harrington, consulting engineer for the committee, to collect data which will enable the city to draft its own ordinance.

Richardson Has Proposal.

Although all the transit officials at the conference promised to coöperate with Mayor Kelly's program, Mr. Richardson of the surface lines laid down an alternative to the unified traction proposal.

He pointed out that the surface lines, which like the elevated lines are in receivership, now have a bondholders' committee, headed by W. Rufus Abbott, working on a plan to unify fully the parts of the street car system. These include the Chicago Railways company [north and west side lines], the Chicago City Railways company [most of the south side lines], the Calumet and South Chicago Railways company, and the Southern Street railway.

With this unification completed, Mr. Richardson said, the surface lines will be a company providing adequate transportation to 98 per cent of the city's inhabitants and 85 per cent of its area. This company, therefore, he argued, should be the hub of Chicago's transportation with bus and elevated lines operating as auxiliaries under the universal transfer arrangement. His conclusion was that such an arrangement would make a unified system unnecessary.

City Calls for Unification.

That unification is the city's goal, however, was indicated by Ald. Quinn's suggestion that all of the transportation lines agree on an ordinance which will provide for one company operating with a single financial setup. This provision is considered the chief difficulty, since it requires a transfer of securities without any existing accepted basis for such interchange.

It is believed, however, that the problem is somewhat simplified by the surface lines' receivership and the fact that under the new bankruptcy laws a minority of security holders will not be able to halt reorganization measures.

Mayor Kelly said at the conference that he intends to attend the meetings of the transportation committee and take a hand in all the negotiations looking toward achievement of his traction policies. He is hopeful that the new unification ordinance will be drafted in time so that it may be approved by the council next February and submitted to the voters in April together with the home rule measure.

History of Mayor's Program.

Mayor Kelly's transit program took form soon after he entered the city hall. His first recommendation of importance came in April, 1934, when he demanded that the 1930 traction unification ordinance be scrapped on the ground that it did not provide adequate facilities for the public. The council followed his recommendation, and this ordinance, which had never been accepted by the transportation lines, went into the discard.

The mayor then launched his campaign for establishment of a universal transfer system and at the recent session of the legislature he had introduced in the legislature the home rule bill. The success of this measure is credited in large part for the promises of coöperation which Mr. Kelly received yesterday from the transit executives. Officials pointed out that the day's conference was the first round table meeting on transit matters since 1930.

Old Ordinance Extended.

Since the scrapping of the 1930 ordinance the surface and elevated lines have been operating under short term extensions of the old 1907 ordinance. The motor coach company is operating with a certificate from the Illinois commerce commission and will not be under city control until the home rule measure becomes law.

When the bus company yesterday offered to enter the transfer system the proposal was opposed before the commerce commission by attorneys for the surface and elevated lines on the ground that hearings would take several months. The objections were overruled by the commission, however, and a motor coach representative was permitted to suggest a list of 24 stations for transfer between elevated trains and buses, and 124 points for transfer between street cars and buses. The hearing was then continued until today.

PISTOL FIRE ENDS SENATE DEBATE IN ARGENTINA; 1 DIES

BUENOS AIRES, July 23.—(AP)—Senator Enzo Bordabehere was shot and killed and a provincial deputy wounded today when an excited spectator in the gallery of the senate chamber punctuated a bitter debate on the floor with a burst of pistol fire.

Police arrested Carlos Valdez Cora, a former police official in the town of Vicente Lopez. A charge of murder was preferred against him. Senator Bordabehere was not engaged in the debate at the time of the shooting.

Senator Lisandro Delatorre was conducting an interpellation of the government's meat control program. He was repeatedly interrupted by Minister of Finance Frederico Pinedo. The situation flared into a quarrel between Delatorre and Pinedo, who attempted an exchange of fisticuffs. At the height of the exchange shots rang out and Bordabehere fell.

Lifts Picketing Ban Signed by Klarkowski on Vacation

Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher yesterday declared void an injunction, restraining the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' union from picketing the Heineman bakery at 2316 Foster avenue, that was issued Monday by Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski at Richmond, McHenry county. Judge Fisher ruled that the order must be set aside on the ground that a judge had no right to hold a "vest pocket" court while on vacation and while another judge has been regularly appointed by the court to hear all emergency matters.

COURT OUTLAWS STRIKE PICKETS AT OHIO PLANT

Cleveland, July 23.—(AP)—All picketing at the Industrial Rayon company plant, where a strike has been in progress ten weeks, was outlawed today by an injunction issued in common pleas court.

Dan Moley, secretary of the Cleveland Federation of Labor, said a general one-day strike might be called unless Mayor Harry L. Davis acts tomorrow to settle the strike.

Common Pleas Judge Walter McMahon issued the injunction. Earlier today he cited leaders of two labor organizations and 47 others for contempt of court as a result of disturbances at the plant. The company requested the citations, but did not ask the injunction. Wage increases and union recognition for purposes of bargaining are issues in the strike.

Springfield, Ill., July 23.—(AP)—K. L. STILL PENALIZE DRIVERS UNDER REPEALED LAWS

Officers in Dilemma Under New Trafic Code.

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago motorists are being arrested, convicted and penalized for violations of trafic laws that were repealed on July 9. On that date Gov. Horner signed a series of bills passed by the recent general assembly, repealing old automobile regulations and establishing a new comprehensive code. Yesterday the police had not yet received copies of the new code.

"If any defendant were to object to trial under laws that no longer exist," said Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court, "there would be only one thing that a judge could do, dismiss the case."

This assertion applies to all cases alleging a state offense and does not apply to charges of violating a city ordinance. The more serious offenses, such as speeding and driving while intoxicated, are state cases.

Confusion Aplenty Results.

Capt. David Flynn, chief of the police trafic division, said that every effort would be made promptly to furnish the department with copies of the new code. The Chicago Motor club was running off mimeographs last night to be made available today to city, park and suburban police.

This is only part of the confusion that has resulted from the legislature's hasty enactment of a new trafic code drafted by the state highway department and introduced in the assembly a few weeks before adjournment. The illegal enforcement of repealed laws might have been avoided, it was pointed out, by making the effective date Jan. 1, 1936.

A more serious problem has arisen over the administration of the new trafic code. Its section on penalties provides for fines or imprisonment, rather than merely for fines, and this provision, according to Joseph H. Braun, general counsel for the motor club, deprives justices of the peace and police magistrates of jurisdiction.

A Constitutional Restriction.

"The constitution of Illinois gives to courts of record the sole jurisdiction of cases in which a jail sentence might be imposed," the lawyer told a luncheon meeting of Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe committee.

"Until the special session in September amends the code, the only functions of the justices of the peace and of the police magistrates will be to hold the defendants to the grand juries for indictment, even for such petty cases as failing to have a windshield wiper in good working condition."

Most country town police magistrates and justices of the peace were awaiting yesterday an interpretation of the new code by Attorney General Otto Kerner. Justice of the Peace John L. Kreitzer of Oak Park, who disagrees with the motor club counsel, yesterday fined most of the thirty speeders arraigned before him.

Two hundred fifty justices of the peace and police magistrates of Cook county have been called by the motor club for a meeting today to evolve any plans that might prevent a complete breakdown in the administration of trafic laws in those communities that do not have municipal courts [such as Chicago's] that are courts of record. Suburban police chiefs, the state's attorney's office, and the attorney general's office have also been invited to participate.

TRACE $216,200 VICTORY NOTES IN SWEITZER CASE

State's Attorney Courtney's staf tackled another mystery in the Robert M. Sweitzer case yesterday. Subpoena duces tecum were obtained for bank records that are expected to throw light on a $216,200 transaction in United States Victory notes in 1926.

Sweitzer was ousted as county treasurer by the county board after auditors uncovered a $414,000 shortage in his accounts while he was county clerk, an office which Sweitzer held for 24 years. He now is under indictment in connection with this shortage.

Clews now in the possession of the prosecutor, it was reported, indicate that the Foreman National bank collected the notes from the Federal Reserve bank and that the proceeds found their way to the Union Trust company, where Sweitzer, then county clerk, had his personal account.

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, acting chief justice of the Criminal court, issued subpoena duces tecum against the Federal Reserve bank and the First National bank. The latter absorbed the Foreman and Union Trust banks.

BOARD ASKS ADVANCE PROGRAM OF LABOR'S SOLDIERS' FIELD FETE

The Chicago park board yesterday asked the officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor to present a complete advance program of their Labor day celebration planned for Soldiers' field Sept. 2. The date for the celebration was previously allocated by the park board, but the contract has not been executed. It was stated last week that the Chicago Federation of Labor will ask Father Charles E. Coughlin to speak on the Labor day program.

A previous request by Father Coughlin for the use of Soldiers' field was denied by the park board. Trial of a mandamus action to compel the board to permit Coughlin to speak in Soldiers' field was completed Monday before Superior Judge James J. Kelly. A decision is pending.

SHERIF CAPTURES 3 FLEEING BANDITS SINGLE HANDED

Three robbers who identified themselves as Chicagoans were captured single-handed yesterday afternoon by Sherif William Maier of Kendall county after two of them had been wounded in the holdup of a tavern west of Gardner in Grundy county. The arrest was made at a cross road near Yorkville, 35 miles north of the tavern.

Entering the tavern, the men announced their intention to "clean out the place." Mary Dickens, 20 year old daughter of the proprietor A. H. Dickens, backed into a rear room and told her father the tavern was being robbed. Dickens seized his shotgun and fired at the trio as they fled without loot in their car.

Two hours later Sherif Maier, who had been notified and given a description of the robbers' car, saw it approaching. Drawing his revolver, he leaped on the running board, and forced the men to drive to the county jail at Yorkville. There they identified themselves as J. H. Haxton, 31 years old, Joe Gottardo, 27 years old, and James Blair, 25 years old. Haxton was wounded in the left forearm and Gottardo in the shoulder.

PRESIDENT ACTS TO END ROW ON VIRGIN ISLANDS

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today attempted to quell the political tempest which has been veering about the administration of the Virgin Islands by clearing those islands of their two embattled leading officials.

The President nominated Lawrence W. Cramer, lieutenant governor of St. Croix Island, to succeed Gov. Paul M. Pearson. He transferred Judge T. Weber Wilson from the District court of the islands to the federal board of paroles in Washington. Wilson and Pearson had been attacking each other during the senate investigation into the islands.

Pesident's Act Expected.

The President's peace move came abruptly with the submission of Cramer's name to the senate for the islands post. The action has not been unexpected, however, as observers had predicted the course of the White House when it became apparent the affair was getting too hot for the administration to handle without official head chopping.

With the announcement the White House made public correspondence which indicated Gov. Pearson had fought to the last ditch against resignation and that Judge Wilson had offered to capitulate. The correspondence included a letter in which Wilson offered to give up his post, but contained no such letter from Pearson, for whom a PWA post has been found.

Following the announcement, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who aligned himself with Gov. Pearson and against the senate investigating committee, emerged from the executive office. He declared he was satisfied with the turn of affairs. Earlier in the day at his press conference Ickes had emphatically stated there was no change contemplated in the islands' administration.

Fails to See President.

Pearson also stated earlier in the day that he had no intention of resigning and had not been asked to resign. Pearson was questioned because he went to the White House yesterday afternoon and attempted unsuccessfully to see the President. It was disclosed today that his visit was a final effort to stave off removal.

Secretary Ickes revealed that Gov. Pearson had accepted a post as assistant PWA housing director in charge of public welfare. In his letter to Pearson, President Roosevelt said that he had heard the post had been offered and that "you may wish to transfer to another field."

Ickes was asked whether he regarded the outcome of the affair as a victory for him in view of the fact that he had thrown his full weight behind Pearson, a Republican appointee.

Cramer Republican Appointee.

"You can make your own interpretation," Ickes said. Apparently as an afterthought he added, "I'm satisfied."

Cramer, who succeeds Pearson, also is a Republican appointee. He is a graduate of Wisconsin and Columbia universities. At the time of his present appointment to the islands in 1933 he was a professor of government at Columbia. That he succeeded Pearson was said by the White House to have been recommended by Ickes.

In his letter to Pearson President Roosevelt wrote:

"Though it is a source of satisfaction to know that the current investigation of the Virgin Islands has developed no facts that reflect upon your honesty or integrity, or devotion to duty, yet you may wish to transfer to another field of service to work under different conditions.

Tells of Offer by Ickes.

"Administrator Ickes tells me that he has offered you the position of assistant director of housing in charge of public welfare. This is a post of honor that ought particularly to appeal to you, because it will give you a chance to assist in the social rehabilitation of those under-privileged fellow citizens of ours who, on account of economic conditions, have been forced to live in slum areas. I am sure that this is the sort of a task that will engage the interest of a man with your background and concern for humanity.

"I want you to continue to be a member of my administration. I, therefore, hope that you will accept the offer that Secretary Ickes has made you."

Deaf Pair Accused in Holdup

Victim Remembers

About two months ago Leslie Lambertson, 5321 Winthrop avenue, was walking along Michigan avenue near Ohio street at night when a deaf couple asked a direction by means of pencil and paper. When Lambertson was trying to help them they slugged him and robbed him of $3, a diamond ring, and a watch. While Lambertson was strolling to the Oak street beach yesterday he recognized the couple at Oak street and Michigan avenue and Park Policeman George Murphy arrested the pair. At the Chicago avenue station they identified themselves as Herman and Florence Skedsmo, 26 West Chestnut street.

DANCER PLEADS SELF-DEFENSE IN KILLING HUSBAND

Conflicting Evidence Is Given as Trial Starts.

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Williams and Clarence Collins, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Mrs. Margaret Rose, 22 years old, who says she is a toe dancer from Detroit, went on trial yesterday before a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Eli I. Frankhauser on a charge of murdering her husband, Walter J. Rose. Rose was stabbed to death with a butcher knife in their home at 751 North Dearborn street early in the morning of July 4.

After selection of the jury, the state's case was presented by Assistant State's Attorney Donald Thompson. During his questioning of the veniremen Prosecutor Thompson made no mention of the death penalty, merely asking each juror if he would be moved to sympathy or prejudice because the defendant is a comely young woman.

Self-Defense Plea.

In his opening address to the jury, Defense Attorney Ross Lee Laird announced that Mrs. Rose would take the stand and give her version of the killing. She stabbed her husband in self-defense, Laird said. When Mrs. Rose returned home and found him intoxicated, according to Laird, Rose threatened to kill her with the knife. There were no witnesses to the slaying.

Two conflicting statements made by Mrs. Rose when police questioned her were presented in evidence by the prosecutor. In the first statement she declared she returned home at 1 a. m. from the Royale Frolics café at 426 South Wabash avenue, where she claims she was employed as a dancer, and found her husband stabbed.

In the second statement Mrs. Rose told of finding her husband intoxicated. He threatened to kill her, she said, for coming home five minutes late, and in the struggle for possession of the knife she killed him.

Denies Job at Café.

Mrs. Birdie Barry of the Majestic hotel, wardrobe mistress at the café, testified Mrs. Rose was not employed there either as an entertainer, specialty dancer, or chorine. The club, Mrs. Barry said, is owned by Denis Cooney, underworld character.

Two other witnesses, friends of Mrs. Rose, said she called them to her home, where they found Rose dead. They were Mrs. Walter Axnick, Rose's sister, and Otto Schrott, 1804½ Juneau terrace.

The defense will begin its presentation of evidence today.

Because of the Rose trial Judge Frankauser continued until Aug. 12 the case of another woman accused of murdering her husband. She is Mrs. Susanne Madoian, 31 years old, alleged to have shot and killed her estranged husband, Leo, 35 years old, when he told her she was "pretty enough to get plenty of other fellows."

Mongrel Pup's Efforts Bring Rescue to Drowning Girl

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 23.—A mongrel pup made gallant efforts to save from drowning his 8 year old mistress after she had been swept into the current of the Alouetta river, 20 miles from here. He swam to her and she grabbed his tail. Three times she lost hold while the pup struck out for shore. Fred Lade, hearing her screams, jumped in and rescued the girl, who recovered quickly while the pup ran around nosing Lade with gratitude.

LA GUARDIA CITES NAZIS; ALIEN'S LICENSE BARRED

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Mayor F. H. La Guardia today sustained the refusal of Paul Moss, commissioner of licenses, to grant a massage operator's license to a German alien on the grounds American citizens have been unfairly discriminated against in Germany. Specifically, said the mayor, "It is well known that American citizens of Jewish faith have been discriminated against in Germany."

La Guardia stated his position in a letter to Corporation Counsel Paul Windels, in which he voided a ruling by Windels that the license should be granted because of treaty obligations between the United States and Germany.

Last May Commissioner Moss denied the application for the license under a section of the New York code which provides that only citizens of the United States may be licensed. The German consulate general asked that a license be granted under the 1925 commercial treaty, which provides that German citizens in the United States have the same rights as American citizens in Germany.

SHOOTS FUR SHOP OWNER; BLAMES HIS 'HYPNOTISM'

Carrying a shotgun wrapped in paper Carl Barnick, 27 years old, 2627 North Meade avenue, walked into a fur store at 4155 Broadway yesterday afternoon. Then, without saying a word, he unwrapped the weapon and fired, wounding one of the owners, Theodore Dalpe, 32 years old, 911 Airdrie place, in the left leg.

As he was fleeing from the store Barnick was captured by Policemen Earl Flannery and Joseph Lloyd. Taken to the Town Hall police station, he was questioned by Sergt. Michael Ahern.

"You won't understand it, but I had to shoot that fellow," said Barnick. "He's been hypnotizing me and trying to get me to do things I don't want to do."

Dalpe, at the John B. Murphy hospital, said he knew no reason for the attack. His partner, William Reardon, said that Dalpe was not a hypnotist and that he did not believe he was acquainted with Barnick.

HAMMOND POLICE CAPTURE LABATT KIDNAP SUSPECT

Prisoner Taken Away in Company of 2 Mounties.

A man known as James Parker, held in the Hammond jail as a robber, was identified yesterday as Michael McCardell, who had long been sought by the authorities at London, Ont., as one of the gang that kidnaped John S. Labatt, a wealthy brewer, last summer.

After the identification, McCardell was taken from the city jail by a squad of Hammond policemen and two members of the Canadian Royal Mounted force. It was reported that his captors were questioning the prisoner in some secluded spot, and that they expected to get important information from him. Rumors that the mounties were spiriting him back to Canada were denied. One report was that he had confessed complicity in the kidnaping.

Arrested in Hijacking Case.

McCardell had been in custody since June 22. He was arrested after a battle with policemen who suspected that he was one of the men who had hijacked a load of fruit on its way from Michigan to Chicago. Formally charged with robbery while armed, he was held to the grand jury in bonds of $30,000.

Labatt went to Hammond, it was said, and made the identification. He was accompanied by Norman F. Newton, the crown attorney at London. Last night Mr. Newton said that efforts would be made to have McCardell swiftly extradited.

History of the Abduction.

The Labatt kidnaping occurred on Aug. 14, 1934. The victim was taken to a hideout at Muskola, Ont., and a ransom of $150,000 was demanded for him. Three days later he was released. Members of his family and Labatt himself insisted the ransom had not been paid.

Two of the supposed ringleaders, David Meisner, a Cincinnati bookmaker, and Kingdon B. Murray of Covington, Ky., were arrested for the crime. Both fought extradition, but after it was shown that the plot was hatched in the underworld of Covington, they were sent back to Canadian justice. Meisner is serving a 15 year sentence in prison and Kingdon is awaiting trial.

PROPELLER CUTS WOMAN'S HAND OFF AT WRIST

A whirling propeller blade severed the right wrist of Mrs. Elizabeth Usher, 36 years old, 5555 Sheridan road, at Curtiss-Reynolds airport, Glenview, at 4 o'clock on Sunday morning, it was learned yesterday. She was taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, and Dr. Hugh Duffy amputated the arm just below the elbow.

The accident occurred when, with her husband Allen, Chicago branch manager of Paramount Pictures' distributing office, she went to the field to greet their friend, Richard C. Granere, Canadian world war ace, who is a pilot for the Paramount Newsreel organization.

When Granere flew into the airport and taxied his ship to the cement ramp in front of the hangar Mrs. Usher ran out to the machine. Her hand encountered one of the propeller blades, still turned by the idling motor.

DRIVER FLASHES POLICE BADGE; LANDS IN CELL

Valentine McGuire, 32 years old, 6412 South Sangamon street, was arrested by Policeman Fred Quirin of the Burnside station yesterday morning after he had flashed a stolen police badge and declared that he could not be arrested for a minor trafic violation. Policeman Quirin, who did not know that the shield had been stolen recently from a parked automobile, informed McGuire that it did not make any difference and started to take his prisoner to the station. McGuire resisted, but was subdued. It was found he had a police record.

Girl Clerk Surrenders $36 to a Woman Bandit

Miss Mary Joeffrey, 3807 North Spaulding avenue, clerk in a branch office of the Western and Southern Life Insurance company at 4013 Milwaukee avenue, surrendered $36 to a blonde young woman who threatened her with a revolver yesterday. Miss Joeffrey told the Irving Park police that the young woman then backed out the door and hurried down the stairs from the second floor office and disappeared.

SEE DEPORTATION ACTION AGAINST NEWLYWED J. LIN

KULING, Kiangsi Province, China, July 23.—(AP)—Deportation proceedings may be instituted against James Lin, adopted son of China's president, as the means of effecting his return to China. Lin, a student of Ohio State university at Columbus, recently married Viola Brown, 5-and-10 store clerk, despites having two alleged wives in China. President Lin Sen, expects to cable Ambassador Sze in Washington to arrange for James' deportation.

In Peiping, Mrs. Shaohwa Lin, 24, who said she is James' wife, declared. "I received a very affectionate letter from James only a few days ago. He said nothing about a new girl friend. I have strong reason to believe my father-in-law, believes in the traditional Chinese virtues and will not allow my husband to remarry, especially as he already has four children. Even if the worst happened, I still have recourse to the new penal code."

The code referred to by Mrs. Lin classes the taking of secondary wives similar to adultery and involves prosecution. Mrs. Lin is a former student in an American missionary school, and claims a wedding certificate proves her marriage to one James Lin in 1928. She pointed to three children whose father she said was young Lin. There were two boys, the youngest in a cradle, and a daughter. James' other alleged wife, living in Foochow with James' mother, has not yet voiced her views.

CHARGES NAZI PAPER SPREADS HATRED IN EAST

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—It was declared today that the Yorkville section of New York city [with a large number of German-American residents] is being flooded with issues of a Nuremberg [Germany] publication "Der Sturmer," in an effort to spread anti-Jewish sentiment. The charge was made by Representative Dickstein of New York in urging adoption of a joint resolution he has introduced to bar from mails "any papers, pamphlets, books, and writings of any kind which are designed, adapted or intended to cause racial or religious hatred, bigotry, or intolerance."

"The issues which have come to my attention are full of invectives against Jews and stories of anti-Jewish character attempting to show that Jewish religion adherents are urged for religious purposes to practice certain attacks upon Gentile girls and upon Christian children," Mr. Dickstein said.

"All of which obscenity is part and parcel of the rabid anti-Jewish campaign which the present Nazi dictator in Germany is directing in the Reich today. We in America cannot tolerate the importation of this campaign into this country to spread its slimy fingers among Americans of German ancestry and others."

BOY AUTO VICTIMS IDENTIFIED; THEIR DOG ONLY A STRAY

Father Views Body of Son and His Young Pal.

Identification of two boys killed by a hit and run driver revealed last night the tragedy of two youngsters who wanted a dog, and were killed just after they had found the pet of their desire.

They were killed Monday night as they were leading their new found pet homeward along the Southwest highway when they were struck at 131st street by a wantonly careless autoist who sped on after the accident without stopping.

Their bodies lay unidentified in a Blue Island undertaking room all of yesterday. The inquest in the afternoon was continued until Aug. 6 to allow the police more time to find the driver and identify the victims.

Last night George Pitzmeyer, 6853 Ridgeland avenue, an unemployed railroad man, identified the body of one of the boys as that of his son, John, 14 years old. The other he said was that of George Maloney, 12 years old, 6736 Ridgeland avenue.

Dog Stilled Father's Tears.

Pitzmeyer explained that although he read of the accident yesterday morning, he had not believed the victims to be his son and his pal because the story had said their bodies were guarded by a dog, and he knew neither of them had one.

The Pitzmeyers have one other son, George Jr., 16 years old. The Maloney boy was the son of Joseph and Alma Maloney. Both boys attended the Parkside elementary school.

These two deaths and one other increased the 1935 trafic toll in Cook county to 519. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 411 had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 8,927 injured. The other death:

Raymond Cunningham, 37 years old, 6418 North Irving avenue, died last night in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, from injuries incurred late Saturday night on Milwaukee avenue, near Volo road, just east of Wauconda, in Lake county. A hit and run truck and trailer knocked Cunningham's milk truck into a ditch.

Car Skids; One Dead, Two Hurt.

Reuben Gelford, 5323 Woodlawn avenue, was killed instantly and his wife, Gertrude, 46, and their daughter, Celeste, 16, were injured yesterday when an automobile driven by him skidded on the wet pavement in Rockford and overturned when it struck a tree.

Mrs. Louise Keller, 62 years old, 929 Sunnyside avenue, and Miss Louise Koath, 27 years old, her daughter by a former marriage, were injured seriously early yesterday when their automobile left the highway and crashed into a telephone pole on Waukegan road near Shermer avenue, just north of Northbrook. The women were taken to the Highland Park hospital by police from the Morton Grove county highway station.

Held on Woman's Charge of $5,000 Realty Fraud

Simon De Bargas, 37 years old, 5001 North Spaulding avenue, was arrested yesterday on a complaint from St. Louis that he embezzled $5,000 from a woman there in a $19,000 real estate deal in 1929. De Bargas denied the charge and said he would fight extradition. The complainant, according to police, is Mrs. Henrietta Kring, 3133 Cherokee street, St. Louis.

SENATE PASSES AAA BILL WITH POWERS SHORN

Opponents Leave Test to Supreme Court.

connection with these commodities will not become effective unless approved by the handlers of 50 per cent of the products. However, if the handlers do not approve, Wallace may still issue the orders upon approval by the President and two-thirds of the producers.

Any handler subject to such orders may be fined from $50 to $500 for any violation and each day is deemed a separate offense. The secretary or his agents are authorized to go into the books and records of all handlers subject to the orders and ascertain whether they have complied with all the regulations.

Senator John H. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.], who argued unsuccessfully for closing the courts to processing tax suits last week, today secured the adoption of an amendment authorizing the internal revenue authorities to inspect the records and books of all persons or corporations bringing such suits.

Tries to Evade Court Ruling.

The amendments contain the same "weasel" language with respect to interstate commerce employed by Donald R. Richberg, former NRA chairman, in his ill-fated bill to increase the powers of that organization before the Supreme court killed it. The bill undertakes to meet constitutional objections on this ground by limiting Wallace's orders to the handling of "such agricultural commodity or product thereof as is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce, or as directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate or foreign commerce in such commodity or product thereof."

Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], told the senate that such language was utterly meaningless.

Defeat Tarif Riders.

Before reaching a final vote the senate defeated all efforts of Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], Pat McCarran [Dem., Nev.], and Robert D. Carey [Dem., Wyo.] to modify the reciprocal tarif act to require senate confirmation of trade treaties. Early in the day's session Senator Norris threatened the application of a cloture rule unless senators refrained from "attempting to write a tarif act in this bill."

A motion of Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] to table the McCarran amendment was carried, 51 to 24, and the others met a similar fate without record vote.

Besides the amendments to the agricultural act, the senate omnibus bill extends the Bankhead cotton control act through the 1937-'38 crop year and fixes 10,500,000 bales for the 1935-'36 year; extends the Kerr-Smith tobacco control act to April 30, 1939, and enacts the Warren potato bill, making potatoes a basic commodity and levying a sales tax of ¾ cent a pound with which to pay benefits.

FARMERS URGE CONTINUED AAA PROCESSING TAX

A demand for the complete protection of the processing tax feature of the Agricultural Adjustment administration act was made yesterday in formal action taken by officials and representatives attending a conference of the American Farm Bureau federation at the Hotel Sherman.

The following telegram, signed by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the federation, and executives of ten midwest farm bureau federations, was sent to United States Senator Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the senate committee on agriculture and forestry:

"Representatives of state farm bureaus of ten midwest states in session here today unanimously insist that the senate protect in every way the processing tax, which is the farmers' tarif, by ratifying past taxes, and by fixing taxes for the future to Dec. 31, 1937."

TWIN ORCHARD GOLF CLUB HOUSE HELD UP AGAIN

Five armed and masked men invaded the Twin Orchard Golf club house at Bryn Mawr avenue and Wolf road late last night and after terrorizing the manager, J. Strauss, and several members fled with $400. Strauss was compelled to open a safe for the gang.

Among the members, who made no official report of their losses, were Attorney Harold Chayes, 10 South La Salle street; A. Z. Zietlein, 188 West Randolph street, and A. J. Passen, 2954 Lawrence avenue. Three women, including Mrs. Sara Bloom of New York, a writer under the pen name of Sally Chayes and a sister of Attorney Chayes, were not molested. The robbery was the third at the club in the last three months.

LOSES WALLET AND PANTS SEAT TO FIVE ROBBERS

Rene Pomrening, 2538 North Western avenue, was kidnaped by five robbers early today as he sat in an automobile at School street and Western avenue with Miss Bertha Champeau, 3319 North Western avenue. Taking him to Roscoe street and Oakley boulevard, the bandits demanded Pomrening's money.

When he told them it was in his right hip pocket one of the bandits caught the pocket lining and pulled out a wallet and the seat of the victim's trousers. The wallet contained $483, according to Pomrening. Miss Champeau was not molested by the robbers and was left in Pomrening's car.

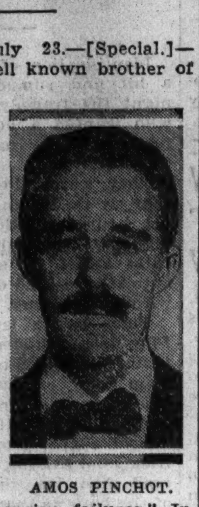
AMOS PINCHOT RAKES 'FAILURE' OF NEW DEALERS

Letter to Felix Frankfurter Condemns Program.

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Amos Pinchot, well known brother of ex-Gov. Gifford Pinchot, and himself a 1932 supporter of Franklin Roosevelt and the New Deal, has broken away from the administration. Pinchot, for 25 years a leader in radical political thought, has written a letter to Prof. Felix Frankfurter, head of the Roosevelt brain trust, in which he pronounces the major policies of the administration "ghastly and expensive failures." In part Pinchot's letter says:



AMOS PINCHOT.

"If I wanted to help make Roosevelt sure of reëlection I'd try for all I was worth, as I have tried, to get him to see that he can't have a prosperous country with pauper farmers, or with a debt structure made unbearable by violent change in the value of equities and products.

Urges Stable Money.

"Above all, I'd try to persuade him to go back, just as fast as he can, to his 1933 reflation and stable money policy—to the restoration of the normal price level policy, which went along beautifully and caused a real recovery, until he abandoned it.

"And its effects were checked mainly, I think, by the business fear and uncertainty caused by the NRA, with its price and wage fixing, and other measures that balled things up and kept people from doing business, spending, and employing labor.

"Roosevelt, with all his kindheartedness, is failing because he follows no consecutive line, and apparently doesn't think things through to the end. He permits monopoly and price fixing by big business. Then he comes out for the Sherman law. He tries to set up a managed economy, which is impossible without a fine, highly trained, and nonpolitical civil service, but he lets Farley smash the civil service whenever it's necessary to strengthen his political machine. . . .

"Maybe I'm entirely wrong, but I've come to feel that the New Deal has not merely prolonged the depression but pretty thoroughly ditched for the time being the possibility of a constructive political and economic movement.

"It has gathered under its wing a great many of the younger, liberal minded people who want to get in the game and be useful. And now it has left them in the blind alley of unworkable regimentation.

Assails Burocracy.

"It has propagandized against democracy and built up an enormous burocratic executive power that always means inefficiency, extravagance, and dishonesty.

"Most of you men in the brain trust are, I gather, of the opinion that capitalism and the profit motive are on their last legs. You believe, if I'm not mistaken, that competition is old fashioned and must yield to coöperation. That a brand new collectivist or Fascist order is around the corner, that a regimented, highly disciplined economy is the logical approach.

"I can't agree with your hope, if it is your hope, that capitalism is moribund.

"I think capitalism is a tough old bird that will live a good deal longer than any of us will.

"I also believe that the profit system and competition—even cut-throat competition with its stimulus to invention, differentiation, and improvement of product and vast production of goods that can be sold at low prices—offer a far better chance for prosperity, freedom, happiness, individual progress, and a good standard of living than does socialism or Fascism.

Roosevelt "Great Uncertainty."

"I also believe that, with certain definite exceptions, industry should be run privately and with only such interference from the government as is necessary to provide equal opportunity and prevent monopoly. . . .

"Till now Roosevelt has shown a strange predilection for keeping the country in the dark as to his beliefs and intentions. No one knows what he thinks or what he will do tomorrow. He is the great uncertainty. And the fact that uncertainty emanates from him and permeates the country in all directions is keeping a good many million men and women out of jobs."

PUBLISH THREAT OF JAIL FOR PRINTING TRIAL PROCEEDINGS

Houston, Tex., July 23.—(AP)—Editors of three Houston newspapers passed up without comment tonight a threat of District Judge M. S. Munson of Angleton, to jail reporters and their editors for publishing testimony of the trial of Clyde Thompson, 23, Eastland county killer. They printed the testimony along with the judge's comment from the bench.

The Chronicle and the Press in their late afternoon editions printed parts of the testimony given by early witnesses at the murder trial, which marks Thompson's third effort to escape the electric chair in Texas.

The Post, the morning paper, will print the story in full tomorrow morning, M. H. Jacobs, managing editor, said. The judge had taken no action against the newspaper men early tonight, but it was assumed here copies of the papers had not arrived in Angleton which is 50 miles away.

Thompson and two other convicts are charged with killing Everet Melvin, retrieve prison farm inmate, stabbed to death May 29 in a prison barracks brawl.

HOUSE, IN ANGER, STARTS TALK ON 'IMPEACHMENT'

Debate Caused by Failure to Quit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—The obvious resentment of the house against the protracted session of congress resulted again today in a flaring up of tempers between Democratic and Republican members. President Roosevelt came in for much criticism as the opposing factions for an hour relieved their pentup emotions by yelling insults at each other.

Hardly had the opening prayer been read and the representatives urged to look into their hearts and find peace, than the battle was on.

Representative Lindsay C. Warren [Dem., N. C.] arose and waved a newspaper clipping in which Representative Hamilton Fish [Rep., N. Y.] was quoted in criticism of the President.

Goes After Fish.

"Fish has lost all sense of proportion since he became a presidential candidate," Warren shouted. "We had to expunge his remarks about a 'snooper' last week. He needs more expunging."

To which Representative Robert F. Rich [Rep., Penn.] took offense.

"The President should be criticized," he declared. "He swore to protect the constitution and he violated that oath."

Rich wanted to read a newspaper editorial, but the Democrats objected. By a vote of 71 to 33 he was stopped from proceeding.

Then Fish got the floor for ten minutes. He recalled the charge last week of Minority Leader Bertrand Snell [Rep., N. Y.] that President Roosevelt was approaching impeachable territory.

"But I hope no resolution to impeach the President is offered at this time," he declared. "The President may have violated the constitution, but the Democratic majority in the congress is just as much to blame. They have divested congress of its legislative power."

Issue for 1936.

"The issue in 1936 will be the restoration of constitutional government and the substitution of that government for government by one man. The President has usurped the powers of congress."

The loud and bellicose John W. MacCormack, Arkansas Democrat, arose to defend his leader.

"This is an unfair and unwarranted attack," he boomed. "The gentleman from New York has been guilty of this crime before and he is guilty of it now."

Fish, the victim of an expunging spree by the house a few days ago, now wanted the word "crime" expunged. On an appeal from the ruling of the chair Fish lost, 165 to 35.

Speaker Byrnes, called upon last week to consult the dictionary and determine the slanderous qualities of the word "snooper," decided to leave. He put O'Connor in the chair. After consideration O'Connor ruled that the word "crime" was not objectionable and repeated his criticism of last week that the representatives were becoming too sensitive about such little matters.

Fish appealed from this ruling, but the house sustained O'Connor by a vote of 165 to 35. There were some more rumblings and mutterings from various members and Representative Adolph Sabath [Dem., Ill.] arose to deliver a few words in criticism of the Supreme court. But finally the house subsided. About two-thirds of the members wandered out and the remainder settled down to the prosaic business of considering the alcohol control bill.

Speech on New Deal's Validity Rises to Plague Senator Lewis

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—Some unfortunate words of Senator James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.], the majority whip, delivered in the senate May 30, 1934, were called up from the Congressional Record today and great was the embarrassment on the Democratic side.

The senate, on the occasion of the Lewis speech, was debating the reciprocal tarif act, authorizing the President to make trade agreements without ratification by the senate. Republicans called the measure unconstitutional, and Senator Lewis' overweening loyalty to the New Deal led him to make this outburst:

"Now gentlemen of the opposition—ever croaking 'unconstitutional'—where have you been able to point to one decision of a court that has held any one act of legislation of this administration invalid? Where has that opinion of yours, that all is unconstitutional, ever been sustained by any court?"

"Laws All Constitutional."

"You have denounced these measures here and there as invalid. You have called them unconstitutional. You have warned that the Supreme court would declare them unconstitutional.

"You struck every hope from the bosom of men; you smote every confidence from the prayers of a mother; you smothered every desire and dream of a future from all American mankind, as they looked forward to some relief.

"At what time since then has one of you had the courage to tell the country you were mistaken; that the courts have declared these very laws completely constitutional?"

"Spoke Too Soon," Says Colleague.

Senator Lewis was defending the reciprocal trade act on the basis of the Minnesota mortgage moratorium law and the New York milk control law, both upheld by the Supreme court. He was speaking before the Supreme court had ruled in the New Deal railway pension case, the Frazier-Lemke bill, the Schecter NRA case, the Humphrey ouster case, and the gold repudiation case with respect to government obligations.

Today Senator Frederick Steiwer [Rep., Ore.], arguing in support of an amendment to repeal the reciprocal trade act, read Senator Lewis' speech, said the senator had spoken "too soon and too much." He did not mention Lewis' name, but it soon was in general circulation.

DRAW TAX RATE SCHEDULES FOR SOAK RICH BILL

Levies on Inheritances First Completed.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—With Democratic leaders still at loggerheads with the President on his proposal to lay heavy taxes on big corporations, the Democratic members of the house ways and means committee agreed tentatively today on the first schedule of the tax-the-rich bill.

They framed a scheme of inheritance taxes ranging from 4 to 75 per cent, under which the government would take about 90 per cent of fortunes of more than 10 million dollars.

Blood relatives would be taxed on inheritances in excess of $50,000. In the case of "strangers in blood" only $10,000 would be exempt.

Schedule for Relatives.

The schedule, as it would affect blood relatives, follows:

Inheritance.	Tax in per cent.
$ 50,000 to $ 60,000	4
60,000 to 70,000	8
70,000 to 80,000	12
80,000 to 100,000	16
100,000 to 150,000	20
150,000 to 200,000	24
200,000 to 300,000	28
300,000 to 500,000	32
500,000 to 750,000	36
750,000 to 1,000,000	40
1,000,000 to 1,500,000	44
1,500,000 to 2,000,000	48
2,000,000 to 3,000,000	52
3,000,000 to 4,000,000	56
4,000,000 to 5,000,000	60
5,000,000 to 6,000,000	64
6,000,000 to 8,000,000	68
8,000,000 to 10,000,000	72
10,000,000 and over	76

With taxes up to 60 per cent being levied on the estate of a decedent the experts calculated that in the case of an estate of more than 10 millions passing to a single heir, who would pay up to 75 per cent on his inheritance, close to 90 per cent of the estate altogether would go to the government.

Gift Taxes Also Increased.

The taxes on gifts levied for the purpose of preventing evasion of estate and inheritance taxes are to be stepped up to 75 per cent of the new inheritance taxes. It is estimated that the inheritance and gift taxes combined would yield about 100 millions. Inasmuch as most inheritances go to blood relatives, only 2 or 3 millions of revenue is expected from the taxes on inheritances by "strangers in blood" despite the exemption of only $10,000.

On the question of the tax levies on big corporations the ways and means Democrats are in a dilemma. The President is insisting on his proposal to penalize bigness in corporations. Many Democrats are resisting this plan on the ground that heavy taxes on big corporations would discriminate against small stockholders therein while favoring rich owners of small corporations. They incline to favor excess profits taxes as a substitute for the President's proposal.

President Suggests Both.

Mr. Roosevelt has met this alternative plan with the suggestion that both the graduated tax he recommended and an excess profits tax be included in the bill. Senator Tom Connally [Dem., Tex.] explained that the excess profits amendment he introduced in the senate last week is intended not as a substitute for the Roosevelt proposal but as an additional tax.

The Republican members, who have been excluded from the sessions in which the Democratic majority is framing the bill, are preparing to fight the President's tax program as one bound to be ruinous to great industries.

In its analysis of the President's inheritance tax proposal the National Industrial Conference board said:

"One of the most important aspects is, of course, the assumption that the property comprising the estate could be liquidated and the tax paid without depreciation of the value of the estate. In practice, this would in many instances be extremely difficult to accomplish. If most of the property should consist of fixed assets, the opportunity of paying the tax in instalments would not alone solve the problem.

Cite Loss of Control.

"In any event, gradual disposition of the portion of the property necessary to cover the tax payments would almost certainly result in a loss of control by the inheritors. The latter term is not strictly applicable, for under the conditions mentioned, he would be only nominally an inheritor and might instead be a debtor.

"The laws governing the management and distribution of property after death are state laws. The legal procedure by which property is ultimately transferred to heirs and legatees is determined by the states rather than by the federal government. The right of inheritance derives from the states. If the latter principle is recognized there can be little theoretical justification for a federal tax on inheritances.

"If the proposed rate schedule is adopted by the federal government it will be tantamount to saying that the states may determine the legal procedure under which the property of a decedent may be transferred, but that they shall have practically no voice in determining either the extent to which the value of an estate may be reduced by death taxes or the size of the distributive shares that may be received by the heirs and legatees."

ELECTRIC TRADE BODY TELLS COST OF UTILITY FIGHT

Spends $256,750 in War on New Deal.

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Expenditures of $256,750 made by the Edison Electric institute in opposing political and governmental attack on the electric industry were detailed in a statement today by Thomas N. McCarter, president of the institute, by order of its board of trustees.

All the expenditures have been audited by Price, Waterhouse & Co. and the audit delivered to investigators of the senate investigating committee, together with correspondence, letters, records, and material relating to the Wheeler-Rayburn bill, the statement says. Among other expenditures was payment of $150,000 to law firms to aid the fight on the holding company bill.

Mr. McCarter went on to say that the Associated Gas and Electric company is not a member of the institute.

Its Policies Disapproved.

"The policy which certain representatives of that company are alleged to have pursued does not meet with the approval of the institute," he said.

For a year or more, he says, the electric industry has been "subjected to a most extensive political and governmental attack: This has manifested itself in many different ways, the three most important of which are direct governmental competition, in the ultimate development of which plan the government expects to spend a total of 2 billion 700 million dollars; loans and grants by the government to municipalities for the construction of plants in competition with existing facilities which have been freely made; and the attempt to abolish holding companies.

"The Edison Electric institute is not a political organization. It is a research and fact finding body existing for the information it can render to its membership.

Hire Beck and Baker.

"When, however, the crisis above described became apparent, believing that the whole plan was unconstitutional, it authorized the employment of Newton D. Baker and James M. Beck to pass upon the constitutionality of the proposed projects. These gentlemen united in a joint opinion that such activities were beyond the power of congress to authorize, and were unconstitutional. The cost of these opinions to the institute was $35,000.

"Thus fortified, the institute decided to act and to participate in the expense of the litigation necessary to determine the matters above referred to. In this connection, it has paid $50,000 to the firm of Cabaniss and Johnston of Birmingham, Ala., attorneys of record in the case of Ashwander vs. Tennessee Valley Authority, and also expended $1,992 in connection with the reporting of that case. It proposes further to participate in the cost of appealing this case to the Supreme court of the United States."

Jim Stands by His Dog, and Walks by Him, Too

Four weeks ago James Chisholm, 27 years old, of Nagawicka, Wis., got a job driving an automobile to New York for a dealer. He was promised a ride home with a truck driver. He took a pet collie with him but in New York the truck driver declined to let the dog ride back. So Chisholm and the collie started out from New York on July 3, walking and hitch-hiking. Yesterday Charles Kavanaugh, owner of a tavern at 316 South Wood street, while driving in Indiana picked up Chisholm and his dog on the highway near South Bend, took them to his tavern, fed them, and started them on their way home.

NEW BATCHES OF FAKED WIRES TO CONGRESS BARED

Utility Aid Tells About York (Pa.) 'Campaign.'

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—Amid the guffaws of an audience appreciative of senatorial witticisms the senate lobby committee today resumed its inquiry into the propaganda campaign conducted by utilities against the Wheeler-Rayburn utility control bill.

Two worried telegraph company officials, a utility company official, and a cub reporter were the featured witnesses. The crowd which flocked to the air-cooled committee room enjoyed hugely the somewhat labored humor of Chairman Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.] in his cross-examination of this quartet.

The evidence offered was reminiscent of the testimony given last week when it was disclosed that the Associated Gas and Electric company, through its subsidiaries, mailed thousands of letters and telegrams to congressmen urging defeat of the utility measure.

Demand a Complete Count.

The lobby inquiry took a new tack today when the federal communications commission, backing up the Black committee, demanded that the major telegraph companies report by Aug. 15 all telegrams sent to congress or President Roosevelt on the utility bill which telegraph employés suspect of being sent without the consent of the persons whose names were signed to the messages.

The FCC also demanded that the companies report "whether the originals of any telegrams were destroyed or otherwise disposed of before the expiration of the full period [one year] for which they are required to be kept." Full details surrounding destruction of records or sending of bogus messages were required. Senator Black explained that the FCC took over this phase of the inquiry because it was too big for the senate committee to handle.

Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach [Rad., Wash.], meanwhile, was demanding that the Black lobby committee look into lobbying by the steel industry against President Roosevelt's soak-the-rich taxes. Schwellenbach attacked statements by the steel trade journals that "taxes take 56 cents out of every steel dollar," declaring the statements are "palpably false and fraudulent propaganda."

Most of the persons whose names were signed to the missives studied today knew nothing of them. York, Pa., home town of the Metropolitan Edison company, one of the Associated Gas companies, was the scene of the utility lobbying revealed in today's investigation.

Quay C. Haller, a utility official, admitted he had been "assigned" to York by the president of his company, J. J. Byrnes, to organize a campaign of letter writing and telegraph sending from that territory.

He testified to sending "some 2,000 telegrams and many thousands of letters" to Pennsylvania congressmen urging them to vote against the utility bill.

Haller said he took the pay roll of the York Railway company, which is utility controled, and signed all the names thereon to telegrams sent to congressmen. He was furnished "forms" of protest telegrams, he said, and dictated them to two stenographers. The same procedure was followed in writing letters and the signatures to the letters were obtained from the city directory, he indicated.

$1,300 Worth of Messages.

Luther A. Coleman, local Postal Telegraph manager, and J. E. Coble, Western Union manager, testified that Haller brought the typed telegrams to them in big batches and paid them in cash. The total cost of the telegrams was about $1,300. Haller said he spent another $400 on stamps and stationery for the letters.

Senator Black produced a big package of 170 letters which had been returned to Washington with the notation "No such address" or "Person not found" on them. These letters had been sent to persons whose names had appeared on telegrams and letters.

Coleman, a resident of York all his life, said he had never heard of most of the persons whose names were signed to the letters. One man had been dead four years, he noted, and another had moved to Baltimore years ago.

Destroyed Records on Orders.

Haller persisted in a denial that he had attempted to suppress news of his activities in the local York newspapers after the senate investigation was started. He admitted freely that he had destroyed all his records on orders from his superiors after the investigation was begun.

Robert Lewis, a cub reporter on the York Dispatch, was another witness. He told of investigating Haller's movements and writing a story about them. He testified that Haller had visited his managing editor to complain about the story.

With considerable dramatic effect the committee then produced W. F. McDowell, a York resident. McDowell's name had been affixed to a telegram urging his Pennsylvania congressman to vote against the bill.

"Not only did I not send that telegram," McDowell testified, "but I am for the bill, not against it."

OUST CONSERVATIVES IN CANADA PROVINCE; FOES WIN ALL SEATS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., July 23.—The Prince Edward Island Conservative government headed by Premier W. J. P. MacMillan was wiped out in today's provincial election. MacMillan himself was defeated along with all other Conservative candidates.

The Liberals won all thirty seats on the face of late returns.

Today's overwhelming Liberal victory makes eight of Canada's nine provinces Liberal, the exception being Alberta, under a Farmer government. Jubilant dominion Liberal leaders declare it heralds an overwhelming defeat for the federal Conservative government headed by Richard B. Bennett when it faces the Canadian electorate in about eight weeks.

14 CHAIN GROCERY STORES FINED FOR SHORT WEIGHTING

Eleven Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company stores and three stores of the Consumers Sanitary Coffee and Butter Stores, Inc., were found guilty yesterday of short weighting customers. Municipal Judge Erwin J. Hasten assessed fines of $25 on each of the counts.

The charges were brought by investigators in the office of City Sealer James O'Keefe. Attorney James Harrington, representing the A. & P. stores, said that if short weight was found in that concern's establishments it was the "fault of careless clerks" and not the fault of the company. County Commissioner Dan Ryan, who appeared in behalf of the Consumers stores, gave the same explanation for his clients.

The accused A. & P. stores are at 11042 South Michigan avenue, 2777 Milwaukee avenue, 9046 Commercial avenue, 2620 Milwaukee avenue, 4637 Broadway, 5942 Irving Park boulevard, 2092 Milwaukee avenue, 11233 South Michigan avenue, 720 Pulaski road, 1014 East 43d street, and 1459 West 79th street. The Consumers stores named were at 1025½ East 82d street, 346 North Menard avenue, and 6008 South Halsted street.

FIXED OPINIONS DELAY SELECTING JURY IN PEORIA

First Four Obtained to Try Slayer of Girl.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., July 23.—[Special.]—The dreary task of finding twelve men who have no prejudiced opinion and never have discussed the slaying of 19 year old Mildred Hallmark dragged on in Circuit court here today. Gerald Thompson, 26, who has confessed raping and killing the girl, is on trial charged with murder.

In a community which was shocked by the crime of June 16 to such a degree that mob violence was feared the quest for unprejudiced jurors promises to be long.

Opinions Already Formed.

Nearly half the special venire of 132 jurors had passed through the box late this afternoon and under examination by State's Attorney E. V. Champion and Ren Thurman, court appointed defense counsel, said they had prejudged the case. Only the first panel of four jurors had been completed.

The four jurors selected are James Belcher, stationary engineer; Carl Hausman, bartender; Ed Holtsman, mechanic, and Charles Boyser, unemployed cordage maker.

Trial Competes with Fire.

Although half this town stayed up all night to watch the city's greatest conflagration in recent years, Peoria's "trial of the century" and Thompson, curly haired "grandma's boy," still drew an overflow crowd of courtroom fans. The case is on trial before Judge Joseph E. Dailey.

For their comfort, an enterprising local undertaking establishment distributed paper fans advertising among the spectators at a murder trial, in which death in the electric chair is demanded, the cheering message "prices to meet any one's wishes."

702 SALOONS PAY $210,600 FOR NEW LICENSES IN DAY

The police drive on unlicensed taverns, which opened Monday morning, yesterday sent 702 saloon owners to the offices of Louis Rixman, city collector, to pay their $300 fees for the last half of the year and left without licenses only 657 of the 8,366 taverns that were operating in the city on June 30. The fees paid during the day totaled $210,600.

Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, reported last night that 1,030 taverns have been closed since the license drive opened. Most of these, however, were permittd to reopen after they got licenses.

Capt. Prendergast also reported that thirty-two taverns have closed permanently this month, but the actual total of saloons that have gone out of business is believed to be much higher.

DERANGED YOUTH KILLS GIRL WHO SCORNS HIS PLEA

Slays Guenivere Fisher of Rockford and Self.

Rockford, Ill., July 23.—[Special.]—His love spurned, Robert H. Mutimer, 22, shot Guenivere Fisher, 20, this morning. Then he killed himself. The girl died this afternoon at a hospital.

Her mother said Mutimer's attentions recently had been rejected by the girl. She had six or seven dates with him some months ago.

Mutimer had been confined for six weeks early this year to the Watertown State hospital. A recommital order had been prepared. He was allowed to remain at home on the plea of his parents that they would care for him.

Following the shooting today police found a home made target, punctured by many bullets, set up near the rear door of the Mutimer home. It had apparently been used by the youth.

Dressed in farm clothes, Mutimer appeared at the Fisher home at 8:30 o'clock this morning and asked for Guenivere. She entered the living room and they sat on a davenport. They talked quietly. A few moments later shots were heard.

The girl's brother, Norman, 17, manager of the Rockford High school track team, rushed into the living room. He found his sister wounded and in pain. Mutimer had a wound in his right temple. The girl died four hours later.

He is now on a liquid diet—milk.

ETHIOPIAN KING'S BIRTHDAY PARTY SNUBBED BY ITALY

Envoy Spurns Invitation; Nation Angered.

BY WILL BARBER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, July 23.—Count Vinci, Italian minister to Ethiopia, hurled what Ethiopians described as a final challenging insult at their country today by refusing to attend a birthday reception for Emperor Haile Selassie. The emperor was 44 years old.

An Ethiopian official declared his belief that Italy's new insult means that next month may see fighting along the Italian Somaliland frontier and that as soon as the rains cease in mid-September there will be an opening of hostilities in the northern mountains by the Italian armies in Eritrea.

Peace Hope Dashed.

This latest Italo-Ethiopian incident makes utterly hopeless, it is believed here, the chance that the league of nations council, which is due to meet before the end of the month, will figure a way to stop the war.

Count Vinci explained that his refusal to attend the birthday reception was the consequence of "insulting remarks" about Italy in the emperor's address to parliament last Thursday. Count Vinci protested the speech verbally Friday and yesterday he informed the foreign ministry that he would not attend the reception.

Vinci said the refusal to attend was made on his own initiative, but Ethiopians are sure he received direct instructions from Premier Mussolini.

The Ethiopian attitude on the "snub" was officially expressed by a foreign office spokesman.

Called Italian Trap.

"It is a trap set by Italy," he said. "The Italians are trying to get us to break off diplomatic relations by giving Vinci his passports. But we are not going to. The Italians will have to set a better snare than that. Any step toward hostilities must be taken by the Ialians. We are depending on the league and world opinion to prevent war."

Confirmation of the general belief here that Italy plans to open hostilities soon is found in the fact that Baron Muzi Falconi, Italian consul at Debra Markos, Ethiopia, was ordered to return to Addis Ababa instead of trying to reach his post. He had been in the Ethiopian capital on a visit. He tried to get across the Nile river for almost a month, but the rains have balked him. Yesterday evening it was announced he is coming back, presumably so as not to get caught when the war starts.

While Italo-Ethiopian relations were stretching to the snapping point, Ethiopian-American ties seemed to be getting closer. A spontaneous street demonstration was staged in honor of the United States. As the American chargé d'affaires, W. Perry George, drove back from the birthday events at the palace, knots of youths standing in the muddy streets shouted "Long live America!" and waved American flags.

The Ethiopians like to believe the United States can do something for them by invoking the Kellogg anti-war pact.

Other Nations Ignored.

The British, French and German ministers did not rate cheers because the Ethiopians almost never honor foreigners in such a manner, so the shouts to George were all the more significant.

Two Japanese merchant-journalists turned up at the birthday function and made a bow to the emperor with other distinguished strangers. They were not honored above the others, but their presence here probably indicates an effort to tighten Japanese-Ethiopian relations and is significant in view of the hostile Japanese attitude toward Rome.

The Ethiopians put on a great show for their emperor. All the native dignitaries were dressed in silken robes covered by fine woolen navy blue, black or azure capes, and the chiefs, as well as the chiefs' governors, put on their finest garb.

They wore lions' skins as cloaks and lions' mane headdresses similar to war bonnets of American Indians. Under lion skin capes they wore a silk surcoat reaching to their calves and wrapped around the body and togas made of exceedingly soft cotton.

An enormous scimitar was worn on the right side, a rifle was tucked under the right arm, and rhinoceros hide round shields sixteen inches in diameter swung from the left arm.

The emperor sat on an enormous red, green and yellow silken divan under a canopy and, looking to the right, saw the foreign diplomats come to pay him honor and to the left saw Ethiopian nobles, governors and officials he may have to lead into battle. The throneroom was hung and carpeted in deep crimson.

Favors U. S. Envoy.

The American chargé d'affaires got a longer handshake than the others, and whatever it was he said made the emperor's serious face relax into a cordial smile.

This afternoon the emperor presided at a great feast exclusively for soldiers. Every man is supposed to eat and drink as much as he can hold at such a feast and then retire to let another replace him.

Later the emperor, the empress, princes and princesses and officials attended an Ethiopain theatrical performance and this evening there was a great dinner in the new palace for officials and the diplomatic corps followed by a reception.

ITALY LASHES BRITAIN FOR MOVE TO LIFT BAN ON ARMS FOR ETHIOPIA

ROME, July 23.—(AP)—A new mass attack against England was launched this afternoon in the Italian press which announced "Italy will remember" Great Britain's reported decision to lift the arms embargo against Ethiopia. Editorial attacks on Japan's alleged expansionist policy in Africa continued.

Commenting editorially on reports from London that the cabinet was expected tomorrow to authorize arms shipments to Ethiopia, Virginio Gayda, editor of the authoritative Giornale d'Italia, said:

"We may say clearly that if the reports are true, Italy with tranquillity and without excitement will consider it [lifting of the arms embargo] as a clear act of hostility by England. Italy will hold this as a standing account in the future."

JAPS PLEASED BY BRITISH MOVE TO END NAVY RATIOS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 24.—[Wednesday.]—Great Britain's abandonment of the navy ratio system was well received in naval circles here today, which declare it represents an approach to Japan's demands. However, they maintain little optimism is waranted because the action is based on British construction plans.

Tokio believes the success of the forthcoming naval conference will be difficult to reach if the United States continues to adhere to the ratio principle.

The Japanese feel that an agreement will not be impossible of attainment if it is recognized that naval equality of all countries concerned is something which will occur eventually and that tonnage requirements of all countries should be lowered in accordance with the upper limit set by Japan as well as in accordance with the principle of disarmament.

NAZIS SUPPRESS CATHOLIC LEAGUE OF WAR VETERANS

Press Drive on Religious Foes Throughout Nation.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 23.—While the papal nuncio, Msgr. Orsenigo, was awaiting the arrival of a protest note from the Vatican over the Germans' alleged breach of the concordat, the campaign of repressions against the Catholic church continued today.

The Catholic war veterans' league of Prussia was dissolved by order of Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, reichsminister of air, in his capacity as premier of Prussia. The organization of boys affiliated with the league also was dissolved.

Goering said the dissolution was ordered "because the establishment of a religious league of war veterans is likely to result in national dissensions and to introduce religious differences among war veterans."

League Active Recently.

One of the aims of the league, according to its statutes, was to "strengthen the Cathloic Front." The league, which was established three years ago, was especially active in recent months.

Another attack on religious organizations emanated from the mayor of Bochum. He ordered all city officials and employés to resign membership in unions of a religious character. Their children must also be withdraw from religious youths' organizations.

Father Krauss, a Jesuit priest at Stralsund, was bitterly attacked by the Nazi press today because he declared from the pulpit that the Catholics need not recognize the sterilization law. Th newspaper Der Angriff, official organ of the propaganda minister, Paul Goebbels, said this was defiance of Home Minister Wilhelm Frick's warning that the "laws of the country also apply to Catholics."

Seize $4,000 from Bishop's Office.

A total of $4,000 cash was seized by the GSP [secret police] in the Catholic bishop's office in Berlin on grounds that the money was raised through forbidden collections. The bishop's office vainly protested.

Several statues of saints in the Catholic area of Bocholt, Westphalia, have been damaged in recent months. Two arrests have been made.

A sentence of six months' imprisonment which was passed on Father Friesenhahn of Coblenz for belittling Nazi winter help was confirmed today by the Coblenz Appeal court.

Meanwhile the anti-Jewish campaign was also flourishing with the notorious anti-Semite, Julius Streicher, arriving in Berlin to reinforce propaganda.

Threatens Laws Against Jews.

"The people of Germany must be made to realize the existence of the Jewish question so that the laws which must come shall be rooted in their understanding," Streicher said, indicating drastic new measures. Streicher appealed for the "strictest discipline" since the "Jewish question is so serious that nothing must occur which will arouse misrepresentation to the world."

Jewish lawyers have been completely excluded from proceedings of the Labor court at Magdeburg. This notable decision was revealed today by the German Judges' Journal. The court ruled:

"From the Nazi viewpoint the Jews appearing before the court have no claim to be represented by Jewish lawyers. The Labor court must be entirely freed from all Jewish influences."

Jew Ends Life After Arrest.

A Jew, Kurt Heilbrun of Brunswick, was arrested at Hamburg today on a charge of "repeated racial defilement." The police announced that "after his arrest Heilbrun committed suicide by jumping from a third floor window when he was temporarily left unguarded."

Following the example of numerous other towns and bathing resorts, Schweinfurt has also closed its public baths to Jews.

Supplementing the suppression of many branches of the veterans' organization, Steel Helmets, the National League of Baltic Fighters was dissolved by Frick. The league was the central organization of men of the post-war volunteer corps who fought against the Poles, bolshevists and German communists. Frick paid tribute to their services after the 1918 revolution, but declared that nowadays no special political organizations may exist alongside the Nazi party and the bodies associated with it.

AMERICAN BORN PARIS BANKER SEIZED IN N. Y. FOR QUIZ ON CLOSING

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Bertrand Coles Neidecker was taken into custody today at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel by the New York police on a cable request from Paris police. They wish to question him about his Travelers' bank, which closed its doors last week while he was on his way here from France. He claims American citizenship.

The French police request, supplemented by a cable from the prosecutor of Paris and Judge Pierre Boutet, sitting as an inquiring magistrate, declared that Neidecker was a "fugitive" and asked that he be held and his possessions seized pending extradition proceedings.

Neidecker spent from noon until 7 p. m. in custody. He had $600 in $1 bills. He answered questions with apparent assurance. He said the reported loss of 6 million dollars in his bank had been exaggerated—it would probably be less than $250,000.

His good humor began to wear out, however, when the police attempted to hold him and found the French cables alone were not sufficient. After much legal scurrying about a writ of habeas corpus was signed by Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey, and Neidecker was released in custody of his attorneys until Friday.

ELECT ORTHODOX PATRIARCH AFTER FOUR YEAR FIGHT

JERUSALEM, July 23.—(AP)—Archbishop Timotheus Themelis of the Jordan see was elected yesterday to ascend the Orthodox patriarchal throne in Jerusalem, which has been unoccupied since the death of Msgr. Demetrios Damianos in 1931.

In being named patriarch of the Greek Orthodox church, Archbishop Timotheus occupies one of the four patriarchal thrones in the world church and succeeds to a bishopric which has traced its leaders to James the Less, "brother of the Lord."

An unceasing struggle for supremacy in the Orthodox church has been going on between those who favor a Greek for the patriarchate and the native Christian population among the Arabs, who believe that one of their own priests should hold the office. In the voting twelve priests representing the Arab laity abstained from the elections, pending an appeal against the legality of the elections by the Arab Orthodox executive.

SOVIET REGIME REAPS BIG PROFIT FROM BREAD TAX

Increases Prices 20 Pct., Triples Income.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 23.—The communist régime in Russia has imposed heavy taxes upon bread and, as a middleman, is profiting to an unexplained extent.

At a meeting in the Moscow Kremlin the council of peoples' commissars issued a decree granting a 20 per cent increase in the prices of all grains which Zagotzerno, the state grain buying organization, is permitted to pay collectivized farms throughout Russia.

A table issued with the decree reveals not only the prices which the peasants receive, but also the prices which Zagotzerno is permitted to charge the state bakeries.

New Price on Sept. 1.

The new prices become effective Sept. 1 when the peasants of the Moscow district will receive 102 rubles per metric ton for rye and 141 rubles per metric ton for wheat.

[A metric ton is 2,204.6 pounds. The ruble inside Russia is quoted at 50 cents. Outside Russia it is quoted as low as 2 cents.]

Zagotzerno is permitted to obtain a profit on its operations, receiving 130 rubles per metric ton for rye and 150 rubles per ton for wheat, but before the grain is delivered to the state mills the government imposes a tax upon rye of 1,010 rubles per ton and on wheat of 1,040 rubles per ton, making the price paid by the mills 1,140 rubles per ton for rye and 1,190 rubles per ton for wheat.

The prices of grain vary from zone to zone of the soviet union. Grain is most expensive in Vladivostok where the mills are obliged to pay 1,790 rubles per ton for rye and 1,840 rubles for wheat.

Even Larger Taxes in Milled Grain.

Should Zagotzerno mill the grain into flour an even larger tax would be imposed. This organization is permitted to charge 165 rubles per ton on the cheapest grain rye flour upon which the government imposes a tax of 1,100 rubles to bring the total price to bakeries of 1,275 rubles per ton. Wheat flour of the cheapest grade costs bakeries 1,316 rubles and of the best grade 5,250 rubles.

In Moscow the cheapest quality of rye bread costs one ruble per kilogram [2.2046 pounds] and wheat bread costs two rubles in the government shops while at Vladivostok the same qualities of bread cost one ruble fifty kopeks and two rubles eighty kopeks, respectively.

The soviet commissar of finance, G. F. Grinko, officially estimates that the government's profits through bread profiteering will this year amount to 24 billion rubles, an increase of 16,300 millions over last year.

Through tripling its income from the sale of bread to the population, Grinko reports that the soviet government was able not only to balance its budget, but to greatly increase the Bolsheviks' expenditures upon armaments this year.

PEASANT REVOLT OUSTS MEXICAN STATE GOVERNOR

Move to Rid Country of Calles' Men Seen.

MEXICO CITY, July 23.—(AP)—A popular Agrarian uprising forced Gov. Manuel Lastra of the state of Tabasco out of office today and threatened the position of Gov. Rafael Villareal of Tamaulipas.

The resignation of Lastra and the uprising against Villareal were considered a move toward a general cleaning out of governors to rid the country of the last traces of power of Gen. Calles, strong man of Mexico for eight years until President Cardenas replaced him.

Lastra was forced out of office in Tabasco by action of the permanent commission of congress which, at the instruction of Cardenas, declared Lastra had violated the constitution, failed to maintain order and was guided by "outside influence."

Aimed at Garrido.

This was regarded as a reference to Garrido Canabal, anti-Catholic leader of the "radical" movement in Mexico and was taken in some quarters to mean Garrido might be forced to leave the country.

In place of Lastra, Gen. Aureo Calles, a native of Tabasco, was named provisional governor.

Gen. Miguel Enriquez was designated military commander of the Tabasco zone in place of Gen. Sanchez, who was accused of failing to provide guarantees for a group of students who went to Tabasco last week to fight Garrido. Four of the student group were machine-gunned to death upon their arrival.

From Ciudad Victoria tonight, Gov. Villareal told the Associated Press by telephone he "had not resigned and did not intend to resign." He said there were a number of agrarians in the state capital who had declared their intention of forcing him out of office but as yet they had made no move to attack the government palace.

Force Out 22 Councils.

Other reports from Ciudad Victoria said the Agrarians there numbered between 15,000 and 20,000 and that twenty-two municipal councils in various places throughout the state had been forced to quit.

Blame for the killings of students in Tabasco was placed by President Cardenas on the authorities who he said "provoked the bloody clashes." Cardenas said "the responsibility of the governor of Tabasco is absolute, as may be seen, and his acts respond always to the influence of other persons."

Mayor Sits Tight.

Brownsville, Tex., July 23.—(AP)—Mayor Munguia of Matamoras, across the Mexican border from here, late today refused the formal demand of 2,000 peasants opposing him and the state administration, that he resign. Observers described the resulting situation as tense with the agrarians encamped just outside the town.

Officials took cognizance of the stress of the situation by a relaxation of any efforts to suppress minor disturbances and the police force, heavily armed and stationed around the plaza, made no effort to stop them for fear of precipitating trouble.

NAZI MAGAZINE PUTS 2 BILLIONS AS HITLER'S COST

BERLIN, July 23.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler's National Socialism, says a prominent economic magazine, Der Duetsch Volswirt today, has cost Germany about 5,500,000,000 reichsmarks [$2,200,000,000]. The magazine makes the statement in an article refuting foreign claims that the Nazis have increased the government debt by from 12 billion to 20 billion reichsmarks. [The mark is currently worth 40 cents.]

The total German debts as given officially at the end of April is 12,783,000,000 reichsmarks which Volkswirt says compares favorably with the United States, France and England. Of this total some 8 billions is in short term debts.

The total debt, principally those of short term, has been increasing steadily recently owing to public works and perhaps the demands for rearmaments. Foreign observers suspect that a huge secret debt exists, some of them estimating it as high as 15 billion reichsmarks.

MR. ROOSEVELT CROSSES THE RUBICON.

"The constitution as we have known it has gone."—Mr. Justice McReynolds in his dissenting opinion on the gold clause in February.

"I hope your committee will not permit doubts as to constitutionality, however reasonable, to block the suggested legislation."—Mr. Roosevelt in a letter to Congressman Hill in July.

What Justice McReynolds said in February was an impending and apparent truth. What Mr. Roosevelt wrote five months later was a reckless disclosure of purpose. Much had happened in the time between the two statements. The court had decided that the constitution as we have known it was not gone. Mr. Roosevelt had decided that the constitution as we have known it should go and the court with it. He advised congress to proceed without regard for either. He would make his record. The court could make its own. Then he would go to the country.

With great clarity and great suddenness the people were given to see the program in its real import and full intention. Another people whose political life and strife had made them familiar with the coup d'état would have seen the stroke in a minute. The French might have called it, say, the 9th Thermidor. They would have recognized the moment of decision and declaration, the crossing of the Rubicon. The American people are not easily persuaded that the persons to whom their government is intrusted will seriously consider at any time the overthrow of that government, will try to change it into something entirely different, and work deliberately to that end.

So long as the legality of government acts was being sustained by the courts the impression prevailed that whatever was being done was planned within the framework of the American republic and the constitutional union of states. The American people have been too trustful, as the facts now prove.

Suddenly the Supreme court in a number of decisions makes it plain that the Roosevelt system of government cannot be erected within the American house. The American government as it has been and the Roosevelt government cannot both stand on the same ground. Before the collectivist democracy, as the revolutionaries know it and call it, can be put up the individualistic, representative, free, and self-governing democracy must be removed.

The great service the Supreme court did the country was to reveal the operations, put them beyond misunderstanding, and to give the people who do not want a revolution a chance to organize against it in their own protection. The Roosevelt government is not proceeding within the law but outside of it and against it. No doubt the New Dealers hoped that court interpretations would change the constitution for them so that the sanction of law would go with them. They then would set up a new kind of state, without judicial interference, and have only political opposition to overcome. They would not then be in open contempt for the limitations of authority but would appear as social reformers within the law, not as leaders of revolt against it.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter to Congressman Hill summarized in a sentence what he had previously revealed to be the administrative position. Congress and the executive were to persist in the courses which had been condemned as illegal and rely upon the country deserting the standard the judiciary had set up as the rallying point for the people who want to retain their republic.

In such an extraordinary situation the request of the President that no attention be paid to the constitution in legislation if reckless was consistent and useful. Mr. Roosevelt asked congress to disregard doubts, however reasonable. In doing so he asked that acts be passed even if the illegality of them should be plain to every congressman who voted for them. That was carrying the war to the nine old gentlemen.

The statement was useful because it was so fully declaratory of purpose that it brought the front line of conflict out from cover. The enemy lines can be seen. The objectives of the forward movement are known. The array is the judiciary and the supreme law against the executive and legislative. It is representative democracy against socialized collectivist democracy. It is a nation of free individuals against a nation of managed individuals. It is a nation of private enterprise against a nation of socialized enterprise. It is a nation of private property against a nation of state controled property. If the people should support the executive against the judiciary the constitution will be changed to permit what is now forbidden and the court will be prohibited from passing on the authority of acts of congress. The socialistic state will then be free to build where representative democracy now has its house.

MR. PITTMAN EXPLAINS.

Senator Pittman of Nevada is annoyed to think that his activity as a silver senator has been attributed to a personal interest in any mines. Take that recent story of John J. Raskob's 5 million dollar syndicate to consolidate silver properties. Mr. Pittman says he put no money into it. Indeed, he has owned no interest in silver mines since 1925. His only connection with the Raskob matter is as a lawyer. Mr. Pittman says he has not engaged regularly in the practice of law since 1915, but from time to time he has permitted himself to be drafted to handle matters which fall within his specialty. This is one of them. He is acting for both sides in the negotiations.

Mr. Pittman's statement will satisfy every one except those few ultra-suspicious persons who will point to the fact that Mr. Pittman has omitted any mention of the size of the fee he expects to receive for his services as legal specialist. Plainly, however, Mr. Pittman was under no obligation to reveal this item because no congressional investigation of the relations of the government to the silver business is now being conducted.

While Mr. Pittman's statement has proved he is the entirely disinterested servant of the public weal, he has made the activities of the silver bloc even more difficult to understand than they were before. The silver purchase policy which Mr. Pittman and his associates have forced upon the government is costly to our taxpayers and has done vast damage to the economic welfare of the orient. It has busted banks up and down the China coast and has certainly done our trade with the orient no good. Competent business men and competent economists have been almost unanimous in regarding the government's silver purchases as foolish and dangerous. As Mr. Pittman and presumably his associates in the silver bloc as well have no personal interest in the matter and as the public is injured by the silver purchases, why does the silver bloc persist in forcing the government to work this injury?

To this question a few cynics have replied that the silver bloc is determined to use the cash in the United States treasury to acquire merit among their constituents. It is to be hoped that in his next statement Mr. Pittman will make it clear that no such motive has animated him.

JUDGES AS EXECUTIVES.

There is more than the theory of checks and balances to recommend the separation of powers which is a fundamental of American government, both in the nation and its political subdivisions. The human element also enters. We live under a government of laws, not men, but those laws are made, executed, and interpreted by men, and it is rare that the type of mind suited to one of these three functions is capable of handling efficiently another of them.

Experience shows this to be particularly true of the judicial mind. Chicago and Illinois can show numerous instances, past and present, of the capable judge who proved a sorry executive. Unfortunately the haphazard growth of our local political institutions has provided in a number of instances for the exercise by judges of executive powers, totally disconnected from the administration of the courts.

This is doubly unfortunate. Not only are the functions as a rule performed inefficiently but the powers are a temptation for politics to invade the courts and for judges to invade politics. From the standpoint of political science the greatest benefit of the Chicago park consolidation was that it took from the judges of the Circuit court the power of naming the south park commissioners.

We had occasion to comment recently on another power, unscientifically vested in the courts, under which the judges of the Municipal court make their own budget, although the city council is obliged to find the revenue to finance it. A situation for which there is even less justification exists in the county government, where a committee of Circuit judges fixes the number of employés of county fee offices.

This system has been in vogue since the elected county officials were required to turn in their fee collections to the county government, retaining only a set salary. In earlier days the officials paid their employés from the fees collected and pocketed the balance.

It is entirely possible that when the change was made some such county board as the present one was in office, and the legislators decided that its members could not be trusted with making a budget for the fee offices, so provided that the judges should set the number of employés.

As it operates the system is ridiculous. The county board must appropriate for some 4,000 employés, but is powerless to effect any reduction in 45 per cent of this number, employed in the fee offices. Frequently and with considerable justification the commissioners have defended themselves against criticism for wasteful spending by pointing to this condition.

The county board, which has to find the revenue to finance county activities, should be given the power to determine the number of employés. Interference by the judges should be ended. True, the record of the present board gives little assurance that the change would result in immediate economies, but at least the commissioners would be stripped of their alibi for not accomplishing them.

Editorial of the Day

NATURE IMITATES ART.

[Decatur Herald.]

Authors who specialize with success in murder mysteries and tales of horror could hardly hope to spin out of sheer fancy the bizarre details of Chicago's latest "torture slaying." All the ingredients are there. Count them:

Mutilated body found in a swamp. Severed lower limbs in a trunk. An older woman jealous of one younger. Insurance policies. Former burlesque queen. Chinese tongs. Lethal drugs. Midnight automobile rides. The half-world. Oriental cunning. Sordid money. Police.

All of which would imply that writers of fiction are gifted only in the telling of a story and not in the invention of incident. The twisted mentalities of men and women accounted ignorant and dull are capable of cleverness and cunning beyond belief. Their situations are not make-believe or academic. Their plots are conceived in desperation and not for the purpose of earning royalties.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

FIRST WE FEARED INFLATION—now it looks as though Washington was strong for deflation. Anyhow, the mint is soon to get busy turning out new coins—half cent and one-tenth of a cent pieces. If you hand the clerk two-bits for something at the store costing 12½ cents suppose he gives you change in mills. That would be just 125 pretty coins to jangle in your pocket. And suppose some more you had a dollar's worth of mills—that would be just an even thousand of the darned things. Mark my word; the day is coming when you've got to tie a trailer to your coattails to haul your loose change around in.

‡

AND HERE'S a grand chance for the Republicans—let their spellbinders on the stump roar the question: "And why are the Democrats making this new coin—a mill—the tenth part of a cent?" and then, of course, they answer it that the idea is that when election time comes, instead of paying the patriots who support the ticket the old established price of two bucks, they'll slip 'em a couple of mills. Probably not true, but as true as most campaign arguments.

‡

AND THE NEW COINAGE will change the wail of the panhandlers on the street. Instead of saying, "Brother, willya lemme have a dime?" it will occur to him to be much more pathetic to say, "Friend, can you lemme have a mill? I'm a tryin' to save up a hundred of 'em an' then I can git a cuppa Mochie an' Javvie."

‡

DEPRAVITY.

I have a host of sinners
Who live within my house,
Whose tipsy laughter shakes the walls
In their ribald carouse.

Villon and bearded Whitman,
Husymans and Baudelaire—
Was ever such a company
To poison honest air?

I dare not mention Shakespeare,
I would not have you know
That I have walked at dawning with
A profligate named Poe.

Zola and Heinrich Heine
Disturb my righteous sleep—
I pray the good folk do not find
What company I keep.

And day and night these madmen
Orate, posture and stalk
Before me, who, far lost in sin
Listen to their talk . . .

JESSUP.

‡

THOSE ETHIOPIANS are smart. Mussolini found out the soldiers of that country went barefoot, so he ordered his shock troops to carry broken glass and bent nails and tacks and old tin cans and scatter them on the ground. But what did the Ethiopians do? They sent all over Africa and bought every goat they could find, and the goats will go in front of the Ethiopian army and eat up all the broken glass, bent nails, tacks, and tin cans and then butt right into Mussolini's soldiers and chase 'em into the Sahara.

‡

THEY'VE THOUGHT UP A NEW ALIBI for spinach. The doctors say if you swallow a safety pin, then gulp down a lot of spinach on top of it, the spinach will surround the safety pin and make it harmless. Well, I'm glad there is some excuse for spinach after all. But I know I would have to swallow a half bushel of safety pins before they could get me to eat any spinach.

‡

EXPLANATION.

I gathered the words
That my friends gave to me
And sold them for silence
Beneath a plum tree.

Not that I would spurn
My friends of the days,
But summer was calling
From gossip to praise.

THOMAS CURTIS CLARK.

‡

THE NEWSPAPERS KEEP UP an awful fuss over John Jacob Astor III. sticking to his twenty-five dollar a week job on the New York waterfront. It doesn't seem to me very heroic for young John Jake with billions and billions in the old sock at home to stay on a twenty-five bucks a week job. He certainly isn't much afraid of being fired. Suppose his boss steps up to him and says, "Hey, you're fired. Gitthell outten here!" What of it? John Jake could just say, "Why, you poor shrimp. I could buy you and the whole doggoned company with the street car money I carry in my vest pocket. You fire me off the waterfront! Listen, say another word and I'll buy the waterfront and then if you put a foot on it I'll have you arrested for trespass." Yessir, it hain't so much what you're drawing down every week on the job—it's how much you've got in the old sock at home that counts.

JULY.

Toasting brown the crusty grasses,
Steaming up the land,
July's busy in her kitchen,
As a chef she's grand.

Sifting dust and stirring pollen
In the earth's big bowl,
Heating up her mighty ovens,
Prodigal of coal.

Boiling down the ponds and rivers,
Trying out the dew,
In the end this torrid lady

THE AFTER LUNCH "LET-DOWN."

MANY observers have noted the mental sluggishness, even drowsiness, that overcomes certain persons in the period immediately following lunch and during the last hour of the working day, and school teachers have recognized that they must make a greater effort to interest their pupils during these hours.

Recent experiments conducted by Prof. Donald A. Laird of Colgate university have thrown considerable light on the situation. In his study he used healthy young adults, all of whom were accustomed to considerable mental activity. Meals were controled in the laboratory and heavy as well as light menus were planned and given at different periods.

These human guinea pigs were first shown bits of cardboard on which legibly written house addresses were displayed. Each card remained visible for ten seconds. A further ten second interval intervened before another name and address appeared. This was repeated until ten names and addresses had been shown. Memory was then tested thirty minutes after the showing of the last card. Following a heavy noon meal slightly less than 50 per cent of the addresses were correctly recalled, while on the light meal days a trifle more than 60 per cent were remembered.

Arithmetical problems were then proposed in which the subject would add to a given number a two-figure number until 100 additions had been made. It required 18.3 more seconds to make the additions on heavy meal days than upon those in which a light noon lunch had been eaten. The light meal group made 25 per cent fewer errors.

Other experiments involved the association of ideas. The director of the test would call out the name of an object and the student would respond by naming any part of the object that came to mind. For example, if the word "wheel" were announced the subject would respond with "spoke," "rim," "tire," etc. The response time was measured in thousandths of a second. Each subject was tested on two different days and twenty responses were measured each day. Results showed that the heavy meal subjects were nearly 7 per cent slower.

Attention was also measured by determining the stimulus required to secure mental concentration. Hearing was used as the key sense, and a sound mechanism with suitable electrical connections was employed. The subject's attention was focused upon the intensity of the sound, which was interrupted four times in five minutes without his knowledge. Lapses of attention or lack of concentration were 69 per cent fewer on the light meal days. In other words, attention would wander more than twice as often after the heavy meal periods.

Fatigue was measured by having the subjects record their own feelings in accordance with an accepted list of manifestations of that "tired feeling," and 29 per cent fewer sensations of fatigue were found to be present on the light meal days.

The conclusions of Laird and his coworkers are that we can account for much of our loss of efficiency during the afternoon work period on the basis of the heavy noon meal. They recommend light dairy lunches, consisting of milk, crackers, corn flakes, gelatin, and fresh fruits.

Of course, Laird's subjects were under control conditions as to rest, sleep, exercise, etc. No small amount of afternoon lethargy may be ascribed to late hours the night before or to a clogged digestive tract. At any rate, it is far more hygienic to consume leisurely a reasonably substantial breakfast and ease up on the calories at noontime. "Ye goode olde custom" tea at 4 o'clock supplies caffeine and raises mental alertness.

FRACTURES.

H. M. writes: 1. What is the usual remedial procedure for a fractured collarbone? An operation is not recommended. 2. The same patient is also suffering from a fractured knee cap, the chief disturbance at present being an accumulation of water. Tapping is not advised. 3. What are the symptoms of severe brain concussion and just what takes place when it happens?

REPLY.

1. A fractured collarbone is treated by a special bandage which draws the shoulder backward and brings the broken ends of the clavicle (collarbone) in apposition; that is, into correct contact and position. If this is applied early it is usually satisfactory and will hold the structures properly.

2. Fractured knee cap is much more difficult and requires a longer period of convalescence. It is not infrequently advisable to wire the fragments so as to insure healing. The same accident that caused the broken knee cap may have injured the synovial membrane, also causing it to secrete an excess amount of fluid. Under rest and heat this may absorb. If it does not, tapping may be necessary.

3. Concussion of the brain is usually the result of a violent blow upon the head and may be attended with dizziness, loss of consciousness, nausea, weak pulse, and slow respiration. Sometimes unconsciousness lasts but a few minutes; at other times it may not become manifest for several hours.

PIN WORMS.

Mrs. M. N. writes: My 11 year old daughter suffers from pin worms. I have tried all kinds of medicine, including quassia chips, with no success.

REPLY.

I believe you can relieve the pin worms if you adopt the following simple hygienic measures: Inasmuch as pin worms leave the rectum and lay their eggs on the skin of the body in this area, bathe the parts with strong soapsuds and water several times daily, after each bowel movement, and before going to bed at night. If the itching is felt after retiring, the patient should rise and scrub the parts with soap and water. This will destroy the eggs that are laid on the skin. It is constant reinfection that is keeping up the supply. After bathing use some dusting powder such as one-third boric acid, one-third powdered chalk, and one-third orris root. Continue to use the quassia chips and make certain that the vegetables that are eaten are thoroughly cooked. Instruct the child to wash her hands frequently and not to put the fingers to the mouth.

SEASICKNESS.

Mrs. E. F. writes: Your article on seasickness interested me as I am just over a case, but was not on a ship or in a car to get it. I was not able to get out of bed without vomiting and staggering and was completely helpless. Could trouble in the sinuses, liver, or gall bladder cause this trouble? How about migraine?

REPLY.

Evidently you have some disease of the balancing mechanism of the middle ear (the vestibule). Occasionally patients with migraine will evince the same symptoms, or those with severe liver disturbance. In some cases reduction in the amount of common salt used in the diet and half the usual amount of fluids taken daily will relieve the symptoms.

SETTLING ESTATE.

Chicago, July 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My brother died in 1930, leaving no will. An administrator was appointed, who in turn appointed a lawyer. 1. Said lawyer absolutely refused to represent the heirs or [2] have anything to do with them, and when an accounting was filed the heirs disputed it and proved by witnesses that the administrator had falsified the account. 3. Can the administrator's lawyer legally charge the estate for defending the administrator's wrongdoing? He has done so, and retained nearly $600. Anyway, the estate is small and so far has produced less than $2,700. 4. How can I get the Probate court to act in this matter if I lack funds to hire a lawyer? 5. The administrator has since died. No new administrator has been appointed, and I cannot find out what has become of certain securities belonging to the estate.

M. N. S.

1. On your own statement the lawyer was employed to represent the administrator. It is not clear what you mean by saying that he refused to represent the heirs.

2. Ordinarily it is not necessary for the lawyer to have personal dealings with the heirs.

3. In general, no, but we cannot advise to advantage without having all of the surrounding facts before us.

4. File objections to the final account.

5. Try discussing the situation with Assistant Judge Kelly and ask her to bring pressure to bear to force a closing of the estate. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MORTGAGE CLAIM.

Chicago, July 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a mortgage holder jump or tie up an insurance claim? 2. This is a life insurance policy left to two children. 3. Property is heavily indebted and children do not wish to hold property, but want to file a quitclaim deed or else have the mortgage foreclosed. W. K.

1. If the insurance money is now owing to a judgment debtor, then the money could be tied up by garnishment.

2. Your letter does not make clear whether the children are named as beneficiaries or the insurance is payable to the estate and left to the children by a will.

3. The children would not be personally liable for their father's debts if that is what you mean to ask. We could advise to better advantage if you had given us a simple statement of your facts.

DRINKING MORE WATER DOESN'T IMPROVE ONE'S HEALTH
FUR BAY

At a meeting of the American Public Health association some time ago it was pointed out by a speaker that the idea that every one should drink "six glasses of water a day" is foolishness. It was shown that some people require very little water, while others require a great deal. The amount is probably a matter of habit with most people. There are some who never drink water at all and seem healthy. Water is a food and we all should drink as our thirst requires, but there is no reason to suppose that drinking more than this would make us any healthier.

RAGWEED.

Chicago, July 18.—About the middle of August each year we are reminded of the terrible scourge of hay fever in Chicago, especially where we encounter very severe cases of asthma [the progressive development of this widespread ailment].

A hue and cry is raised at that time about the elimination of ragweed, burdock, and other noxious weeds which cause hay fever and clutter our vacant lots and prairies. This effort is entirely futile by that time, as the pollen which does the damage has already filled the air.

By the middle of July concerted efforts should be organized to eliminate these weeds by cutting or pulling them out by the roots in every vacant piece of land in Chicago. If this is done for a few years the decrease in hay fever in our city will be notable and many of the people who would normally come to Chicago, lured by its many attractions, will be glad to come or remain here rather than make a trip to the north woods in an effort to evade hay fever.

The Boy Scouts and other young people's organizations could be enrolled in this program, which would be a very decided benefit to Chicago from the standpoint of cleanliness as well as sanitation, since the weed-cluttered vacant land of Chicago is used as unsightly dumps for all forms of rubbish, and once the weeds are eliminated rubbish would not be dumped there.

ARTHUR BECK.

YACHT HARBORS.

Chicago, July 20.—Your editorial on the harbor shortage around Chicago is timely and should help considerably to relieve this situation.

For almost twenty-five years my brother and I have sailed out of Jackson park harbor. Anchorage has never been as crowded as it is this year. The park officials have coöperated as far as possible in arranging moorings to accommodate the maximum number of boats.

The shortage on the south side is especially acute. The yachtsmen around Jackson park have talked new harbors for twenty years and they are still talking.

What about the south lagoon of the Fair? Tearing out the bridge at 23d street would open this area as an anchorage for south side residents who now must go to Montrose avenue on the north side for a mooring.

The government should look after this problem and see that the sport is given every opportunity to grow so that more of our young men can learn to handle boats. The yachtsmen who signed up in the navy during the war were probably better equipped for their work than any other group entering active service.

J. P. O'ROURKE.

Chicago, July 20.—The Chicago Yacht club desires to express its appreciation of your editorial, "Lake Sailing."

The sport and pleasure derived from yachting by the people of Chicago is on the rapid increase. We have one of the finest racing fleets in the country. A few kind words help the game immensely. The little $10,000 sailing unit at the foot of Monroe street was financed 50 per cent by the yacht owners themselves.

HOLLIS E. POTTER,
Commodore, Chicago Yacht club.

A DEFENSE OF GOVERNMENT HOUSING.

Chicago, July 18.—Patience is the art of hoping; you finally gave birth to a pedagogic arraignment of the federal housing project under the caption "Eminent Domain in Federal Housing." I welcome you or any other complacent representative to accompany me on my daily job of evacuating tenants in slum areas. You would soon apologize for that arrogant statement that communities need not despair of slum clearance sans federal aid.

How old is our ghetto? How long have our slum structures been tottering on unsafe foundations? How long have tenants been occupying these hellholes, living under conditions which beggar all attempt in describing? Like open sores, they stand festered upon the lovely body of our city. They constitute a physical, fire, and moral hazard.

For over a year I have been evacuating tenants from these slum structures. Demolition of these buildings promptly follows. For the most part these tenants are either destitute or possess extremely humble means. Where do they go? Like rats, they scurry to another rathole. In one instance I encountered the same family three times in this process of evacuation and demolition.

In despair and terror they cry to me: "Where can we go?" Perhaps the critics can answer . . . or can they? Yet, when the government comes forward with concrete plans and proposes tangible solution, a hue and cry is raised against the infringement of private interests.

If and when the federal housing project emerges forth, even in restricted form, people of moderate means can occupy these government constructed buildings and thus create a decent and habitable vacancy for these unfortunate and harried victims of slum clearance.

FRANCES H. GREGOR.

NOISE.

Chicago, July 20.—Ald. Grealis states that he will start action in modernizing and enforcing the anti-noise ordinance, claiming that noise is detrimental to health. Mayor Kelly is reported as referring to the noise of "L," street cars, and buses. Dr. Bundesen says, "Noise causes mental exhaustion and a breakdown in nervous stability." If this is true unnecessary noise—viz.: Radios in automobiles roaring full blast, motorists starting parked cars during the midnight hours awakening workers who must arise early—should be checked. The noise of the "L" and surface lines is no worse today than it was thirty years ago and is confined to a comparatively few locations. However, no district, not even the suburbs, is free from auto noise nuisance. It is amusing to note motorists who wake up an entire neighborhood at 1 or 2 a. m. complain that the milkman's horse and wagon make too much noise at 6 a. m., when they wish to sleep.

Is this the selfish age?

A. R.

AE.

Chicago, July 19.—Obituary writers didn't give the Irish poet, George Russell, his exact classification as an Irishman. He was an Ulsterman, which made him something of a rarity in the literary world, as the hard headed, practical Ulsterites have produced many political and industrial leaders, but few poets or novelists. Edgar Allan Poe was the only great Ulster-American writer, and even he was of English descent on his mother's side.

WARM WEATHER ADDS IMPETUS TO FOREIGN TRAVEL

Chicagoans Seek Cooler Climes for Vacations.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

The long delayed arrival of torrid weather last week and this sent Chicagoans scurrying for the cooler spots of the earth. Hundreds of thousands took to the beaches, the nearby lakes, and the forest preserves; others, with more time at their disposal, set out for such air conditioned places as Bermuda, Newfoundland, Quebec, the Baltic sea, the north woods, and the Rockies. The result was that the travel trend, which ordinarily begins to subside by the latter part of July, gained a new impetus.

Large groups of vacationists left Monday for one and two week ocean cruises. Mr. and Mrs. Benedict T. Theisen, Mr. and Mrs. William O'Callaghan, Mr. and Mrs. H. Heimer, Mrs. J. V. Nason, A. F. Eck, and the Misses Lucy Mulloy, Warralene Lee, Edith Hartnett, Mae Arnell, E. Cannon, Ann Murphy, Bertha Kelley, and Ann Rudolph were aboard the Britannic when it started on a jaunt to Bermuda. On the Monarch of Bermuda, bound for the same island, were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. J. Osborne, all of Chicago, and the Misses Estelle Schroeder, Alma Schultz, and M. Schultz, all of Milwaukee.

Cruise the St. Lawrence.

Another group sailed on the Franconia for the fjordlike Bay of Isles, past the forest covered cliffs of Newfoundland, and up St. Lawrence to Quebec. Included were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shephard, N. B. Nelson, Odell Barnum, Vaughn Shephard, Mrs. A. L. Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Uphan, Mrs. Hubert Arms, Mrs. Eloise A. Clark, William Burton Larsen, and the Misses Frances Corn, C. Cameron, Elizabeth Teunan, and Sarah McLean.

Half a hundred passengers booked out of Chicago will depart on the Gripsholm Friday for the Scandinavian countries, the Baltic, and northern Russia. Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Appleton and their children, Edith Marie and Arthur, of Evanston will be accompanied by Mrs. I. A. Archambault and Mrs. A. W. Wigglesworth of Kenilworth, Mrs. John Galle of Evanston, and H. B. Crouse and his son of Syracuse, N. Y. The Misses Betty and Daisy Reese of Chicago will travel with their sister, Mrs. Ballard Dunn, of Omaha. Others from this city are Farley Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Nemecek, and Mr. and Mrs. August Heinemann.

Plan Bicycle Tour of England.

Mrs. Walter Wood of Geneva and Miss Katherine Cretcher of Hubbard Woods head a party of girls who will leave from Montreal Saturday for a trip through the British Isles and France. They plan to cover part of rural England by bicycle and to visit the Eisteddfod festival, Cambridge, London, Hampstead, Sussex, Glastonbury, Stow-on-the-Wold, and Paris, and to return on the Empress of Australia Aug. 29. In the group are Miss Janet Castle, daughter of the Sidney Castles of Geneva; Miss Wilma Swissler, daughter of Judge and Mrs. William R. Swissler of River Forest; Miss Alice Manegold, daughter of the Frank Manegolds of Chicago; the Misses Phyllis and Bobbie Jones, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Harold E. Jones, and Miss Jane Hempelmann, daughter of the Walter Hempelmanns. Miss Manegold gave a party for her fellow travelers last Friday at the Town and Tennis club.

Embarking on the President Harding today for a three months' vacation in Ireland are Mr. and Mrs. James McGarraghy, their daughter Mary, and Miss Margaret Moohan. Mrs. John Walsh will sail on the same vessel to visit her brother in England.

Charles H. Swift will sail on the Bremen at midnight Friday. Others on the liner will be Dr. W. H. G. Logan, M. A. Pegenerin, Leonhard Hoerdt, H. A. McArthur, and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander C. Brassert, all of Chicago, and H. Wehmann of Minneapolis.

Will Tour Continental Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Bissett will board the Champlain Saturday for a visit with the former's mother in Aberdeen, Scotland. Also on the Champlain will be Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Vaughn of Highland Park, who have mapped out an extensive trip through England, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, and France; Mr. and Mrs. Washington Flexner, with their daughter Miriam and their son, Dr. Louis Flexner, who plan to motor leisurely through France and the Netherlands, and Mrs. Agatha Schoenbrun and her daughter Mary, who will spend the late summer and autumn in rural England.

Starting on their annual trip abroad, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hoffman of Glencoe sailed yesterday on the Conte di Savoia. They will debark at Villefranche and proceed to Cannes. Other passengers on the Conte were Mrs. Edmund J. Doering of Lake Forest and her daughters, Miss Nancy Doering and Mrs. George P. Earling, who will spend five weeks in Europe; Miss Anna Williams, who will stay with friends in Switzerland; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Stanard, William K. Stanard II., E. T. Stanard Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ben Harris, Mrs. Mary Conti, Miss Florence Conti, John J. Kelly, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haffenberg, all of Chicago, and Jim Woods of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Adler R. Koehler of this city chose the Ile de France for her voyage overseas. F. B. Keough of Chicago, Prof. and Mrs. Simon Litman of Champaign, Mrs. Samuel Solomon of Lansing, Mich., and Boghos Boranian of Milwaukee selected the Exeter for their trip to the Mediterranean. The Misses Lillian Barbour and Clare Lorenzen took the American Shipper for a few weeks in Paris and Grenoble.

Will Spend Year in Italy.

Mrs. John MacLeod and her daughter Catherine, who will sail the last of next week on the Rex, are packing their trunks for a year's stay in Italy. They will divide their time among the Isle of Capri, Rome, and Florence.

With travel by plane more and more coming into its own, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Wilson and their children, Dorothy, Joan, and Robert, of Glencoe set out on a round trip to Los Angeles last Friday via the American airlines. Inasmuch as Robert is only 9 months old, it was arranged beforehand to have special food prepared for him all along the way.

ECONOMICAL BUS TOURS

For Chicagoland residents wishing to view the scenic and historical places of the east, and do it economically, one of the bus lines this summer is operating two weeks' tours to Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and Washington. The arrangement is a sort of revival of the old stage coach days, when travelers took their time in viewing their country's wonders, instead of rushing through them with no more than a moment's pause.

Leaving Chicago Sunday morning, the motorcoach is routed through the steel mills and over the Dunes highway before cutting across Indiana and Ohio for Toledo and Cleveland. At Cleveland the passengers board a steamer for a night's sail across Lake Erie. At Buffalo the following morning they take another bus for the trip through the Finger lakes region and the Mohawk valley. After an overnight stop at Albany they cruise through the Berkshire hills, over the Old Mill trail, and along the Connecticut river.

Two days are spent in and near Boston, with Concord, Lexington, and many other places included in the side trips. Then the tourists hit the old Shore Line route through Rhode Island and Connecticut for New York City. There the schedule provides for four nights and three days of sightseeing.

A day in Philadelphia, with its Independence hall and Liberty bell, is followed by an evening and a night in Atlantic City, and then a jaunt through Delaware and Maryland to Washington. The two days there call for visits to the White House, the capitol, the Lincoln monument, Mount Vernon, Arlington cemetery, and all the rest of the tourist favorites. After that the vacationists are taken across Pennsylvania, through the Gettysburg battlefield, into the Blue Ridge mountains, and over the Alleghanies to Pittsburgh. The final day is spent on the trip across Ohio and Indiana, with arrival in Chicago set for Saturday evening.

The cost of the tour is $76.60 per person when two travel together, or $83.60 when traveling alone. This includes transportation, stateroom berth on the lake steamer, room with bath at the hotels, sightseeing trips in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Washington, and admission fees to public buildings in Washington and the grounds at Mount Vernon. It does not cover meals.

For the name of the bus line operating these tours, or any further information concerning them, call The Tribune Travel bureau, Superior 0100, local 707 or 734, or write the bureau at 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

CANADIAN FINDS U. S. IN FAVOR OF ROAD TO ALASKA

The promotion of a $15,000,000 highway to connect Fairbanks, Alaska, with Seattle, Wash., took George M. Murray, a member of the British Columbia provincial parliament, to Washington, D. C., and he was in Chicago yesterday, returning with good news for a huge section of northwestern America.

"I was told in Washington," said the Canadian, "that President Roosevelt favors the expenditure of federal relief funds on the 800 miles of the highway in the Yukon valley of Alaska. There are 400 miles to be built in the Yukon area in Canada and 500 miles to be built in the Frazer river trench in British Columbia.

"An international commission surveyed this project two years ago and reported that the potential trafic through this mountainous wilderness of great natural wealth would justify the investment and would justify year around maintenance in a district where fourteen foot snowdrifts are common."

Mrs. John D. Warfield Jr. Wins Divorce; Desertion

Mrs. Helen Totten Warfield, 108 Gage road, Riverside, was granted a divorce yesterday from John D. Warfield Jr., vice president of the Thomson & Taylor company and president of the Warfield Chocolate company. Testifying before Judge James F. Fardy of the Superior court, Mrs. Warfield said she was married in 1921 and her husband deserted her on June 7, 1934. Attorney Frank Cantwell, counsel for Mrs. Warfield, said there had been a substantial property settlement for the support of Mrs. Warfield and their two children, John D. Jr., 12 years old, and Totten, 10 years old, whose custody she gained.

BRAND TORRANCE AS PLAGIARIST; WITHDRAW BOOK

Briton Charges American Stole His Ideas.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 23. — "Jungle Mania," written by Dr. Arthur Torrance, naturalized American explorer, at present in London en route to Ethiopia, has been withdrawn by the publishers after discovery that the book contained striking resemblances to "Passion Fruit," a novel by a well known English author, Owen Rutter.

"Jungle Mania," a best seller in America [published in 1933], was published in London in September. The sale also has been stopped in America. The action was taken by the publishers after they had been approached by the Authors' society which had investigated Rutter's statements.

Coined Name Repeated.

Both books mention a place called Malang and no such place exists, Rutter claims. He says he coined the name for the purpose of his novel. Torrance writes in his book:

"The first few days at Malang, Borneo, there were many things," etc.

Interviewed today Rutter said: "When I read this passage in Torrance's book I nearly fell out of my chair. The name Malang was coined for my novel written in 1924 and I wondered if Torrance discovered a town by that name. I was a district officer in Borneo for many years and was certain no such place existed.

"In subsequent paragraphs there were references both in my novel and in Torrance's book to eating curry and bathing from a Shanghai jar. Another surprise awaited me in the next chapter. Torrance described with a wealth of detail how he shot a tiger. I cannot understand this mistake, because there are no tigers in Borneo."

"Shadow Over Book."

Torrance declared today he had never heard of Rutter and never had read his novel.

"I contend there is such a place as Malang and have a stamped, addressed envelope to prove it. The book is withdrawn in London and America. It was the best thing to do. I would not allow it sold under the circumstances. It was suggested to me there seemed to be a shadow over the book. I could not have anything like that said about my publication. It is puzzling to hear experts contend there are no tigers in Borneo. You can take it from me I have shot tigers."

TROPICAL DISEASE EXPERT.

Dr. Arthur Torrance has headed many expeditions into the world's wilds and jungles and has been called "conqueror of Africa's sleeping sickness."

Born in Blackpool, England, July 26, 1887, he received his A. B. at the University of Southern California in 1914 and subsequent degrees at New York university and London university. In 1924 he led an expedition to Borneo, investigating leprosy and elephantiasis.

HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGE.

Howard Mahannon, 31 years old, colored, 1022 West 14th street, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court for the robbery last June of Mrs. Clara Handelman, 76 years old, in her delicatessen at 1720 Hastings street.

The Week in Review

DAY BY DAY the tides of events sweep on... vast currents that transform man and his universe. Day by day history in the making is recorded by the newspaper. If you do not want to live as a stranger in this exciting and stimulating world, you must read the news.

Yet the pressure of business or of other activities is such that often you do not find it possible to follow events as closely as you would like. To fill that gap, The Times offers you, every Sunday, a new kind of newspaper section ...a Review of the Week that summarizes the week's outstanding happenings and, in addition, supplies the background of the news in special articles gathered from all parts of the globe.

The Review is the latest addition to the sections that have made The Sunday Times outstanding among Sunday *news*papers. There are also: a magazine based on the news and as vivid as it is timely; a book review that keeps you up to the minute in literary matters; a picture section world-wide in range and right on the heels of events; an arts section that informs you fully about theatre, screen, music and art; and, of course, the news of the day in every field.

Here is a Sunday newspaper for through-the-week as well as for Sunday reading... combining the qualities of the best magazines with the timeliness of the newspaper...appealing to a broad group* of families with above-average incomes . . . thus presenting an incomparable opportunity for advertisers in the nation's greatest market—at lowest comparative cost.

* Net paid sale of The Sunday New York Times averaged 728,351 in the six months ended March 31, 1935.

TO THE READER

Orders for The New York Times can be placed through John B. Woodward, Inc., 400 North Michigan Ave., Chicago—Telephone Superior 5456—or by writing directly to the Circulation Department of The Times. Annual subscription rates are: Sunday, $5; Weekday, $10; Sunday and Weekday, $15.

"All the News That's Fit to Print"

TO THE ADVERTISER

Every month consecutively since July, 1919, advertisers have used more space in The Times than in any other New York newspaper. Only one conclusion is possible from this continued, collective judgment: that the audience reached by The Times is the primary market for advertisers in New York.

Free Ice Fund Saves Infant from Illness

Mother Sends Thanks; Gifts Are Needed.

BY MARCIA WINN.

She gave her age as 25, but her hair was snow white. She glanced at her five month old baby and said: "I've been giving him sour milk for five days. Now he has a fever."

The baby, sweltering in the heat of the tiny tenement room, turned his thin body on his couch and let out a feeble cry.

The woman had not asked for help from THE TRIBUNE free ice fund. A neighbor had telephoned of her need, for the baby, she said, was slowly starving to death.

As a result of the appeal the white haired young mother now has ice in her refrigerator for the first time this summer, and yesterday the baby's milk was unspoiled.

"And you know," she wrote in to the ice fund. "I think his fever is stopping, too. And today he smiled!"

The giving of much needed ice to families such as this one is made possible through the generosity of readers of THE TRIBUNE, but unless many more contributions are received soon the giving of ice will have to be curtailed, for the fund, as now running, will not meet the increasing demands.

Additional contributions, and many of them, are necessary if the fund is to answer the many heart breaking pleas being made to it now. If the contributions do not come, these requests cannot be cared for.

Song Writer Weds.

Hartford, Conn., July 23.—(AP)—Elias [Allie] Paul Wrubel of Middletown, song writer, and Wanda M. Wood of Hollywood, Cal., and Philadelphia, were married here today.

Miss Calkins Will Be Bride on August 28

Ceremony to Take Place at Hubbard Woods.

BY JUDITH CASS.

A BRIDE of the late summer will be Miss Patricia Calkins, the tall, blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Burnham Calkins, who will be married to J. Fred Schoellkopf IV. on Wednesday, Aug. 28. The wedding will take place very quietly in the Calkins home at 1030 Hubbard lane, Hubbard Woods, with only relatives and a few of Mr. and Mrs. Calkins' closest friends present.

The Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard of Christ church, Winnetka, will read the ceremony at 4 o'clock, and it is possible that a few of Miss Calkins' intimate friends will be invited in afterward to drink the health of the bride and bridegroom.

Miss Calkins will be unattended, but Mr. Schoellkopf, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Schoellkopf Jr. of Buffalo and Lake View, N. Y., will have his brother-in-law, Patrick Harold Hoggson, as best man. Mr. Schoellkopf will take his bride to Europe on their wedding trip and they will make their home in Buffalo. After their wedding it is likely that Miss Calkins and her husband will visit Hubbard Woods frequently for he is an accomplished pilot and owns his own plane, the ideal means of transportation for week-ending in distant places. The prenuptial entertaining will be limited to a few days preceding the ceremony for the bridegroom-to-be will not arrive here until the week-end before the wedding.

Brings Daughters Here for American Atmosphere.

When Phoebe Massey gives a house party next week-end at the Winnetka home of her parents, the George Bragg Masseys, she is going to introduce two very distinguished young ladies to Chicago's younger set. They are Natasha and Celeste Wentcher, the cousins of Arthur W. Walsh of Winnetka, and the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wentcher, who have left their home in Brussels to give their children "six months of American atmosphere."

Mrs. Wentcher, with Natasha, Celeste, and Pauline, has taken an apartment on 1328 Arthur street and Mr. Wentcher, who is now in Jerusalem, expects to join them later in the summer. The girls should make an interesting addition to the subdebutante set, as they are widely traveled, even to the extent that two of them claim different countries as their native soil, one having been born in Siberia, and the other in France. During the last ten years they have lived in Russia, Belgium, and England.

Natasha is returning to Belgium in the autumn, but Celeste contemplates going to the Art institute next winter.

Already they have been the inspiration of a number of parties, and one of the gayest affairs of the week-end will be the dinner that Miss Massey is giving for them Saturday night. Probably their activities over Sunday will also include sailing, as Loren Massey, Phoebe's brother, has just returned from the Mackinac race, and will be at the house party. Phoebe is to return to Farmington this fall.

Mrs. Walsh's subdeb daughter, Mary, will not see much of her foreign cousins for she has been on the high seas herself, and is now in Deauville. Mary's sister, Florence, who is foregoing a debut this fall in favor of entering Wells college, is at Houghton, Mich., with her mother, and is entertaining at present Lucy Rumsey, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Rumsey of Winnetka.

Ayres Boals Give House Party on Boat.

Which brings to light the fact that Lucy's brother, Wallace Donelson Rumsey Jr., is one of a number of Chicagoans who have "disappeared" within the last few weeks and who

Tucks Hold Sleeves to Snug Lines

Need a Pickup for Hot Days? Sample These

Fabric Gloves Now Offered at Reduced Prices.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Summer pickups for that wilted feeling!

Might as well replenish your glove supply with a half dozen new washables . . . you can get them now at reduced prices, and the first half dozen fabrics you so gayly bought early last spring must, by this time, be either in ribbons or the limpest accessories you own after innumerable scrubbings to keep them clean.

For the scarf addicts and collectors. It's a bit warm to muffle even the thinnest of silk ascots down the neckline. Try some of the sheer linen handkerchiefs instead. You can find some eye-filling large squares that will be knockout with white clothes of either silk or cotton. You can find vivid colors, striking color combines, as well as all kinds of pastels and the interesting big white dotted affairs that are so popular with spectator sports dresses and semi-tailored suits.

Flowers in your hair for every party. Because real buds and blossoms do wilt, you'll do well to inspect the artificial blooms. For instance, white shasta, with red and blue and yellow centers on an almost invisible wire bandeau . . . small blush pink rosebuds and white buds fixed the same way; three gardenias, small and realistic, that are to be worn at the side, and the new clusters of purple velvet grapes with leaves.

And while you are thinking about artificial wreaths for your hair, don't overlook the chaplets of green leaves that any one can wear with any and every party dress.

Fashion photograph. . . . Summer smartness showing the full sleeves that are being featured in all the newest models. The hip length jacket achieves the wide sleeves by the use of horizontal tucks over the shoulder sections. A contrasting scarf slips under a row of tiny contrasting colored buttons. The suit comes in white and pastels and is available in a Chicago shop.

Film Depicts Life Histories of Birds in Natural Settings

A motion picture of birds and mammals in their habitat in Illinois, Wisconsin and western states has been completed by members of the staf of the Chicago Academy of Sciences, it was announced yesterday by President F. R. Dickinson of the academy.

Because game birds have been disappearing rapidly, an effort was made to obtain their life histories in film that students may see the birds in action. The film will be shown soon to Chicago school children.

One of the notable pictures obtained in Illinois was that of prairie chickens dancing on their courting grounds. A similar study was made of the sharp tailed grouse in Wisconsin.

Front Views and Profiles
By June Provines

ON BOARD S. S. BREMEN.—Today at Cherbourg we lost the French countess and the youthful Gertrude Stein, the surgeon and the museum head, and a percentage of the leggy girls in socks and cardigans and the college youths in tweeds and pull-overs. And at Southampton we lost a great many more, including the publisher, and some charming travelers whose first activity upon arriving in London will be to go to see the Monte Carlo ballet which is playing a season there now. The Germans and we remain aboard, bound for the good port of Bremen. We have decided to reach Bavaria and the Austrian Tyrol by way of north Germany. Originally we had planned to skip Berlin, and Munich and Paris as well. No cities this trip, we said. There is much conversation as what to see and what to leave out.

Ports of Call.

"But it seems terrible to be within a hundred miles of Berlin and not go there . . ." says one. "Well, suppose we give up that trip up the Moselle, although that would be such fun," says the other regretfully. "It's grape harvest time . . . and it's not a place travelers always go. . . ."

* *

IT is one of the problems that need working out. If Berlin goes in the itinerary, and the trip up the Moselle, too, there probably will be no time for the Dolomites before we start for Cherbourg to sail for home. Certainly not unless we give up our plans for a little leisurely lingering in the vicinity of Salzburg and Innsbruck. Well, we shall see how it works out. The little car that is to take us to all these delightful places is in the hold of the ship resting, it pleases me to think, in preparation for the tests of endurance ahead, the miles of foreign roads and the Alpine ascents it must make.

IT is nothing short of miraculous the way the luggage fits neatly in the space once occupied by the back seat—hand trunks, suitcases, hat box, typewriter, duffel bag. There is another box, too, a last minute idea conceived in New York just before we sailed. A frying pan and a toasting fork, a coffee pot and a picnic kit were added for outdoor luncheons amid mountain scenery. Then there is a brief-case that contains maps and letters. Our letters are very grand indeed, although whether we present them remains to be seen. There is one to a German countess whose ancestral castle is said to be the oldest in Germany, and another to an Austrian countess whose schloss is the seventh oldest. We have a letter to an ex-ambassador and another to a sister-in-law of an ex-ambassador, whose castle has two ancient churches on the estate I certainly want to see—one Romanesque and one baroque. We have a letter to a celebrated novelist. Also we have been invited to visit at a charming estate in Czechoslovakia, but I do not think we shall get to Czechoslovakia. Tomorrow we shall spend in Bremen.

Climaxing a romance that started four years ago Miss Rega-Jane Bundesen, daughter of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, and Mrs. Bundesen, will be married to Carl W. Bohne of Los Angeles, a former Chicagoan, at 11 o'clock this morning in the rock garden of the Bundesen home at 7414 Oglesby avenue.

When Miss Bundesen went to Los Angeles in 1931 to study art Mr. Bohne followed her west and established himself in the real estate business there. Miss Bundesen was graduated from St. Mary's of the Woods in Indiana and then attended the Art institute and the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. Mr. Bohne will take his bride to Colorado on their wedding trip and they will make their home in Los Angeles.

Good Morning!

I think Sally Joy Brown's party guests are going to enjoy "Old Man Rhythm." For it contains lots of young folks, lots of music, and abounds in humor—of the sort that appeals to the adolescent.

The film is one of those college movies without a grain of sense. Its students spend their time tap dancing and romancing. Its elders act like zanies.

Nice part about the piece is, that the expert cast throw themselves into the much ado about nothing as if they really thought it amounted to something.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Hollywood, Cal., July 23.—[Special.]—The informality and the general confusion of dressing in Hollywood is amazing. You might think that in the film colony, where women are beautiful, where they have the funds to buy the most exciting clothes available, and where looking glamorous is good business, you'd see every one dressed up all of the time. But it certainly isn't so.

The slacks situation is surprising. It's nothing to see women parading on the boulevards in slacks; even to see them at previews in slacks with expensive fur wraps over them. Recently, in one of the smart specialty shops on Wilshire boulevard, we saw a woman purchase a mink coat. Her shopping costume was black satin slacks. She was stockingless and wore a ribbon around her hair.

We've been asking a lot of the stars how they reacted to clothes—whether they loved to get all duked up in evening regalia. The majority of them say they don't. As Bette Davis remarked, they are groomed so studiously, so relentlessly all day long that they love the luxury of sliding into any old thing and forgetting about being dolled up.

At the smart night spots you rarely see evening clothes on the film people. A few women wear dinner gowns and furs, but the majority wear street clothes, or even sports clothes. The attitude toward dress is quite unlike that in cities like New York or Chicago.

The problem of women of the movies is vastly different from that of the rest of us. Where we adore to escape our work clothes, which are dull and tailored, into glamorous evening clothes and to be shampooed and waved and manicured, they who have that all day long like to escape into the casual in dress. All day while they work every hair must be in place, every costume must be a creation. They must be gorgeous and perfectly groomed. When the boss says "that's all for the day" they make a dive for solid comfort and say "good night" to style! ELEANOR NANGLE.

The Ortega Feud

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Chris Jackson is sent by Bill Benton, new sherif of Monterey county, in early Spanish California, to put an end to the Ortega-Alvado feud, which has resulted in many murders. Chris encounters Guido Ortega, Ramon, his dare-devil son, and Ysabel, his beautiful, sad eyed niece. He falls in love with Ysabel at first sight, and has a quarrel with Ramon and publicly spanks him. He receives a note from Ysabel, hinting of a mysterious danger and begging his aid. Chris camps in a canyon on the northern boundary of the Alvado ranch. He is advised by Rocky, an old Indian hunter, to leave the country. Next day Chris meets Francesca Alvado, flirtatious Spanish beauty. He tells her of his encounter with Ramon Ortega. It wins him welcome at the Alvado ranch. He is invited to a rodeo to be held there in a week. During the rodeo the warring families hold a traditional three day truce. Ysabel Ortega is facing a forced marriage with her cousin, Ramon. Her uncle refuses to tell her the secret of her birth, as he had promised to do on her 18th birthday. She appeals to Rocky, who promises to delay the priest's arrival. José Alvado, in love with Ysabel, ventures to Ortega ranch and is held a hostage. The Ortegas arrive at the Alvado ranch for the rodeo. Francesca is jealous of Ysabel and hints to her that she is engaged to Chris. Chris is bewildered by Ysabel's coolness. The night of the rodeo ball Ysabel's uncle allows her to wear her mother's jewels. She plans to escape at dawn with Rocky's aid. Before she is able to carry out her plans the Ortegas have her kidnaped and sent back to their ranch where she is imprisoned in a cell-like room. In an old chest in the room Ysabel discovers a secret panel which contains a letter from her mother. Ysabel learns that she is not Guido Ortega's niece. Her mother was the daughter of an Alvado who had eloped with an Ortega. Ysabel is heir to both ranches.

INSTALMENT XXXIX.

VANISHED.

"Have you a message from Ysabel?" Rocky strode over to meet Chris as he dismounted.

"No. Why? You expecting one?"

"When did you see her last?"

"At the first dance of the rodeo ball last night," Chris answered. "She had a headache after that, and went to her room."

Rocky's blue eyes glinted.

"You sure of that? How do you know?"

"Señor Ortega told me."

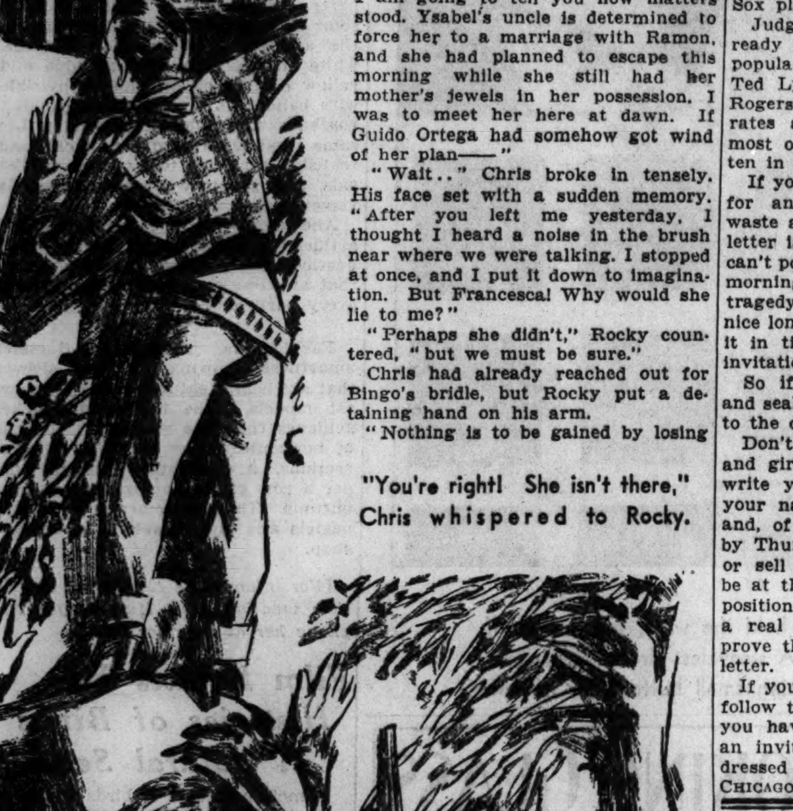
"You did not see her or speak to her yourself?"

Chris shook his head. "I tried to, but she must have been asleep as there was no answer to my knock. Her uncle showed up while I was at her door, and told me 'it was not the custom to knock at a señorita's door.'" Chris mimicked the señor's precise English, adding, grimly, "but for his age I'd have given him a lesson in manners the way I did his son."

Rocky appeared not to be listening as he gazed through the trees at the distant hacienda.

"I'd like to be sure she is in that room!"

"I felt that same way," Chris answered, "so I asked Francesca if she had been to see her, and she had been; half an hour or so after my talk with the señor."



"You're right! She isn't there," Chris whispered to Rocky.

"Just the same, I want to know if she is there," Rocky persisted. He studied Chris keenly for a moment, then said. "In spite of Ysabel's orders, I am going to tell you how matters stood. Ysabel's uncle is determined to force her to a marriage with Ramon, and she had planned to escape this morning while she still had her mother's jewels in her possession. I was to meet her here at dawn. If Guido Ortega had somehow got wind of her plan——"

"Wait.." Chris broke in tensely. His face set with a sudden memory. "After you left me yesterday, I thought I heard a noise in the brush near where we were talking. I stopped at once, and I put it down to imagination. But Francesca! Why would she lie to me?"

"Perhaps she didn't," Rocky countered, "but we must be sure."

Chris had already reached out for Bingo's bridle, but Rocky put a detaining hand on his arm.

"Nothing is to be gained by losing your head," he warned. "If as I suspect, Ysabel has been taken back to the Ortega ranch, it will be mighty hard to get her out. Señor Ortega must not know that we have any suspicions. We must find out if she is in her room without any one knowing it."

"The court is impossible," Chris declared, "the older women are sitting there sunning themselves after the siesta. The window on the west side is the only chance."

"I'll meet you there in half an hour," Rocky promised, "but be careful not to be seen."

Chris was already in his saddle and off before Rocky had finished, racing down the hill toward the hacienda.

The only thing that led him to hope that Rocky was wrong was Francesca's assurance that she had seen Ysabel. It seemed impossible that she would have lied so deliberately to him about a thing like that, and yet——

Chris urged Bingo on, and leaving him at the corral, he looped his rope over his arm and forced himself to saunter to the hacienda without exciting suspicion by undue haste. Most of the men were still at the rodeo, and it was too soon after the siesta for many of the women to be about.

Satisfying himself that the coast was clear, Chris slipped around to the west side of the hacienda. The ground sloped abruptly here toward the cliffs which were some fifty feet away, and it was a good fifteen feet or more to the windows of the rooms that opened off the court.

Chris carefully counted the windows until he came to the one that corresponded to Ysabel's door. To his relief, it was open, and he softly called her name, hoping against hope that she would appear and put an end to his fears.

Receiving no response, and not daring to raise his voice any more, Chris desperately tried to figure out some means of reaching the window. The smooth adobe held out no hope of scaling the wall, and there was no possible hold for his rope.

While he was speculating on the chance of getting a ladder around the hacienda, without being seen, Rocky appeared, and Chris hastily explained the dilemma.

"Don't take a chance on getting a ladder," Rocky warned. His quick eye spotted a boulder a short distance away, and motioning Chris to help him, they rolled it under the window. Standing on it, Rocky braced himself against the wall, and stooping down, beckoned Chris to climb to his shoulders.

By straightening out, Chris found he could just reach the window sill, and grasping it firmly, he pulled himself up until his eyes were on a level with it.

One glance at the disordered empty room was sufficient, and he dropped back to safety.

"You're right! She isn't there." He hardly recognized his own voice. "I'm going to find Señor Ortega and demand an explanation."

"Easy there!" Rocky grabbed his arm, and pulled him toward the cliff. "We're taking no chances on being discovered until we have Ysabel safely in our hands. I'll follow along the cliff, and meet you half a mile down the trail. You bring your horse and one for me. There is no time to lose."

Rocky ducked down over the edge of the cliff, and disappeared from sight, while Chris hastened to follow his directions. He peered cautiously around the corner of the hacienda, and finding the coast clear made all haste for the corral.

Leading Bingo, who was still saddled as he had left him, to the gate, Chris roped another mount from the remuda, and was busy saddling him, when a pounding of hoofbeats drew his attention to an approaching rider.

He looked up and recognized Ramon, who slackened his pace as he caught sight of Chris, and veered off to the right, but not before Chris had caught the marks of hard riding and the white dust of the trail on his horse.

His blood boiling at the thought that Ramon was on his way back, after having left Ysabel at the Ortega ranch, Chris restrained himself with difficulty from following him. Instead, he swung on Bingo, and leading his extra mount, pretended to head for the roundup.

Keeping a wary eye on Ramon until he dipped out of sight on the road to the lower corral, Chris abruptly changed his course, and galloped full speed to keep his rendezvous with Rocky.

Rocky's grunt when Chris told him of seeing Ramon was expressive of both relief and contempt.

"So, they felt sure enough that I'll give up, to leave her to the care of underlings, eh?" His blue eyes snapped. "So much the better for us! By the time they get back from the rodeo, they will find the bird has flown."

Chris felt his pulses quicken at this thought. Would Ysabel allow him to help in that flight? The suspicion that Francesca had led her to believe that there was something between them had turned to certainty in Chris' mind by reason of that lie Francesca had told him.

Of course, if Ysabel believed that she could only put one interpretation on his behavior at the dance, her coldness the next day was easily accounted for.

"I'm wondering how strong a guard Ortega has at the trail?" Rocky's voice broke through Chris' musings.

"I don't care how strong it is," Chris declared recklessly, "it will take more than a few Ortega vaqueros to keep me from Ysabel."

"Maybe." Rocky's eyes had a sympathetic gleam as they rested on Chris' set face, and without further comment they put the horses to the gallop again.

William Gillette to Spend 80th Birthday on Broadway

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—William Gillette, who gave two generations of theatergoers their mental portrait of Sherlock Holmes, deserted his castle at Hadlyme, Conn., today, to spend his eightieth birthday here tomorrow. Thin and straight as a rapier, the renowned actor and playwright marched into the lobby of the hotel at 3 p. m. He wore a heavy black suit and a black hat covered his frosty white hair.

Time Is Short for Baseball Note to Sally

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Nine whole innings [maybe more] of expert baseball await the lucky boys and girls who win invitations to my party which is to be held at Comiskey park one week from Friday. On Aug. 2 100 youngsters who are real baseball fans will go out to the south side with me to watch the Chicago Sox play the St. Louis Browns.

Judging from the letters we've already received, Al Simmons is still a popular man, but Zeke Bonura and Ted Lyons are sneaking up on him. Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis team rates a great deal of interest from most of the young fans who've written in so far.

If you haven't sent me your request for an invitation you'd better not waste any more time, because if your letter isn't mailed some time today it can't possibly be on my desk tomorrow morning, can it? That would be a tragedy indeed—if you wrote me a nice long letter and then failed to mail it in time to have it judged for an invitation.

So if you have your note signed and sealed you'd better run right down to the corner and mail it.

Don't forget the rules, either, boys and girls. Remember that you must write your own letter, must include your name, address, and age in it—and, of course, have it in my hands by Thursday. You don't have to buy or sell anything—you don't have to be at the head of your class in composition or spelling—but you must be a real baseball fan, and you must prove that enthusiasm to me in your letter.

If you really want to come and will follow those few little rules carefully you have a good chance of winning an invitation. Letters should be addressed to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Ceremony to Take Place at Hubbard Woods.

cannot be located until they step on dry land some time the end of this week.

In other words, Mr. and Mrs. Ayres Boal and their daughter Henrietta are giving a house party on their boat, Winnetka III., and have been cruising around Georgian bay with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hobart and their daughter Barbara, Frederic de Peyster, and Joe Miller as their guests. The guest list changes from week to week as the boat docks, and, much to his regret, Cornelius Watson was the only one to desert the "crew" last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurance H. Armour and their son Laurance Jr. will return to Lake Forest from a European jaunt on Aug. 20. They sailed on July 9.

Miss Joan Ryerson is expected to return to Lake Forest on Sunday from a fortnight at the Island club in northern Wisconsin. She will reach home in time to help her brother Anthony welcome home their mother, Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, who has been in St. Luke's hospital for several weeks. Mrs. Ryerson plans to leave the hospital Sunday or Monday.

The Misses Jean and Mary Armstrong, daughters of the Horace White Armstrongs of Winnetka, left Monday for a fortnight on a Wyoming ranch. Their brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Armstrong II., are spending the summer in Ann Arbor, Mich., where he is studying law.

Mrs. Frank Armstrong's mother and sister, Mrs. Alvin E. Bastien and Miss Nancy Bastien, are "roughing it" on a dude ranch in Montana this summer. Miss Nancy Bastien and Miss Mary Armstrong will be debutantes of the coming season.

Underwoods Home from Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood plan to spend the rest of the summer in their apartment at 70 Cedar street, having returned from a marvelous trip to Honolulu. While in the Hawaiian Islands they visited Mrs. Underwood's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Coonley, who moved there last year. Mrs. Coonley Sr. and Mrs. Underwood's daughter, Nancy Rawson, who went to Honolulu with the Underwoods, will remain with the Coonleys until autumn.

Mrs. Ernest Freund will return to Chicago on Sept. 20 from a summer abroad. Her daughters, Nancy and Emmy Lou, who are with her, will go directly to the schools they will attend next winter after they land. Nancy, who finished at Dobbs Ferry last June, will enter Sarah Lawrence college this year and Emmy Lou will enter Dobbs Ferry.

Lake Tahoe, that fascinating place which lies partly in Nevada and partly in California, will be the destination of Mrs. Townsend McKeever when she leaves Sunday for the west. There she will visit Mrs. Tasker Oddie and then she will go on to San Diego to see the fair. Then up the Pacific coast to San Francisco, where her nephew, Chauncey McKeever, and his wife, the former Jeanne Wingfield, are living. Mrs. McKeever expects to return to Chicago in September.

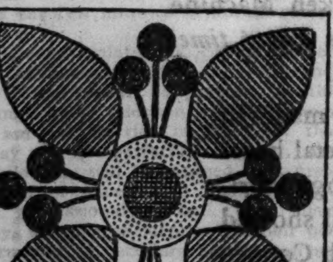
The Mitchell Follansbees will be landing in a day or two in England and it will be another five weeks before they return home. They plan to visit Ireland, too.

Albert J. Pardridges on Visit to East.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Pardridge of Wheaton left Monday for a month's trip which will include visits in the Thousand Islands and at Easthampton, N. Y. Their own house at Easthampton is leased for the season but they will visit friends there. Their son John has returned from his wanderings around the world and is working in Newark, N. J., and their daughter Priscilla and her husband, Lester Cohen, are summering on Cape Cod.

Miss Margot Reid, daughter of the Bryan S. Reids, having played hostess to several school friends, is now taking the part of a guest. She is visiting Miss Narcissa Thorne, daughter of the Robert J. Thornes, at their summer camp in Desbarats, Ont., and will return to Lake Forest in ten days. Miss Reid will be a student at Miss Nixon's school in Florence next winter.

Quilting Trick Makes Applique Process Simple



Hawthorn Berries

BY NANCY CABOT.

There is a trick to simplify the applique process on a block like "Hawthorn Berries." When the material for circular patches [and even the eliptically shaped leaf in this case] is cut, allowing for the width of seams, a needle and thread enter upon the scene. About an eighth of an inch from the edge of the circle, a running stitch is put in and the original circular pattern from which the material was cut is placed inside and the thread tightened to fit snugly over the circle. The thread is fastened and the patch pressed with a warm iron. The thread may be cut and pattern removed. The patch then is accurately turned in and ready to apply.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Skilful Thinning of Hair Can Transform Whole Woman

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

At the moment there is going on in Hollywood a complete American restyling of a movie star which proves again that the exotic, the bizarre, the vampish manner is completely outmoded. For a spell we had this particular star trying to revive the old glory of the Theda Bara era—but no go. People did not like it. So, instead of trying to educate the people to learn to like it, the simpler process of giving the people what they do like in the way of screen beauty was undertaken. Result, a complete reversion to good, wholesome American type. And everybody says, this type of star looks younger, lovelier, and far more lovable.

All of which is just a little tipoff to young women who still think there is a market for the old type lure. But more important to the most of us, it goes to prove what can be done to a face by way of making it over into a more attractive, more appealing visage.

With a change in eyebrow shaping, a change of coiffure, a changed mouth contour chiefly among makeup features, you can pretty nearly restyle that face you may not like. It's been done with the young lady of the movies. It's been done with any number of the screen stars.

They've been taken in hand, persuaded to forget their ideas of what a siren should be, and been completely gone over from head to foot. A half dozen could be named off hand and quickly who've gone through this change of facial scene and personality. Out of which, I say, other women may gain a valuable lesson.

I had in hand a certain young woman recently upon whose head an artist coiffeur's thinning and cutting shears worked magic in reshaping what looked like an impossible skull structure. When the thinning and shaping was done, one saw that the head was not square at all. It was the bad haircut and the thick undermass of hair that made it so appear. After the wave was set in just a couple of enormous waves and a bit of shaping was given the back of the head with a part and a swirling, there was an unbelievable change in the whole appearance of the girl. The head outline was young, chic, and beautiful. Her throat looked far more slender. The shape of her face took on an oval, delicate contour. And a body thinning seemed to have occurred right before my eyes with that slendering of the head outline.

I do think the shaping of the head by getting rid of all the unnecessary hair that goes with smart thinning-out of locks does more to chop off years and to lend smartness than a successful reducing régime, even. Look the head over and see if you could not get a younger outline with the "underbrush" cleared out.

BY MARY MEADE.

Something new under the sea, mesdames? It would seem so—at least something new to American palates. It's an imported, white meat rock lobster which never had been sold in this country up to a few weeks ago.

For thirty years this sea food, coming from the clear icy waters of Angra Peguina bay (right the first guess—Bay of the Angry Penguin), off the coast of southern Africa, has been sold in France—the whole supply. But because its popularity endangered the fishing industry of the French colonies its market has been diverted to this country. Once you've tasted its delicate flavor and enjoyed the firm whiteness of its texture you're sure to be glad that its market has been thus extended.

This rock lobster, canned in half pound tins, is entirely different from American lobster or Cuban rock lobster. It is of the crustacean family naturally, but it is just as distinctly individual as crab meat or shrimp.

Each tin carries with it an interesting collection of rock lobster recipes. For a chilled lobster cocktail, for canapés, and appetizers, for all kinds of grand main luncheon dishes, omelets, salads, and casserole dishes, you'll find specific directions. If you're a sea food enthusiast we'll guarantee your delight with them!

On each tin of the rock lobster is the suggestion that the can be chilled before using, whether you plan to use the meat in a hot or cold dish. The reason, we're informed, is to bring out the true delicacy of the flavor. Not understanding the principle underlying this, we made half of an escalloped lobster dish with chilled fish and a second half with that which had not been chilled. Whether or not we just imagined the more delightful savor of the escalloped dish which had been previously chilled is a matter of conjecture, but at least we feel that the recommendation should be passed along.

Just to demonstrate the versatility of this brand new sea food, we tried a breakfast dish made from it. It could be served for lunch, as well, if your epicurean soul shrinks from the idea of lobster for breakfast.

Scrambled Eggs South Cape.

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons green pepper, minced
½ can (¼ pound) rock lobster
5 eggs
3 tablespoons cream
Salt, pepper, paprika

Melt the butter and add to it the minced green pepper and the shredded lobster. Cook for three minutes over low heat. Beat the eggs slightly with the cream and seasonings and add to the skillet. Cook slowly, stirring continuously until thick and creamy. Sprinkle lightly with paprika and serve on hot crisp toast.

Here is something a little different—a seven card problem. Clubs are trumps. South is on lead, and North and South are to take all seven tricks against the best possible defense. You should work this problem out in seven minutes maximum, but if you are unaccustomed to problem solving and the layout seems to present some difficulties drop me a postcard, care of this newspaper, and I will mail you the solution.

There being nothing further to say on the subject of problems, I am fortunately reminded of a rather chilly story that I heard a few weeks ago. Some one once made a list of remarks that were guaranteed to be unanswerable, such as your hostess saying out of a clear sky, "I was going to have a salad but I decided not to," and I hope the scientific compiler of that list reads this tale. It is definitly an effective stop to conversation.

For some years two men—let's call them Smith and Jones—had a battling partnership in duplicate circles. After each tournament Smith [or it might be Jones] would vow that it would be a long, cold winter before he would ever sit across the table from "that idiot" again. And Jones [or Smith, as the case might be] would retort: "That goes double!"

As I intimated, they had been hurling these remarks at each other for years. Yet each tournament would find them together again. Thus it was with a distinct sense of shock that their bridge cronies saw Smith enter a minor duplicate event with another partner. The next week the same thing happened. It was incredible. Smith and Jones had been as inseparable as ham and eggs.

An acquaintance with more curiosity than discretion bearded Old Man Smith on the subject.

"By the way," he said, casually beating around the bush, "I haven't seen Jonesy for some time. Where is he?"

"I don't know," responded Smith. Then, after a slight pause, "He's dead."

At 4 Months Baby May Have His Own Room

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A few days ago we discussed the importance of adequate sleep for the baby and young child.

Suppose today we run over briefly some points about the baby's bedroom.

Should the baby have a room of his own?

Until a baby is past the night feeding stage we have to admit that it is more convenient and easier on the mother if the baby is in her room. But when that stage is past, say around the fourth month, it is time for him to be put into his own room. Even before that time arrives it is advisable to screen off his part of the parents' room, so that the change into a room of his own later on will be made easier for him.

The ideal condition is a room of his own.

In the city, particularly, will the room have to be shared with other brothers or sisters. However, if a room to himself is not feasible, he should at least have a bed of his own, and the suggestion of seclusion or separateness given by the use of screens or draperies. It is best for a child never to sleep with an adult, never to sleep with another child of the opposite sex, and only to sleep with a child of the same sex temporarily. This is because it is healthier, there is less incentive to play, and also to forestall any undesirable sex habits. If the child is fortunate enough to have a room to himself he will learn to experience the sensation of aloneness [not loneliness], which is as necessary to his experience as companionship.

2. Should we tiptoe while the baby sleeps?

Surprisingly enough, babies can and should learn to sleep amid the usual household noises. We should not try for an unnatural quiet.

3. How should we arrange his room?

The room should be easy to ventilate and should have sun in it. Cross-ventilation is ideal, but there should be no drafts across or around the bed. Screens, again, are a help to cut off drafts.

Dasch's Band Gives Concert at Grant Park

Raymund Koch, Baritone, Is Soloist.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

George Dasch and his band returned to Grant park last night for another concert. He is an expert bandmaster and he has an expert band. In tone, balance, coloring, and accent he and his organization put over an unusually attractive performance of Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" march, Strauss' "Tales from the Vienna Woods" waltzes, Dvorak's "Humoresque," and a number of works of the same order, not to mention several marches that had true, toe tickling impulse.

Raymond Koch, who had been one of a quartet the night before, was a solo baritone here. The Toreador song from "Carmen," sung in good English, was the cause of a deserved encore; a group of songs later in the program was another cause of acclaim, for Mr. Koch is one of Chicago's excellent artists.

The Woman's Symphony orchestra, Ebba Sundstrom, conductor, will be the attraction tonight. The Sacerdote quartet, a vocal organization, will assist. The program:

1. Overture—Leonore, No. 3.......Beethoven
2. Suite 1, "Peer Gynt"..........Grieg
3. Quartet from "Rigoletto"..........Verdi
   [Sacerdote Quartet.]
4. Three Hungarian Dances..........Brahms
5. Ballet Fantasy—"Legend of Spain" ....Eleanor Everest Freer
6. "Dance of the Hours," from "La Gioconda"..........Ponchielli
8. "Waltz of the Flowers" from "The Nut-Cracker Suite"......Tschaikowski
9. "Marche Slave"..........Tschaikowski

In the joint recital by Marjorie Gillam, soprano, and John Carré, pianist, at the Sonotone theater yesterday morning, Miss Gillam displayed a commendable tendency to be conversant with several manners of singing. She was heard in "Ritorna Vincitor" from Verdi's "Aïda," which she projected with considerable dramatic fervor, and she followed this immediately with one of Benedict's display coloratura pieces with flute obbligato, "The Gypsy and the Bird," in which she sang the fireworks episodes deftly, accurately, and with much graceful charm.

Mr. Carré was a fluent and expressive pianist in Schumann's "Faschingsschwank," also in works by Haydn and Brahms, and a fluent and expressive composer in three brief works of his own. As interpreter and composer alike, he appeared to have something to say.

Ice for Movie Melts Before Scene Is Shot

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 23.—[Special.]—Henry Fonda, now playing a main rôle in "Way Down East," received word last Saturday that his father was ill in Omaha, so without asking studio permission he flew to Nebraska. He thought Dad Fonda would be cheered to see him and hear about his new five year film contract and his assignment to play opposite Lily Pons in "Love Song."

On Sunday Henry started to fly back to keep a 9 o'clock Monday morning call for location with Rochelle Hudson, but lightning and storms made the plane two hours late. When Fonda got to the location site in San Fernando valley, which was supposed to show the principals shivering among blocks of ice in a wintery spot, the ice had melted.

Howard Sheehan, brother of Winfield Sheehan, just resigned as head of Fox studio, has himself resigned as a fire commissioner of Los Angeles. Howard has opened a new Hollywood theater.

Adrienne Ames, who goes to court tomorrow to ask her divorce from Bruce Cabot, was dining with Bruce and apparently on very friendly terms at Brown Derby yesterday.

Tess Slesinger, authoress of recent best sellers ["Time, the Present," and "Unpossessed"], will join the Metro brain trust and write movie plots for Producer Irving Thalberg. Norma Shearer probably will play the leads in them.

$5,196,746 VOTED FOR COMPLETION OF OUTER BRIDGE

Parks Also Restore Half of Police Pay Cut.

Plans to complete the outer drive bridge at the mouth of the river moved forward yesterday when the Chicago park board passed an ordinance authorizing the use for this purpose of $5,196,746, which was realized some time ago from the sale of bonds of the former South park district.

The action was taken under authority of a law passed at the recent session of the state legislature. It permits the park board to use bond funds of the superseded park districts for the purposes specified in the bonds at the time of their issuance.

The board also voted to restore to the park police one-half of a 14¼ per cent pay cut which began last Jan. 1. The pay restoration will be effective for the last six months of this year. It follows the action of the city in giving back to its policemen, firemen and other employés one-half of their economy pay cuts.

$1,800,000 More Available.

Restoration of pay to the park police was made possible by the legislature's passage of the board's pegged levy bill. This fixed the parks' levy for 1935 at $9,000,000, an increase of $1,800,000 over the original levy for this year.

Of the increase $120,000 will be used to give back to the police half of their pay cut and to employ fifty additional policemen if the park district takes over jurisdiction of Jackson boulevard and Monroe street. Mayor Kelly has recommended that these streets be made one way thoroughfares and transferred from city to park control.

From the remainder of the $1,800,000 made available as a result of the pegged levy the park board appropriated an additional $1,111,620 for its landscape maintenance division and $500,000 more for its engineering department.

Explains Need of Increase.

"It has been necessary to increase the landscape fund because relief clients formerly used in this work will be taken away to be employed on projects of the Federal Works Progress administration and the park board must hire other help," said Robert J. Dunham, president of the board. Mr. Dunham is also WPA administrator for Illinois.

The citizens' committee on art and music recently set up by the park board received an allotment of $5,558. This money, Mr. Dunham said, will be used to finance the placing of art exhibits in park buildings.

FARLEY VISITS CITY ON WAY TO VACATION LANDS

Starting a vacation that he hopes will carry him as far as the Hawaiian islands, Postmaster General Farley spent last night in Chicago.

He arrived on the Progress Limited of the Pennsylvania railroad with Mrs. Farley and his executive assistant, Ambrose O'Connell. At the Union station he wore his usual smile as he explained that he had decided "not to do any talking" at this time.

"I want to spend a quiet evening cooling off," he said.

He was asked what he had to say about President Roosevelt's being a candidate in 1936 and replied with something genial about "hot weather questions" that was not clearly heard in the station racket.

The party of three will leave for Yellowstone park at 11:30 this morning and from there will go to San Francisco to take ship for Honolulu.

6 STATE WORKS PROJECTS GIVEN BOARD BACKING

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(AP)—Six Illinois projects, at a total cost of $1,645,379, to furnish employment for approximately 2,000 employables on relief rolls today were recommended to President Roosevelt by his works allotment board.

The nature of the projects was not announced.

It was the first list of works progress administration projects to be announced for the state. Announcement of the individual projects was withheld pending approval by President Roosevelt.

ROBBERS BINDFOLD 2 IN HOLDUP.

Two bandits yesterday invaded a delicatessen at 5528 South Morgan street, blindfolded the owner, Mrs. Sadie Donisch, and a salesman, forced them into a rear room, and took $9 and a diamond ring from the woman.

MAYOR PUSHES HIS STREET AND SEWER PROGRAM

Confers with Dunham and Hunter.

Mayor Kelly pushed his plans for an extensive sewer building and street resurfacing program for Chicago at a luncheon conference yesterday with Robert J. Dunham, state director of the Federal Works Progress administration, and Howard O. Hunter, WPA representative for eleven states.

They decided to send the $40,000,000 sewer program to C. M. Osborne, state WPA engineer, as soon as plans are perfected. The program includes lateral and small trunk line sewers which will hook up with the intercepting sewers of the sanitary district in all parts of the city.

Street Program to Washington.

The $31,000,000 street repair program, it was decided, will go directly to Mr. Dunham probably next Monday, and will be sent to Washington immediately for approval of the federal allotment board.

Still another improvement program, approved by the city council on Monday, will be submitted jointly to Dunham and Osborne. This calls for the building of police and fire stations, new street lighting, construction of four new bridges, the 103d street viaduct, a filtration plant, Navy Pier improvements, Calumet Harbor docks, and new playgrounds at a total cost of $32,836,061.

After the conference Mayor Kelly said his plans were moving well. He declared that he was in favor of getting outright federal grants for the sewer program so that there would be no special assessments or tax increases.

Hopes to Start By Fall.

"We hope to have all these projects started by early fall," said the mayor.

He added that he wanted all city projects financed in whole or in part by federal funds to be as free from local taxation as possible inasmuch as citizens of Chicago are heavy payers of federal taxes.

The mayor and the two WPA officials also discussed the lake front airport project without arriving at a decision as to which federal agency should be asked for funds for its construction.

End Work Relief in 43 Counties.

Agents in 43 rural counties were instructed by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission yesterday to discontinue work relief at the close of operations tomorrow. It was also stated that work relief projects would close down in all counties on Sept. 30.

Last Friday, when the commission learned that relief workers were refusing to take harvesting and other farm jobs, it decided to stop the work in rural areas. In the 43 counties counted as "most rural" at least 75 per cent of the population lives in towns of less than 2,500 inhabitants or in the country.

'GRASS ROOTERS' PLAN DRIVE INTO EVERY PRECINCT

Meeting Here in August to Perfect Campaign.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Permanent organization of the Republican grass roots movement to carry it into every precinct in the midwest is to be taken up the first week in August at a meeting of the committee of fifty to be held in Chicago. This was announced yesterday by Harrison E. Spangler, Iowa Republican national committeeman and head of the ten-state group which held the June grass roots conference at Springfield.

The permanent committee of fifty consists of five members from each of the ten states which participated at Springfield. Midwest headquarters may be established at Chicago, from which the committee, in coöperation with various Republican organizations, plans operations that will include publicity, organization, membership, funds and a general G. O. P. drive.

District Meetings Push Plan.

Already, in several quarters, meetings by congressional districts have been held to advance the principles expounded by the grass rooters at Springfield, and by fall the aim is to have the movement active in all congressional districts and in most of the counties in the area.

A general policy is being advocated of keeping all these gatherings free from personal candidacies and from control by self-seeking office hunters, in conformity with the plan followed at Springfield.

Mountain and far northwest states are considering holding a regional conclave in Salt Lake City or Seattle some time in September, and an earlier meeting has been proposed for Yellowstone park. A September regional meeting also has been talked of for San Francisco, to embrace California, Nevada, Arizona, and Oregon, as well as Washington, if the other meeting is held in Salt Lake City instead of in Seattle. These plans still are unsettled.

Already Boon to Business.

Speaking of the response to the Springfield Grass Roots conference, Mr. Spangler said:

"Everywhere in the ten midwest prairie states there has been a great response, and activities are being planned in many localities.

"The increased activity in some lines of business has been brought about by confidence that after all, the courts of the land will prevent the destruction of our free institutions. The removal of the brakes which the regimentation of the NRA had clamped on business has created employment and started activities. American enterprise and industry will recover in spite of the New Deal and not because of it.

"Mr. Wallace and his group is encountering difficulty in proving to the farmer that increased prices of farm products are brought about by the AAA and at the same time proving to consumers that high cost of food is brought about by the drought."

ROOSEVELT IS CALLED 'THE REPUDIATOR' BY CHAUNCEY M'CORMICK

Chauncey McCormick labeled the President "Roosevelt the Repudiator" last night before a meeting of the regular Republican organization of the 42d ward at 753 N. Clark street. Charles E. Peace, ward committeeman, presided and the hall was packed.

"The President," Mr. McCormick said, "has violated his pledges and repudiated his promises. Washington has been repudiated for Lenin; Jefferson has been repudiated for Stalin and Hamilton has been repudiated for Marx. We are going to hear the word 'repudiation' from now until we put the New Dealers out.

"We want no more of the hi-bred corn scandals that Secretary Wallace could not shut up and cannot live down. We want federal funds spent for relief, and we believe earnestly that it is possible, as well as proper, to feed the hungry, clothe the naked and comfort the distressed, without robbing the people of their freedom or bankrupting the nation."

ROB CAFE OWNERS OF $600.

Albert Levine, 915 Margate terrace, owner of a restaurant at 230 West Van Buren street, was robbed of $600 and a watch yesterday by two men who entered the place and forced him to remove his trousers.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

When to Stack Hay

July 23, 1935.

OLD fashioned harvesting schemes are included among the five different methods being tested this year on THE TRIBUNE Experimental farm near Wheaton. Stacking hay in the open field, an old plan followed generally throughout the United States, is being used to aid in saving the big crop now being harvested at the farm.

The stacking method may cost more in the end, for it has to be handled again before it is fed, according to Carl Henderson, farm manager, but it is a method of getting the hay up where it will be protected. Henderson is stacking the timothy and clover in the open field and plans to bale the hay from the stack after the busy haying and oat harvesting season is over.

Stacking is found to be the quickest way of getting the hay up at the Wheaton farm, because all that is necessary is to cut, cure, rake out of the swath, and stack it. Prompt stacking avoids losses from improper curing. The plan followed is to cut the timothy and clover meadows with a mower attached to a tractor. After curing, the hay is picked up out of the swath and hauled to the stack. A mechanical stacked hoists the rake load of hay onto the stack.

Three men, three teams, and three rakes are needed, even where the hay is quite heavy, as it is this year, to keep the stacker busy. Two or three men are required on a stack or rick. On the medium sized ricks—14x20 feet—two men are used. Where the larger sized ricks are built—16x30 feet—three men are needed to do the stacking. The mechanical stacker may be operated with horses or a tractor. Tractor power is used at the farm. The man who runs the tractor in mowing operates it in stacking. From seven to eight men are required in the entire operation.

In baling from the stack, or rick, three men will be used to pitch, one to feed, two to tie, and one to load. With one man to load and unload only eight are required, including one man at the barn to help in unloading and piling the hay.

Mr. Henderson finds that while stacking requires extra handling of the hay, the plan aids in distributing his labor problem. He says that in stacking he can do the work with fewer men and with less equipment than by other methods.

His experience in harvesting hay under five different plans—storing chopped hay in metal keeper, storing chopped hay in mow, baling and storing in mow, storing loose hay in mow, and stacking—indicates that stacking and baling are the most expensive methods. He thinks the extra expense in stacking is justified, especially during a season like the present, where men were delayed by rains at the beginning of the harvest and where a large tonnage of hay has to be handled.

Little hay has been stored in the barns loosely at the Wheaton farm this year. Mr. Henderson considers this to be the least desirable method of the five tried out this season. Storing hay loosely requires more men and much more storage space than any of the other methods.

Men at the farm have been able to make palatable hay out of alfalfa that contained a high percentage of course stems. This was done by chopping the alfalfa into pieces about 1 inch long and storing it in metal keeper or mows.

Mr. Henderson expects to complete the harvesting of hay at the Wheaton farm this week. The harvest includes about 50 acres of alfalfa, 30 acres of clover, 80 acres of timothy, and 25 acres of mixed hay, a total of 185 acres.

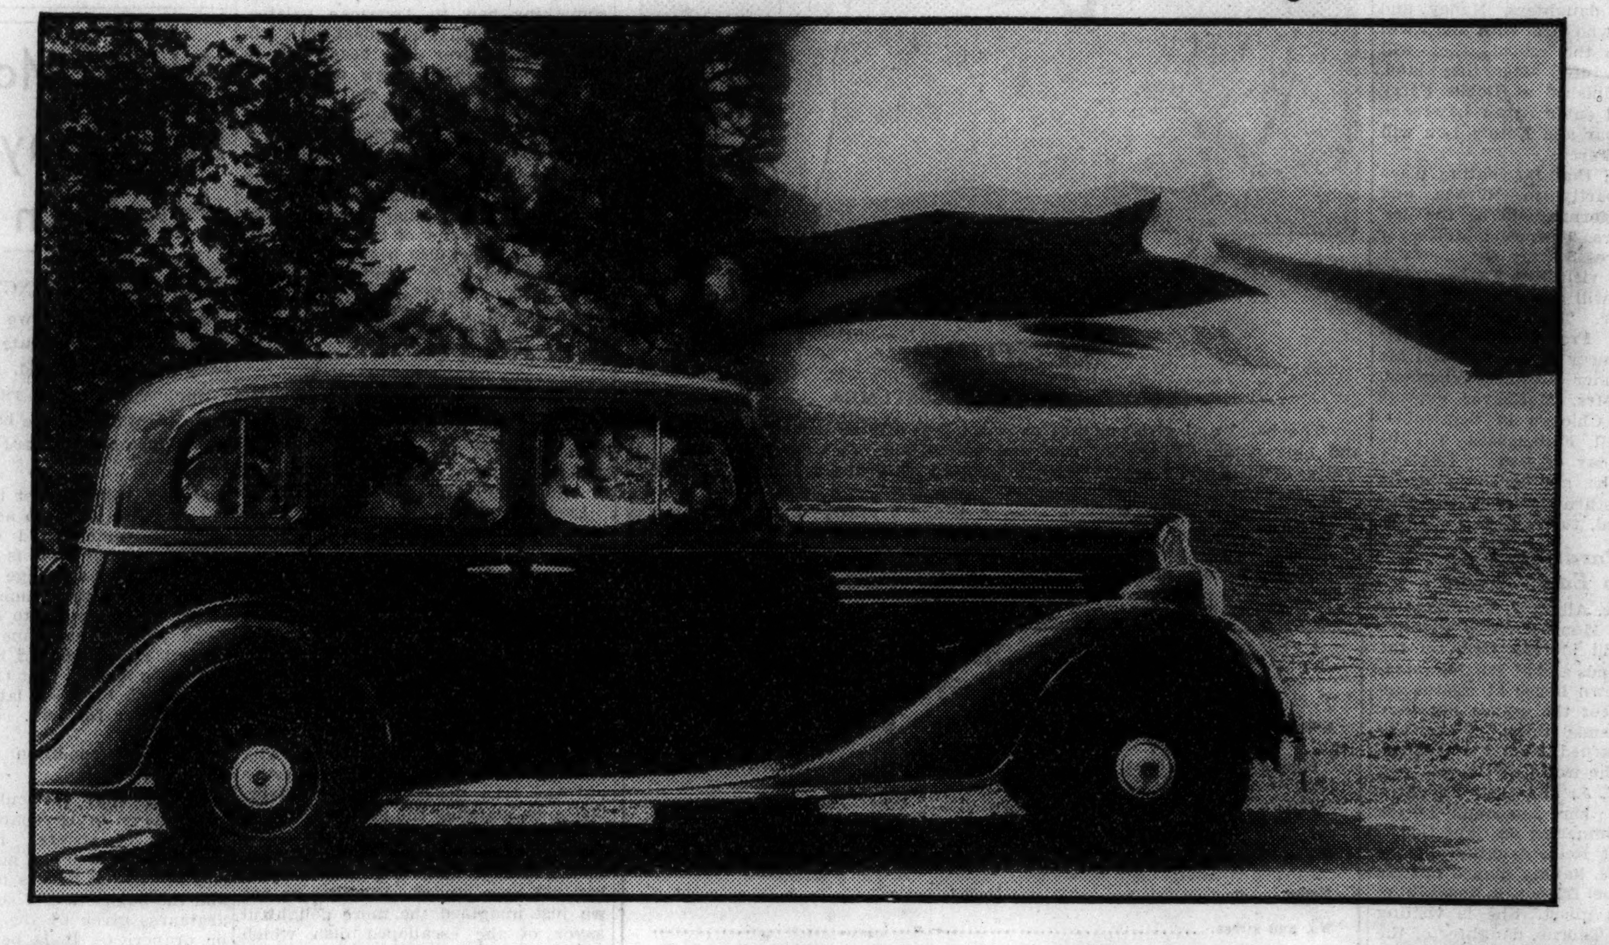
Takes it Easy While Other Women Work Hard

NO WOMAN SHOULD BE A SLAVE to a washboard. That is the opinion of Mrs. Benjamin Perlow of New York who has learned the secret of getting clothes 4 or 5 shades whiter without scrubbing or boiling. Like millions of other modern wives, Mrs. Perlow uses nothing but Rinso on washday. Rinso gives rich, lasting suds that soak out dirt, even in hardest water. Clothes washed this safe, gentle way last 2 or 3 times longer. That means you'll save lots of money. Rinso is safe for colors. Its creamy suds make dishwashing quick and easy. Kind to hands. Keeps them smooth and white. Recommended by the makers of 34 famous washers. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Get the BIG household package at your grocer's.

You may be cool enough but your motor is hotter than Death Valley!



Protect your motor with Germ Processed Oil!

2 to 4 times greater film strength than plain mineral oil—even at motor heats of 225 to 425 degrees

Breezes may cool you off as you drive, but your motor runs at terrific heats—from 225° in the crankcase to 425° in the cylinders.

To protect your motor, your oil must have extra film strength and maintain it at these high temperatures. Otherwise, the lubricating film ruptures and the bearings and cylinders suffer damaging wear.

Plain mineral oils have little film strength and oils over-refined by the new cleansing methods have even less. Moreover, these oils rapidly lose film strength as motor heat goes up.

You can protect your motor far better with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, for tests on the Timken Machine prove that at high motor temperatures it has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil!

More proof—supervised road tests were made in identical cars fitted with the new alloy metal bearings used in many 1935 cars. The bearings lubricated with a high-quality plain mineral oil showed 45% more wear than those lubricated with Conoco Germ Processed, the first alloyed oil.

GLOOMY GIL? WHY, HE'S MAN OF ENTHUSIASM

Cornell Coach Lauds All-Star Game.

BY GIL DOBIE.
[Head Coach, Cornell University.]

On the morning after the All-American football game against the Chicago Bears professional league champions last year I picked up my newspaper. There on the sport pages I read of the scoreless tie played at Chicago's Soldiers' field between the college boys and the pros. Eighty thousand fans, I read, attended.

GIL DOBIE.

Well, football still is the greatest game in the world. No one could convince me otherwise, and I guess the public likes it or 80,000 wouldn't come out to watch a night game regardless of the fact that the Bears were champions and the other players were headliners from the college gridirons.

Now THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and associated newspapers are sponsoring another such game. Splendid. It should be even better than last year's contest and I know that the football fans of the midwest and perhaps many from other sections of the country will be glad of the opportunity to see the 1934 college men meet one of the greatest of professional elevens.

Got Your Order In, Gil?

If at all possible I expect to be on the sidelines on the night of Aug. 29 Football practice at Cornell starts on Sept. 10 and there are many things to accomplish so that we can get under way without delay. However, the desire to see the boys I've read about, many of whom I have never seen play, is so great that I can understand why Soldiers' field was filled last year and undoubtedly will be jammed to capacity again next month.

Many such games involving star men who have played under various systems are only a parade of athletes. The opportunity to weld the men into an attacking unit is lacking. With more than two weeks' drills, however, and with no distractions there is no reason to doubt that the coaches who have charge of the 1935 college team will equip their eleven with effective plays. Practice twice a day by men who long ago have mastered the fundamentals certainly should produce a team far superior to the average college team which takes the field after a similar period of practice.

Game Stimulates Football.

Football as a sport is better for this game. It focuses attention on the coming season a month earlier. It makes the word all-American mean something. I follow the selections of newspapers and magazines each fall, but after the team is picked there is no opportunity to prove that this selection composes the best players in the nation. Here is visualization. Besides the method of choice, election of the players by the fans of the country gives an interest in the college team otherwise unobtainable.

It's a great idea and the 105 newspapers which have coöperated with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE make it successful. The fans certainly should appreciate the opportunity offered and since the receipts of the game are given to charities, every one benefits.

For most of these players, I am sure, it is a final game. They are making a last appearance, playing the game they love before cheering thousands. Football players love football. They must to practice long hours for the few minutes of actual competition.

I congratulate the college players in advance who will be summoned to Northwestern to prepare for this game. Their selection is a high honor. I am not worried in the least that they will not perform creditably. And while they will be opposed by a great squad of experienced men, veterans of professional football, the college boys again may surprise by their performance. I certainly hope I can see this battle of football's greatest stars.

NEW YORK TEAM ARRIVES TODAY FOR C. Y. O. BOUTS

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The boxing squad representing the Catholic Boys' clubs of New York will arrive this morning to prepare for the intercity bouts with Chicago's Catholic Youth organization which are to be held at Wrigley field a week from tonight. Chicago's official greeting will be extended to the New York boys in a huge outdoor reception tonight in Garfield park.

The visitors are scheduled to arrive at 8:40 o'clock this morning at the Central station, Roosevelt road and Michigan avenue. They will then be taken to the Midwest Athletic club, overlooking Garfield park, which will be their headquarters during their stay in the city.

Mayor to Speak.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly, the Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, and States Attorney Thomas J. Courtney will be among those who will make addresses of welcome to the New Yorkers in the course of the reception, which will center around the band stand in the park, just south of Madison street.

Reginald T. Townsend, vice president of the Catholic Boys' clubs, and the Rev. James Hogan, chaplain of the squad, will reply on behalf of the New Yorkers. Then the fighters will be introduced individually to the crowd.

Richard M. Lanihan of the Garfield Park Business Men's association, who is chairman of the reception committee, has prepared a program of entertainment and has planned an elaborate parade.

Expect 5,000 to March.

The parade will be divided into two wings, one forming at 2300 West Madison street and marching west, the other forming at 4500 West Madison street and marching east. The two wings will meet at Garfield park and will pass in review before the bandstand. It is estimated that there will be more than 5,000 marching. The parade will start at 7:30 p. m., but while the crowd is waiting for the marchers they will be entertained by the C. Y. O. band of 125 pieces.

The 132d Infantry, the Black Horse troop, the mounted lancers of the 132d Field artillery, various posts of the American Legion, Boy Scouts, high school students, the Board of Trade Drum and Bugle corps, and numerous parish organizations will take part in the parade. Brig. Gen. Thomas Hammond will be grand marshal.

John Pane-Gasser, opera singer, will take part in the musical program.

While final arrangements were being made for the reception yesterday the C. Y. O. boxing squad of 60 was hard at work in its training camp at Lockport. A group of famous old time fighters including Harry Forbes, Bennie Yanger, Johnny Coulon, and George Gardner visited the camp yesterday to give the youngsters some advice and encouragement.

Athletics Beat Sox, 2 to 0; Kennedy Pitches 3 Hit Game

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 23.—A three hit masterpiece by young Vernon Kennedy wasn't enough to carry the gallant White Sox to victory today in the second of the series with the Athletics. It so happened that the ex-Texas leaguer and Mack discard, was frisked for two of the hits as well as a pass in the fifth inning. This assortment of items sent two enemy runners across the plate and no more were needed because of Johnny Marcum's ability to keep the Chicagoans away from the plate. The score was 2 to 0.

VERNON KENNEDY.

Marcum, if not skillful, at least was lucky. Eight of the Sox reached base on hits, four of them on doubles. Three of them walked and one survived on an error. In four of the nine innings they had two men on the bases. In two other innings the first batter reached first. But all that this meant was that a total of eleven runners were stranded on the base lines at the finish. The Sox simply couldn't come through in the pinches, although sparkling fielding stopped them in a few instances and once they ruined their own cause by an unwise piece of running.

Foxx and Higgins Score.

Kennedy was so good against his former mates that the only one to reach base in the first four innings was Jim Foxx, who walked. A double play fixed him in a hurry. Then the same Foxx with a single, followed by a pass to Higgins, a fly ball and a double by Paul Richards, former Giant, settled everything. This was the only inning in which Mackmen passed second base. After the damage had been done Kennedy gave up two more passes, along with the third hit. The hit was by none other than the annoying Marcum and he reached second because of one of the passes.

A hit by any one of three of the Sox in four different situations might have changed matters. Al Simmons had a chance with two on in the first. Rip Radcliff had the same opportunity in the second. But Mule Haas was on the spot twice. He was stopped once after an error on Radcliff and a two bagger by Piet with two out. He was stopped again in the seventh after a single by Radcliff and Piet's second two bagger. And almost everybody failed in the last two innings which began with passes.

Sox Lose Opportunities.

The Sox would have done some business with Marcum in the first inning if Simmons had been able to come through in a pinch. After Radcliff had flied to left and Piet had fanned, Haas doubled to right center and Bonura walked. Nothing happened because Simmons bounced to Higgins for a force play at third.

The Sox nullified three singles in the second by taking a gambler's chance on the base lines. Appling led off with a single to center and made the mistake of trying to stretch it into a double. Cramer's throw to McNair nailed him. Dykes was disposed of when Finney staged a diving catch of a tall foul. Sewell singled to left and went to third on Kennedy's single to right. This put the matter of scoring into the hands of Radcliff and he hit one well enough but it sailed straight into Johnson's hands.

Opportunity knocked again for the Sox in the fifth. With two out Radcliff bounced to Foxx and Marcum tried to cover first on the play but dropped the throw. Piet doubled to left center, Radcliff stopping at third. Haas rolled to Foxx for the third out.

Athletics Get Two Runs.

The home fifth opened with Foxx singling to center for the first hit off Kennedy and it wasn't long before two runs were across the plate. The Foxx single was followed by a pass to Higgins. The two men were moved along on McNair's bunt. Warstler flied to Haas and Foxx scored after the catch. Haas threw to third but the ball took a high bounce past Dykes and Higgins took third. Then Richards double to left center, Higgins scoring. Marcum bounced to Kennedy to end the inning.

Simmons endeavored to get things going in the sixth but there were no helpers. After Bonura had flied out to left, Simmons banged a line drive double against the tin fence in right field. Second base was as far as he traveled. Appling was thrown out by Higgins and Dykes flied to Johnson.

Sox Try Again.

The Sox were at it again in the seventh but unfortunately for them two were out before they swung into

CARDINALS BEAT GIANTS, 6-1, BUT LOSE SECOND, 8-2

New York Yankees retained the American league lead by splitting a double header with Detroit. Story and pictures on next page.

St. Louis, Mo., July 23.—(AP)—The New York Giants held to their half game lead in the National league today, but it took four errors, three by Pepper Martin, to give them the second game of today's double-header after the St. Louis Cardinals had forged into the lead by winning the opening contest behind the great pitching of Paul Dean, 6 to 1. The games were witnessed by a crowd of 31,000.

The Giants, their regular hurlers already overworked, sent Al Smith to the mound in the second and the young southpaw came through with a fine performance while the league leaders capitalized on the Cardinal errors, getting seven unearned runs, to win, 8 to 2. The defeat was the Cards' second in their last twenty games.

In ending the Giants' worst slump in two years, Smith, a relief pitcher, turned the world champions back with eight hits for his first winning start since he joined the Giants.

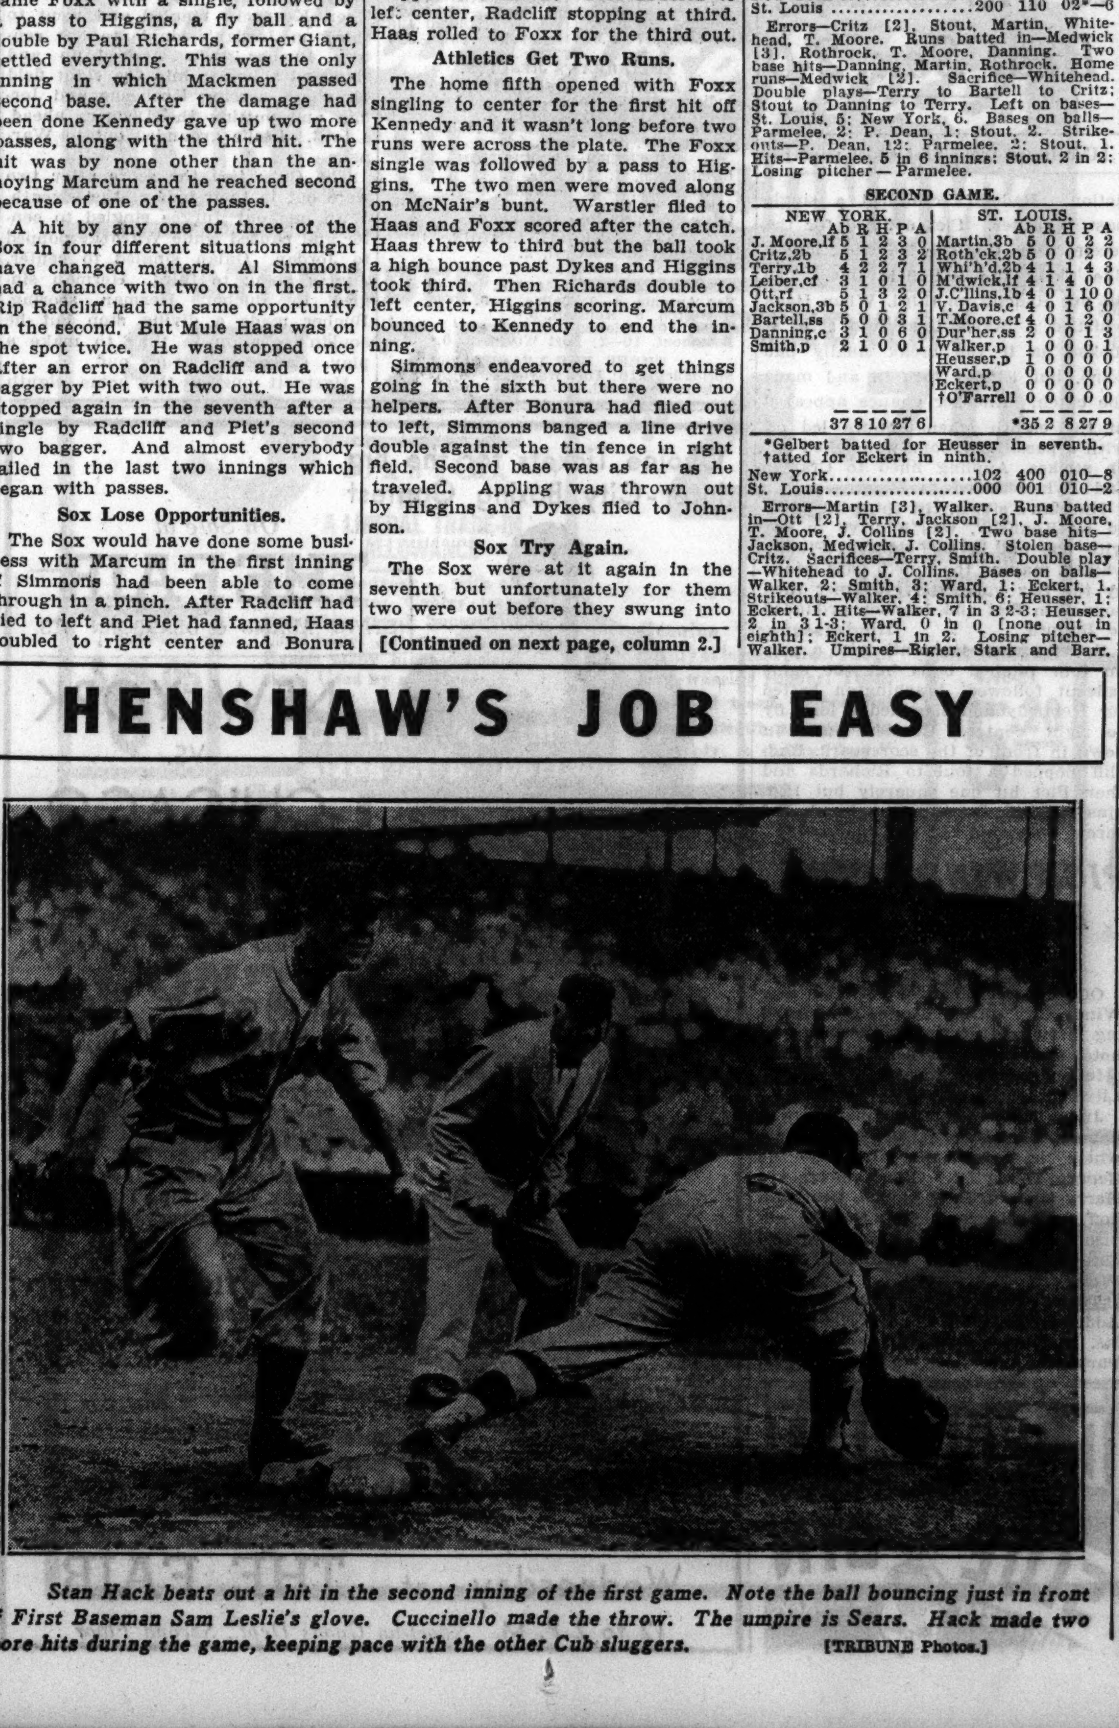
TWO PLAYS THAT MADE HENSHAW'S JOB EASY

Roy Henshaw, little Cub left hander, laying down a perfect bunt in the second inning of the first game of yesterday's double-header against Brooklyn to advance Hack and Jurges, who later scored. Note the ball at the right. The catcher is Lopez, the umpire, Reardon. Henshaw shut out the Dodgers, 8 to 0.



Stan Hack beats out a hit in the second inning of the first game. Note the ball bouncing just in front of First Baseman Sam Leslie's glove. Cuccinello made the throw. The umpire is Sears. Hack made two more hits during the game, keeping pace with the other Cub sluggers.

HENSHAW SHUTS OUT BROOKLYN IN FIRST CLASH

Warneke Fans Nine in Second.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs moved up some more in the National league pennant race yesterday when they twice licked the eminently confused Brooklyn Dodgers, 8 to 0, and 6 to 4. The third place Chicagoans thus gained a full game on the first place Giants whom they trail by three games, and a full game on the second place Cardinals, who lead them by 2½ games.

LON WARNEKE.

Snuffy Henshaw presided at the easy enterprise, the first game, his seventh victory and third shutout. The Cubs made 13 hits in this one, including Chuck Klein's 17th homer of the year knocked in the seventh inning. In the tougher second game Lon Warneke was the victor, registering his eleventh of the year and his third in six days. Lon had a shocking seventh inning when Jim Bucher knocked a homer with two on to put the visitors ahead, 4 to 3. Everything was straightened out, however, when Lon's mates, who had been dozing for four innings, woke up, tying the score in the seventh and making two runs in the eighth.

Lon Bears Down.

Warneke who previously this season hadn't featured the strikeout technique to any great extent, fanned nine—one to end the first inning, one to end the second inning, two after runners had reached third and second with none out in the tihrd, two with two on to end the fourth, one to start the sixth, one to start the eighth, and one to end the game.

As usual in a Warneke victory, Gabby Hartnett led the hitting. Gabby made two doubles and a single. His first double drove in the first Cub run in the first inning and his second double launched the winning rally in the eighth.

Ah, New Clothes.

There were two unusual features in the second game. Vice President Grimm got bounced for using coarse language to Umpire Quigley, the Kansas hog caller, who is very sensitive when it comes to loud vocal demonstrations. The other novelty was the Cubs' donning of clean uniforms. Trainer Andy Lotshaw cut off the old ones with a can opener after the first game, and the lads looked right pert as they came out for the second contest all dressed in spotless white.

The Cubs have beaten the Dodgers eight times in 10 games. The Chicagoans' driving ways, launched in Pittsburgh on July 6, now have netted them 15 victories in 18 starts. They have gained 7½ games on the Giants during the period.

FIRST GAME

The Cubs scored two runs in each of the first two innings of the first game. With one out in the first inning, Herman knocked his 30th double of the year and Cavarretta walked. O'Dea flied to Koenecke, but Demaree singled to right, Herman scoring and Cavarretta reaching third. When Cavarretta saw Boyle holding the ball he broke for the plate, easily beating the embarrassed Mr. Boyle's throw. When Boyle threw toward the plate Demaree ran to second. Demaree reached third on a wild pitch, but the inning ended with Klein's fly to Boyle. The two runs in the second inning were made on singles by Hack and Jurges and Galan's 26th double of the season.

Manager Stengel shook up his team at the start of the home third and the revised outfit held the Cubs scoreless for two innings. In the fifth, however, a double by Demaree and a single by Hack gave the Cubs their fifth run off Babich.

Klein Loses One.

With one out in the seventh Cuccinello and Jordan allowed Demaree's pop fly to drop between them near third base. Klein knocked a ball over the right field screen, but it was foul by inches. Babich shot the next pitch at Chuck's head and it went to the screen, Demaree for the second time reaching second base on a wild pitch. Klein then socked his No. 17 homer into the bleachers in right center. Hack tripled to right center and scored on Jurges' fly to Bordagaray. Henshaw singled to left center, but was out trying to make it a double, Bordagaray to Jordan.

The eighth was the first in which the Dodgers made more than one hit. With two out Cuccinello singled to left and stopped at second on Taylor's third and the Dodgers' sixth hit. Klein made a nice catch of Reis' fly.

SECOND GAME

The Brooklyns figured they were off to a good start when Koenecke opened the second game with a double over third, but the smack was cancelled a few seconds later when Koenecke was run down between second and third on Jordan's tap to Warneke.

The Cubs made a run after two were

62,516 WATCH TIGERS DIVIDE WITH NEW YORK

Yankees Win 1st, 7-5; Detroit Triumphs, 3-1.

New York, July 23.—(AP)—The Yankees and Tigers clawed each other all over the Yankee stadium today in the double header opening their four game series for the American league lead, and when the battling was over nothing had been gained and nothing lost.

The Yankees won the first contest, 7 to 5, and the Tigers took the second, 3 to 1, before a crowd of 62,516. The Yanks still are in first place by 12 percentage points or half a game.

Stars Fail to Finish.

Three of the aces both teams counted on, Johnny Allen and Lefty Gomez of the Yankees and School Boy Rowe of the Tigers, failed to finish what they started, although Allen received credit for winning the first game. The pitching hero was Vic Sorrell, veteran right hander, who almost was waived away from Detroit this spring.

Sorrell held the Yanks to eight hits in the second game, and was greatly aided by the daring base running of Ben Chapman, who was thrown out twice at crucial moments when a touch of conservatism would have meant important runs later.

The Tigers got to Gomez in two innings, scoring twice on singles by Rogell and Hayworth, a sacrifice, and Pete Fox's double, and once on a walk, passed ball, sacrifice and a fielder's choice. Johnny Murphy pitched the last two innings for the Yanks.

Greenberg Hits 27th Homer.

Mickey Cochrane and Hank Greenberg hit homers, the latter his 27th, in the first inning of the first game. Detroit again reached Allen in the seventh when four straight hits scored two more runs.

Al Simmons is all burned up because some scribe put a piece in the paper that the duke's failure to hit was due to defective vision. There didn't seem to be much wrong with Simmons' eyes yesterday when he whipped out a single, double and homer.

Mule Haas thought he had only three hits in yesterday's game, but really was credited with four. The official scorer ruled that a ball sent to short by Haas in the ninth was an error for McNair, but later decided it was a hit.

action. Radcliff scratched a single past Warstler. Piet doubled for the second time, this one traveling bulletlike along the left field line. The hit put Radcliff on third. When Haas whistled a rakish liner into right it looked as if the break finally had come, but Finney tore in and made the catch. Another chance appeared in the eighth when Bonura led off with a pass. Simmons was called out on strikes. Appling lined to Cramer and Dykes fouled to Higgins.

Marcum's single, the third hit yielded by Kennedy, was a drive to left with one out in the eighth. Finney walked, making the fourth pass issued by the Sox youngster. Cramer then popped to Piet and Johnson grounded to Bonura.

Sewell opened the ninth with a pass on four pitched balls but the same fadeout followed. Washington batted for Kennedy and slammed a long fly to right center. Cramer pulled it down in front of the scoreboard. Radcliff popped a foul to Richards and then Piet hit one squarely but Higgins grabbed it with one hand and threw to second for the final out.

Stainback beat out a bunt to Zachary to open the home second and went to second on Hack's sacrifice. Jurges doubled off the left field wall, scoring Stainback. Warneke popped a fly a few feet in front of second base. It fell for a single when Cuccinello, far off his reservation, collided with Bucher. Jurges had held second, but when the ball dropped he saw that third was unguarded. Jurges and Jordan started for third simultaneously. Cuccinello recovered the ball and tried to time a throw that would have the ball hanging over third when Jordan got there. Something went wrong with this sly stratagem, and the ball went to the boxes, whereupon Jurges legged it on home. Galan and Herman ended the rather ludicrous inning with infield outs.

Grimm Is Bounced.

The first of the third inning brought the bouncing of Vice President Grimm and a threat to clear the Cub bench. Boyle opened the inning with a single; then Zach Taylor, just joined up from Allentown, doubled to right, a noteworthy event in view of the fact that he didn't make a hit during all of 1933, his last year with the Cubs. The blow rather startled Warneke and caused him to bear down forthwith. First Lon struck out Zachery. He also struck out Koenecke, but in the course of pitching to him Grimm started a rumpus with Umpire Quigley, which resulted in Grimm being bounced from the premises. The inning ended with Jordan's pop to Jurges.

The Dodgers scored their first run of the afternoon in the fourth. Bucher opened with a single to center, went to second while Warneke was throwing out Leslie, and scored on Cuccinello's double to left center. D. Taylor walked, after which Boyle and Z. Taylor struck out.

That Big Homer.

A single by Hartnett with one out in the third was all the hitting and traveling to first the Cubs did in the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth innings, but there wasn't much anxiety, for Warneke seemed to have matters well in hand. But things happened in the seventh. Z. Taylor and Zachary obligingly furnished the first two outs. Then Koenecke singled and went to third on Jordan's single to left center. Bucher then stepped up and slammed a homer into the right field bleachers, scoring Koenecke and Jordan and putting the Dodgers ahead, 4 to 3. Leslie grounded out to Warneke.

The Cubs tied the score after two were out in their half of the seventh. With one out Jurges singled to center and paused while Warneke popped to Jordan. Galan singled to center, Jurges going to third. Herman singled to Bucher, Herman scoring. Bucher made a diving stop but he couldn't get up in time to make a play. Cavarretta struck out.

Hartnett opened the home eighth with his third hit and second double, a smash to right. Leonard replaced Zachary. Demaree beat out a pop bunt, Hartnett holding second. O'Dea then was sent to second to run for Hartnett. Stainback fouled to Z. Taylor. Hack grounded to Bucher who, trying for a double play, threw the ball into left field, O'Dea scoring and Demaree stopping at second. Demaree stole third off Leonard's second pitch and scored on Jurges' fly to Koenecke. Cuccinello threw out Warneke.

Old Pappy Root, who pitched eight shutout innings against the Giants Sunday and who was the fifth Cub pitcher in Monday's opener with the Dodgers, has been assigned to start one of the games in today's doubleheader. Bill Lee, who also worked eight innings in Sunday's doubleheader, will get another start this afternoon.

◆

Zach Taylor, who was the Cubs' first string catcher when they won the pennant in 1929, joined the Dodgers yesterday. Zach, who has been managing the Allentown club in the New York Pennsylvania league, a Dodger farm, was summoned when it was discovered that Gordon Phelps' right thumb was fractured by a foul tip in Monday's game.

BERGER'S HOMER ENABLES BRAVES TO BEAT REDS, 7-6

Outfielder Breaks Up the Game in 12th Inning.

Cincinnati, O., July 23.—(AP)—Wally Berger led the Boston Braves to their second straight victory over the Cincinnati Reds today, 7 to 6. He drove in three runs with a homer off Si Johnson in the second and banged out his second homer in the twelfth. It was his twentieth of the season.

Off to a bad start, the Reds caught up with the Braves with a barrage of extra base hits, and then missed a chance to win in the seventh when Lombardi, Slade, and Byrd went out after Herman and Bottomley had singled.

THREE CLUBS TIE IN DISTRICT GOLF TEAM MATCHES

Bob o' Link, Glen Oak and Edgewood Valley Lead.

For the first time in the twenty year history of the event, three teams yesterday tied for first place in the 36 hole Chicago district golf association's team tournament with scores of 637 over the No. 1 and No. 3 courses at the Medinah Country club. Bob O'Link, the defending champion, Glen Oak and Edgewood Valley were the teams deadlocked.

A date and site for the play-off of the title will be announced later this week.

The title defending four from Bob O'Link—Jimmy Miller, Doug Casey, Art Sweet and Hunter Hicks—were far back at the end of the eighteen holes, with Midlothian's team that eventually finished fourth, holding the noontime lead. In the afternoon, however, having played their first rounds on the harder No. 3 course, the Bob O'Link shooters blazed over the No. 1 layout in 303 strokes, Sweet leading the way with a 71, the best score of the day.

Novotny Shoots 148.

Gus Novotny, the individual medalist of the day by virtue of his card of 76—72—148, pulled Edgewood Valley into the tie with a fine ten foot putt on the 18th green of the No. 1 course in the afternoon.

A little later, with Warren Dawson shooting a 76 and Al Lays an 83 on the No. 3 course, Glen Oak staked out its claim to the title. The other Glen Oak squad members, John Morrell and Douglas Tweedie, had previously posted a 76 and an 80, respectively, for their afternoon rounds on No. 1.

Dawson Scores 150.

Warren Dawson, whose 76 on No. 3 in the afternoon tied Novotny for scoring honors on that course, had an aggregate of 150 for the day's second best total. Larry Witt of Midlothian, whose brother and father also competed on that club's team, finished third with a 74 in the morning on No. 1 and a 78 after luncheon on No. 3.

WAKE MAIL BOX.

DEAR WAKE: I noticed the All-Irish team recently submitted to The Wake by Helper Jack Sullivan. Why bring back Blondy Ryan from the minors for such a team when we have Joe Cronin, to say nothing of Lyn Lary of the Browns and Roy Hughes of Cleveland, all of whom are Irish on both sides of the family?

Why put Selkirk, a full blooded Scot, in the outfield, and leave out Wally Moses, John Stone, and Sam West, who are half Irish, and Ray Pepper and Jocko Conlan who are full blooded Celts? Why leave out Jimmy Foxx, Irish through and through, or Irving Jack Burns?

Mr. Sullivan also could add to his team Catcher Mervyn Shea of the White Sox, Pitchers Lyn Rowe, Joe Sullivan, Johnny Murphy of the Yankees and Johnny Welch of the Red Sox, as well as Second Baseman Jack Hayes of the White Sox and Third Baseman Hale of Cleveland Indians.

For managers, Connie Mack and Joe McCarthy could be nominated in addition to Cronin, Cochrane, and Jimmy Dykes, who is half Irish. Full blooded Irish coaches are Billy Webb, Eddie Gharrity, Steve O'Neill, Charley O'Leary, and Johnny Kerr. H. P. E.

I was considerably irked over the reported statement of Manager Grimm regarding the rumor the Cubs secretly had purchased the eccentric Dizzy Dean: "We are not sure that we want a player of the type Diz has turned out to be, the Cubs being singularly free of temperamental prima donnas."

I wonder who is the greatest drawing card in baseball today? Who is the greatest pitcher in baseball today? And who is the most colorful figure in baseball today?

Surely the third place Cubs couldn't use the services of such a man because of a peculiar temperament which, combined with marvelous pitching skill and a stout heart, make him the greatest and most colorful ball player the game ever has had with the exception of Babe Ruth.

Poor Old Primo, Fed Up with U. S., Sails for Italy

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Fed up with America, particularly since he had just been nicked for $5,275 income taxes, ponderous Primo Carnera sailed today on the Conte de Savóia for Italy. He had spending money in his oversize trousers, but not a nickel of his $70,000 earnings for his last two fights.

"It's a damn shame," Primo grumbled. He was referring to a breach of promise suit by Emilie Tersini, a London waitress. She has tied up his cash through the courts, waiting to collect $15,000 in balm. His manager, Louis Soresi, patted him half way up his back, and said:

"That's all right, Primo, old top. I'll see you get all the spending money you want." Primo will be back in September.

Japanese Golf Pros Defeat Amateurs, 7-2

Japan's team of touring golf professionals, playing the best golf of their current American invasion, defeated a picked team of Chicago amateurs, 7 to 2, in a series of three best ball matches at the Skokie Country club in Glencoe yesterday.

The Japanese swept all three foursome matches, which were decided by the Nassau system of scoring, three points for each foursome. Each team consisted of six players.

Four of the Japanese players shot sub par golf for the eighteen holes, while the other two were but one stroke over perfect figures. Kanekichi Nakamura, who is 5 feet tall, burned up the course with a dazzling round of 36—32—68, four under par.

Russ Martin was the lone Chicagoan to better par figures. He posted 34—35—69 for the second best round of the day. Russ played in the same foursome with the sharpshooting Nakamura. Failure to run down several short putts cost Martin a chance to clip several strokes from his total.

Seisui Chin and Torchi Toda shot rounds of 73 to score a 3 to 0 victory over Don Armstrong and Jack Westland. The former had a 38—36—74, while the latter posted 38—37—75.

Tommy Miyamoto and Robert Asami both had 70s, two under par, to defeat Chick Evans and Bob Gardner, 2 to 1. Evans' score was 37—36—73; Gardner had 37—35—72.

Nakamura and Jack Yasuda, the latter shooting 71, defeated Russ Martin and Johnny Lehman, 2 to 1. Lehman had a medal score of 34—39—73. The outcome of this final match was in doubt until the eighteenth hole, where Nakamura sank a ten foot putt for his fifth birdie.

ALLISON, VAN RYN DEFEAT GERMANS IN 5 SET MATCH

WIMBLEDON, England, July 23.—(AP)—Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., and Johnny Van Ryn of Philadelphia joined forces today to defeat Germany's combination of Baron Gottfried von Cramm and Kay Lund in an uphill five set doubles match to give the United States a 2 to 1 margin in the Davis cup interzone tennis final.

Five times in the homeric five set the Americans were within a point of defeat before they finally triumphed, 3-6, 6-3, 5-7, 9-7, 8-6.

It was an exhibition of furious tennis with Allison and Van Ryn, who was not volleying up to form, fighting against what appeared to be insurmountable odds.

Great Experience Tells.

Twice in the fourth set and three times in the final they found themselves on the brink of defeat. Each time, however, Allison and Van Ryn called on their greater experience to survive. As the result America will enter the final phase of the interzone tie favored to win one of the two remaining singles matches tomorrow and qualify to meet England in the challenge round starting Saturday.

Allison meets Heiner Henkel in the opening match, leaving Donald Budge free to try to discover Von Cramm's weakness, if any, in the final.

It Was a Great Match.

Both Allison and Van Ryn, who have been playing as a doubles combination for the better part of a decade, agreed it was the greatest match they'd ever played in.

CANZONERI AND PACHO FINISH DRILL FOR BOUT

Lightweights Meet on West Side Tomorrow.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion of the world, finished his training yesterday afternoon for his scrap tomorrow night at Mills stadium against Bobby Pacho of Mexico. Pacho also wound up pre-battle conditioning, and these two hardy ring warriors now will wait the tedious hours until they are called from the dressing rooms.

Canzoneri, by virtue of his title battle with Lou Ambers and his defeat of Frankie Klick, rates the favorite over Pacho. Strangely enough, Tony is more highly regarded in Chicago now than at any time since he lost his lightweight championship to Barney Ross at the Stadium. Then, the wiseacres said, Tony was through. Their opinion seemed justified when Ross successfully defended the 135 pound title against Canzoneri in New York. None thought he would continue much longer in the ring, or deemed it possible that he would regain his throne.

Tony Is Independent.

Actually there is no financial reason why Canzoneri should continue fighting. He owns a farm among other items of property, and has sufficient where-with-all to retire. But Tony likes his profession. His activity made him a logical contender for the 135 pound title when Ross vacated it. And now that he again rules his division, Tony will continue until another Ross comes along.

Pacho may whip Canzoneri tomorrow night. Tony will not be defending his title, by agreement, and consequently will not have the same incentive as if he was. Tony has been whipped in nontitle bouts. He lost to Billy Petrolle in Chicago, to Wesley Ramey in Grand Rapids, and to Chuck Woods in Detroit to mention outstanding examples. Ramey is the only one Canzoneri has not favored with a return battle. This probably could be arranged if a promoter can be found who will stake a sufficient sum to make it worth while for Tony to risk his title.

Pacho's First Chance.

Pacho never has fought Canzoneri. A victory for him tomorrow night might produce the necessary publicity to bring Tony and his title into the ring. That, of course, is Bobby's purpose.

The bout promises action. Both fighters are willing workers, hard punchers, and never waste any time. Pacho intends, or so he says, to crowd Canzoneri. It's his natural style, for he whips his hands to the body in close far better than he boxes from a distance.

The supporting card will present two Golden Gloves champions whose careers will be followed closely. Max Marek, light heavyweight champion in 1933, who won the National A. A. U. championship in this division, will fight Steve Roberts. Marek holds a decision over Joe Louis, earned during the course of his progress to the National A. A. U. championship.

Pack on Card.

Lorenzo Pack, 1935 Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, who is undefeated in the professional ring, is matched with Al Boros. Pack's shifty defense and hard smashing have brought him along fast.

Revenue Men, Police Help Plan Big Bout

Members of the Chicago police department, men from the Chicago office of the United States collector of internal revenue, Promoter Joe Foley and Matchmaker Mickey Farr, and Andy Frain of an ushers' union met with the Illinois athletic commission yesterday to thresh out plans for handling the crowd expected to attend the Joe Louis-King Levinsky bout at Comiskey park Aug. 7.

John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police; Maj. John Bauder, drill master of the police department, and Capt. Richard Gill, supervising captain, were present. Another such meeting will be held at the commission offices on Aug. 5 at which time complete details will be announced.

Roland Kirchmeyer will meet Jim McMillen and Ray Richards will oppose Sol Slagel in feature bouts on the wrestling card at Mills stadium next Monday. Each is set for one fall with a 90 minute time limit. The show is being presented in an effort by promoters to find an opponent for Danno O'Mahoney, heavyweight champion.

A series of boxing matches will be held at Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard, and five wrestling encounters are booked at Marigold gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

Walter [Puggy] Weinert, south side welterweight, will box George Engel of Plymouth, Ind., in the six round main event at Northwest stadium. The feature match at Marigold will involve Ivan Rasputin and Cleve Welch, rival light heavyweight wrestlers. Julius [Mephisto] Woronick, incapacitated for several months by an injury, will return to action in the semi-final encounter there against Al Williams. Preliminary affairs match Lefty Pacer with Rudy Kay, Ernie Peterson with George Schwab, and Al Szasz with Joe Bauer.

Other six round bouts at Northwest will bring together George Van der Hayden, Catholic Youth organization featherweight, and Davey White, Madison Square loop gymnasium, and Ernie Kulasik and Jack Murphy. Einar Hedquist will face Ray Raymond, John Brown is paired with Kenneth Brown and Sam De Pasquale will oppose Joe Wiley at four rounds.

Toronto Grand Circuit Card Postponed by Rain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, July 23.—A heavy downpour of rain today made the Thorncliffe track unfit for racing, so the program of Grand Circuit races was postponed until tomorrow.

Talking It Over

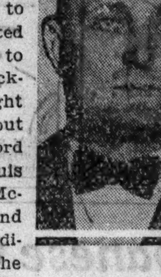
[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE late George Stallings, who led the Braves to a world title in 1914 in what generally is regarded as one of the outstanding achievements in baseball, never wanted players whose hat size was under seven and one-eighth. . . . He claimed they couldn't think. . . . One day when he was in the International league he picked up a stray baseball cap in the clubhouse, put it on and was surprised when it dropped down over his ears. . . . Without knowing who owned the cap he exclaimed: "I'd give $25,000 for the player who owns this cap." . . . It belonged to Dutch Reuther, who at the time was one of the National league's leading left-handers. . . . Reuther happened to be there that day because he wanted a certain minor league trainer to work on his arm. . . . Jack Blackburne, Joe Louis' trainer, who fought Sam Langford five times, says a bout between Louis now and Langford would be a tossup and that Louis would be a cinch against Sam McVey, Joe Jeannette, Harry Wills, and Jack Johnson under similar conditions. . . . Marty Hopkins of the White Sox and Pinky Higgins of the Athletics were fellow infielders on the University of Texas team. . . . Both the Yankees and Athletics wanted Hopkins, but the Yanks, with the help of the Texas coach, won out. . . . Connie Mack then took Higgins as a consolation prize. . . . And what a consolation he has proved.

PAT MALONE.



BILLY EVANS.

The night of the All-Star game in Cleveland Pat Malone sent himself a telegram signed Pepper Martin and Joe Medwick which read: "As you told us Gomez was a good guy, we went easy on him today." . . . When Gomez read the wire he chased Malone out of the hotel lobby. . . . Joe Zeller of the Bears has been appointed probation officer of the East Chicago City court. . . . Max Baer, filling out his marriage license, spelled the name of his bride's birthplace "Ithica." . . . It's a good thing she wasn't born in Oconomowoc. . . . Track dates and classes have prevented Jessie Owens from seeing his parents since last September. . . .

Erna and Elizabeth Kompa, the Women's Swimming association's new backstroke stars, are expected to be the world's greatest swimmers in another year, but they will be unavailable for the Olympic games because they were born in Germany. . . . Nordy Hoffman, former Notre Dame guard, has abandoned a business career in Pittsburgh to coach the line at the University of Wichita. . . . Billy Evans, business manager of the Cleveland Indians, used to be an amateur boxer. . . . He took lessons from Johnny Kilbane, old featherweight champion. . . . Attendants at Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Saratoga farm in Maryland are fighting to save Discovery's sister, a yearling that became ill when shipped from Lexington recently.

Three college stars who appear to have major league possibilities are working out with the Giants, but Bill Terry has no minor league spot to place them for seasoning. . . . The Giants plan to have a farm next year in a class C or D league. . . . It may be Greenwood, Miss., Hughie Critz's home town. . . . Ball boys in the national tennis tournament receive a dollar for the first three sets of every match and 25 cents for each succeeding set. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Tiger Flowers outpointed Lou Bogash in ten rounds at Aurora. . . . Twenty-five yachts were entered in the annual Mackinac race. . . . Nine of the country's crack three year olds were nominated to start in the $25,000 Cincinnati Derby. . . . Dorothy Klotz defeated Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, 6 and 4, to win the city golf title. . . . Ossie Solem was appointed athletic director at Drake to succeed K. L. Wilson.

Princess Wins Yacht Race to Mackinac

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 23.—[Special.]—Elizabeth and Princess, were the two winners of the Chicago Yacht club's 28th annual race to Mackinac island, which finished today. It was also the third victory for both boats, Elizabeth competing in the cruising division and Princess in the racing division. The same two won last year.

Although Princess was fourth to finish, it defeated larger yachts, Tar Baby, leader of the entire 37 starters, Dorello and Vagabond, on handicaps. Princess' actual time was 55 hours, 26 minutes, and 47 seconds. Corrected time 52.26.00. Edmund Jedzrykowski and Carl Kallgren, the two owners from Jackson Park Yacht club, commanded a crew of Oscar Eskonen, Emery Soderberg, Edward Kral, and Anson Thiers.

Wind Vane Helps.

In Princess' first three tries at the Mackinac race it took sixth each time. In its fourth Mackinac marathon the sloop finished third, the next year second, and in '32, '34, and today was first. The 42 footer's electric wind vane was given much credit by the skippers for giving them wind direction in the fog that prevailed during part of the race. Last Sunday in the fresh southwesterly wind Princess traveled 170 miles in 24 hours at close to the boat's top speed.

The reason assigned by the schooner Elizabeth's crew for winning in the cruiser division was the almost zig zag course followed on Sunday. Being equipped with a speedometer, the 50 footer found it could travel much faster by sailing on one tack than on the other, heading 170 degrees from the wind on each tack. The other yachts had deemed it sufficient to sail straight with wind behind them.

Elizabeth's best speed was 9½ knots in a short squall that struck all the boats an hour before sunset Sunday. This is the third Mackinac victory for Elizabeth in four years. The crew consisted of Lynn Williams Sr., his son Lynn Jr., Ed Schnabel, owner of R. Class sloop Yankee, Maurie Potter, son of the commodore of the Chicago Y. C., Fuller Dean, Louis Dean, Bud Murdock, Joe Nolan, and Professional Henry Graf.

Bagheera Beats Ben Bow.

The owners and crews of Ben Bow and Bagheera were as much interested in beating each other as in winning the Mackinac race. John T. [Bud] Snite's Bagheera led Ben Bow by a wide margin at the finish. The youthful crew of Bagheera took a chance, to save time, and sailed over a spot on the north end of the lake that was marked 4 feet deep on the charts. Although the schooner has 8 feet of draft, it sped over the shoals safely heeled over. It took Bagheera only 19 hours to sail from Chicago to Big Point Sable, 160 miles. On this run the boat made the remarkable speed of 11 knots.

Folding Boat Is Help to Angler on Wilder Lakes

BY BOB BECKER.

A folding boat, or a trailer that will carry a canoe or small craft of some kind, is a handy outfit for the bass fisherman who expects to hit a lot of lakes in the Spooner section of northwest Wisconsin. After cruising around through the woods north and northwest of Spooner to find bass lakes, we are convinced that there are enough wild, seldom fished lakes in that territory to keep a fellow busy for a long time. But we noticed how many of the small bass and northern pike lakes do not have boats on them.

Of course, there are plenty of fishing places with boats one can visit and get fish. You can operate successfully for many days by fishing accessible lakes where there are resorts or lodges, camping grounds, and boats to be had. For example, middle McKenzie lake is easy of access and has been producing some beautiful strings of large mouthed black bass.

Upper McKenzie is another beautiful lake. Then there are Island and Big Bass lakes. We drove by for a look at Big Bass lake, where there is a fine camping ground open to the public. It's one of a series of camp spots cleaned up and fixed up by relief labor.

But we wanted to hit for the timber and fish some small wilderness lakes. We found no lack of these. The very first hours of our cruising found us in an old flivver careening over a timber road with a canoe on a trailer to fish Red lake. It was a blistering hot afternoon. Too hot for fish or fishing. But the bass did not fail us in spite of the bright sun and the heat. One cast with a twin spinner lure to the lily pads gave us a laugh. When the lure hit the pads it must have struck right in the middle of a bass huddle. As soon as the lure went kerplunk into the pads three bass jumped into action. They didn't know where they were going, but they started just the same. One of them spotted our yellow bucktail and flashing spinners and hit it immediately. It was only a two pounder, but it did what it was supposed to do.

We used a fly rod some of the time on Red lake. But the bluegills were so numerous and eager to hit that they surrounded the bass bug every time it hit the water. The fish would knock the bug into the air, or drag it under so that a bass had to fight to get near the bug.

"The Fisherman's Guide," by Bob Becker—81 pages about fish and fishing—is now on sale at THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Advertising and Public Service Offices, One S. Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 25c; by mail, 30c.

FIVE PLAYERS IN CHESS TOURNEY ARE UNDEFEATED

Milwaukee, Wis., July 23.—(AP)—Five entrants in the open tournament of the American Chess Federation congress had perfect records today after the fourth round of play.

In section 1 Reuben Fine of New York defeated R. Drummond of Toronto, Canada, to keep a perfect score of four points. In the same class Samuel Factor, Chicago, and W. A. Ruth of Collingswood, N. J., also are undefeated although their fourth round matches with Harold Morton of Boston and Clarence Krazeski of Milwaukee were adjourned until tomorrow.

Isaac Kashdan of New York won from H. G. Kent of Chicago for a perfect string of four victories in section 2.

By winning over T. Barron of Flushing, N. Y., Arthur Drake of Portland, Ore., kept his victory string intact. He leads the division with four points.

MILKY WAY FARM GETS TRIPLE AT ARLINGTON PARK

Sir Gawaine, Sangreal, Wise Daughter Win.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The Milky Way Farm stable horses owned by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of Oak Park can't seem to find a job that's too big for them. They've figured prominently in nearly all important stake races in Chicago this season and they scored a triple for Mrs. Mars at Arlington Park yesterday afternoon. It was the first time this year an owner has won three races in one afternoon at a Chicago course.

The victorious Mars colorbearers, all ridden by Jocky A. Robertson and saddled by Trainer Bob McGarvey, were Sir Gawaine, which captured the first race; Sangreal, the victor in the second, and Wise Daughter, which ran away with the Oak Park purse, the day's feature.

Sir Gawaine Beats Good Field.

Sir Gawaine, a son of Sir Gallahad III.-Firewater, was associating with a band of stylish 2 year old maidens when he came from behind and won by a neck.

Sangreal, another son of Sir Gallahad III., from Arthur B. Hancock's famous breeding place in Kentucky, was running with the same sort of company when he rattled home the winner of the second race at five and one-half furlongs by three lengths.

Wise Daughter, a daughter of Wise Counsellor, had what seemed to be a very difficult task cut for her to take down the Oak Park purse. The odds-on favorite was the Calumet stable's Some Pomp, winner of three races in a row at Arlington, who was out to make it four straight.

Some Pomp Disappoints.

Some Pomp didn't like the muddy going, however, and soon after the start Jocky Robertson rushed Wise Daughter to the front. She was never headed. At times she was the leader by three and four lengths. Slightly eased up at the finish, she was the winner by two and one-half lengths. West Main was second and Some Pomp finished third.

Wise Daughter paid off in the mutuels at $9 for a two dollar ticket after her brilliant performance of running six furlongs in 1:11 4-5 over the off track. Sir Gawaine paid $5 for a two dollar ticket when he won the first race, and Sangreal's price in the mutuels was $7.

Full Up Comes Home.

An early morning shower had soaked the track but it dried rapidly and was called slow during the early part of the afternoon and good while the last couple of races were decided. The changed track conditions caused the day's handicap, which was to engage Azucar and other eligibles to the Arlington handicap Saturday, to be called off. A claiming number was substituted and it brought an easy victory for the one to two favorite, Full Up, a son of Bubbling Over-Moon Winks, owned by A. McMaster, Kentucky.

Full Up paraded in front of his field all the way and wound up the three-quarters of a mile journey four lengths in front of Mad Eagle and Amy Cooper.

Discovery to Leave Today for Arlington

The 135 pound weight package handed out by Racing Secretary Charley McLennan did not frighten Discovery out of the $10,000 Arlington handicap to be run Saturday afternoon.

Young Alfred Vanderbilt sent word from New York yesterday that Discovery will be on his way soon from the Suffolk Downs track in Boston, headed for Arlington and the big handicap.

Early plans call for Discovery to engage in his final hard workout for the race at Suffolk Downs this morning. He will leave Boston late today and unload late tomorrow at the Arlington course.

E. G. Shaffer is bringing Discovery back to Chicago and Jocky Joe Bejshak is coming west to ride the champion.

Bob Smith, trainer of the Brookmeade stable of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, notified Arlington Park officials yesterday that he will ship Delphinium and Clocks here from the east to accept their engagement in the $60,000 Arlington Futurity to be run Aug. 3.

Delphinium, a son of Blue Larkspur and Multiflora, captured the National Stallion stakes at Belmont Park in June. Clocks is a brother to Tick On, one of the outstanding two year olds of 1931, and has shown good promise so far this season.

MIDGET AUTOS RACE TONIGHT IN EIGHT EVENTS

The Chicago Midget Speedway's midweek program will be staged tonight on the track at Lincoln and Devon avenues and McCormick boulevard. There will be eight events, the main race to be at 20 laps.

Track Director Len Bernard expects more than 20 cars to be on the grounds at starting time. Headliners of the field are Ray Richards, the Highland Park, Ill., youngster who was high point man of last Sunday's meet with two victories and two second places: Ernie Carlson, Ronnie Householder, Emil Andres, Ted Tetterton, George Kaiser, Lou Schneider, and Jimmy Rogers. Schneider won the 500 mile race at Indianapolis in 1930.

McGarvey. Went to post at 2:15. At post one-half minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place and show, same.

SIR GAWAINE, a strong factor from the start and on inside the first three-eighths, slowly wore down MARY CARMEN and, after getting up, drew out very slowly. MARY CARMEN, aided by good rating and saving ground after first three-sixteenths, held on gamely. STEPINANNA, raced wide, gave an even performance.

SANGREAL, under strong urging from the start, began to draw away slowly after reaching last three-eighths, and, taking a safe advantage, was under restraint after five-eighths. TORATION saved much ground when moving up entering stretch and held on with good courage. SANDY BOY, away fast but unable to hold the advantage, lost ground the last three-eighths and weakened slightly in late stages.

OTERROP, much the best and under strong restraint until reaching final quarter, rapidly increased her advantage when lightly persevered with, and was again taken in hand after five-eighths. CHEROKEE SAL was under strong urging after three-eighths and held on well. TOPPLING weakened badly in final eighth.

Winner trained by B. B. Williams. Went to post at 3:41. Off at once. Start good from permanent stalls. Won easily; place driving.

SOME BULL forced the early pace under strong restraint, drew out fast on stretch turn, and was well in hand the final eighth. BEMINE, on inside throughout and beginning fast, was under strong riding after five-eighths and weakened in late stages, but held COURT SONG safe. Latter, raced wide almost throughout, held on fairly well.

[No show mutuels sold.] Winner trained by R. McGarvey. Went to post at 4:09¼. At post one minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won easily; place driving.

WISE DAUGHTER took command quickly, was steadied around the turn, where she raced wide, and held on in improved fashion, but had little left. WEST MAIN, badly outrun for half a mile, closed with a rush on inside. SOME POMP, well in hand for three-eighths, did not threaten winner when under strong urging thereafter, but held on well and just failed to withstand WEST MAIN'S rush.

FULLUP, much the best and rated under strong reserve for half a mile, came away fast thereafter and was eased in last seventy yards. MAD EAGLE, well up from the start, went to inside in stretch and, finishing with determination, wore down AMY COOPER in last fifty yards. Latter, raced wide throughout, forced the early pace under restraint, failed to rally to urging, and weakened in final eighth.

SWEET CHARIOT, going in his best form and taken under restraint after being rushed into command, sustained good speed throughout and had something left. HAGGERSON forced his way between horses when moving up fast approaching the turn, was under strong pressure the final quarter, and weakened near end. NAVAL CADET, raced wide, faltered badly after seven-eighths.

MOTLEY suffered sharp interference from SYNOD in back stretch, moved up fast when racing very wide on lower turn, and finished under strong pressure. SILVER SICKLE had the most speed and bore out badly when tiring in final quarter. COUNT TETRARCH saved considerable ground and weakened after reaching stretch, but outstayed GLITTERING. COUNTESS ANN left the course in back stretch, which automatically disqualified her, but returned to the course and finished in front.

RELIEF SUPPLIES LITTER STREET AS BUILDING FALLS

Canned goods and other supplies stored by the Federal Surplus Relief corporation in the Herrmann warehouse on Goose Island cascaded into Cherry street early yesterday when the front wall of the seven story structure collapsed with a roar which was at first thought to be an explosion.

Building Commissioner Richard E. Schmidt began an investigation of the collapse and ordered the owner, Joseph F. Herrmann, to clear the wreckage. Herrmann estimated damage to the building at $15,000, but declined to appraise the loss of the damaged goods save to say that about 80 per cent would be salvaged.

70% for Relief Storage.

Seventy per cent of the building's space was used as a storehouse for the federal supplies, under a lease made by William L. Munn, federal director of commodities. It was reported that the lease was one of the largest, if not the largest, made for a similar purpose with any warehouse in the country.

Cause of the collapse could not be determined immediately and subordinates in Commissioner Schmidt's office said that investigation after the débris has been cleared might not result in any determination.

Records in the building department showed that the building was constructed in 1880. It was last inspected on May 12, at which time the inspectors reported that the stores were piled so that the load per square foot was 107 pounds and that the floors could sustain a load of 135 pounds.

Owner of Blaze Swept Building.

Herrmann also was the owner of an adjoining warehouse, the interior of which was destroyed by fire on May 23, 1932. Baled cotton smoldered in the wreckage for weeks, during which time the fire department made 42 runs to the warehouse. In August of that year fire broke out again and two firemen were killed fighting it. A coroner's jury ordered Herrmann held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter—deciding that he had been guilty of criminal negligence—but the grand jury refused to indict.

Other bequests to philanthropic institutions and relatives totaled approximately $300,000. The full value of the estate was fixed at about $1,000,000.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Shaping the Puppet

THINK, CLAPTRAP- FOR ONE MAN LIKE WARBUCKS, WITH HIS MILLIONS, THERE ARE MILLIONS OF PEOPLE WITH ALMOST NOTHING AT ALL- BUT THEY ARE HUMAN- THEY NEED AN HONEST AND FEARLESS LEADER-
THAT'S TRUE-
YES- THEY'RE HUMAN- THEY ALL HAVE HOPE- FEAR- LOVE- AMBITION- DESIRE- AND THEY ALSO HAVE JEALOUSY- ENVY- HATE- A MAN OF YOUR ATTAINMENTS, CLAPTRAP, CAN PLAY ON THEIR EMOTIONS AS A MASTER MUSICIAN PLAYS A HARP-
NO ONE MAN SHOULD HAVE THE POWER AND WEALTH POSSESSED BY WARBUCKS- THE GREAT SECRET OF EONITE SHOULD BELONG TO THE COMMON PEE-PUL- YOU KNOW THAT- IT'S SUCH MEN AS YOU WE NEED AS LEADERS-

BLAME BROKEN TIMBER IN FIRE AT LIQUOR PLANT

Peoria, Ill., July 23.—[Special.]—The cause of the 2½ million dollar explosion and fire at the Hiram Walker distillery here last night, which resulted in the death of one man and injuries to 60 persons, was only partly explained today. The dead man was John Bardon, 38 years old. His body was found but could not be extricated from the ruins immediately.

No official inquiry into the cause had been made, but witnesses agreed that the collapse of the south wall of the number three rackhouse, a $350,000 structure completed only last April, was followed by an explosion of the highly volatile liquors stored there.

Val Jobst Jr., head of the large construction company bearing his name which put up the building, said he believed a broken joist had let barrels slide from place in the rackhouse and strike a spark.

Jobst sent a crew into the rackhouse late yesterday after creaks and groans had indicated the stored barrels were slipping from place. Distillery workers had been called out of the building, but a crew of 20 men was shoring a bulging wall, inside and out, when the explosion occurred.

DAUGHTER GETS BULK OF PORTER WIDOW'S ESTATE

Washington Porter II., well known south sider, is to receive somewhat less than one-third of the $65,000 estate of his mother, Mrs. Frances Lee Porter, who died last May at her home, 4043 Lake Park avenue.

The will rovides that Mrs. Pauline Porter White, a daughter, shall receive the income from a trust fund composed of two-thirds of the estate, while her son is to receive the income from a trust fund made up of the balance of the estate. In addition, Mrs. White was given the income from property at 7 West Wacker drive and 301 West Wacker drive.

"I have not made this distribution because I have any less love and affection for my son," Mrs. Porter said in her will, which was drawn last October, "but because my son has used large sums of my money in which my daughter has not participated."

In 1933 Porter was ordered by Judge Denis E. Sullivan to return to his mother stocks, bonds, and real estate valued at $1,000,000. It was explained yesterday that Mrs. Porter had disposed of a large part of her estate before her death.

CHARLES MOCK, TRANSIT EXPERT, DIES IN OFFICE

Charles M. Mock, 68 years old, nationally known transit authority and chief engineer for the receivers of the Chicago Rapid Transit lines, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease in his office at 72 West Adams street.

The engineer first became associated with the Chicago elevated lines in 1898 when he became an assistant engineer of design, construction and equipment with the Northwestern elevated line. In 1925 he obtained a leave of absence from his post as chief engineer of the entire elevated system, but was recalled in 1927 to assist in the work on the transit ordinance then being drawn.

An inquest into the death of Marian Cozzo, 17 years old, whose body was found last Thursday in a sewer in a lonely section on the southwest side, will be held Friday morning at the county morgue, coroner's officials announced yesterday. The date of the inquest, originally set for Aug. 15, was advanced because of the confession of Mills Redmond, 27 years old, 6447 South Irving avenue, that he killed the girl and threw her body in the sewer when she resisted his efforts to rape her.

Body of Mme. Mary Bosler Is Exhumed and Cremated

Funeral services for Mme. Mary L. Bosler, 61 years old, former opera singer who recently was a voice teacher on the Gold Coast, were held yesterday at the chapel in Oak Woods cemetery. Mme. Bosler's body was exhumed from potter's field, where it had been buried on May 29 when recovered from Lake Michigan. Photographs of the body were not identified until three weeks later, after friends and relatives had reported Mme. Bosler missing from her home at 181 Lake Shore drive. Funds for the exhumation were raised by individual contributions from members of the Woman's Republican club, of which Mme. Bosler was a vice president. The body was cremated.

RELIEVES SUNBURN

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Ralph Ginsburgh's ensemble with Vivian della Chiesa, young soprano, and Franz Imhoff, tenor, are to be the headliners on a new sponsored series over the Columbia network beginning Sunday, Sept. 8, to be called "Musical Footnotes." Yes, the sponsor makes shoes. Ginsburgh, who is vacationing in Colorado, will return shortly to the Palmer house and his W-G-N sustaining broadcasts. Miss Della Chiesa was the winner last spring of WBBM's unknown singer contest.

The Veloz and Yolanda orchestra, directed by Shep Fields, is to be held over an additional four weeks at the Palmer house, carrying them through Labor day. Who will follow them has not yet been determined. Ted Weems was to return this fall, but he is going into the night club business in Kansas City. A new establishment is to be opened there bearing the name—the Ted Weems club.

When news broke that a poverty stricken east side New Yorker by the name of Abraham Starr had suddenly come into a $6,000,000 fortune the networks called on him to broadcast his reactions. He said "yes," but overnight he had a change of heart. Perhaps he saw a lawyer. He asked $25 in cash to go on the air. So NBC dropped him. Kate Smith offered him $5 to go on her CBS show last Thursday. The new "millionaire" snapped it up.

A few years back Hal Kemp and Kay Kyser played in the same orchestra at the University of North Carolina. Then they drifted apart, both organizing bands of their own. Last fall when Kemp left the Blackhawk and W-G-N he nominated Kyser his successor. Currently Kemp is playing an engagement at the Stanley theater in Pittsburgh. Day they opened they were startled to see the front rows filled with a bunch of apparent rowdies reading newspapers throughout the performance. Ushers investigated and found they were Kay Kyser and his troupe hiding behind smoked glasses. The Kyser bandsmen promptly were pulled aboard the stage and asked to put on an impromptu performance.

Next night Kay was scheduled to open at the Willow club, a suburban resort. When he raised his baton for the opening number a raucous cacophony poured from the bandstand. Kay is nearsighted. This fact had enabled Kemp and several of his men to plant themselves among Kyser's men and get even.

Popeye, the Sailor Man of the animated cartoons, will go on the air Sept. 10 over NBC. Oddly enough a breakfast cereal maker, instead of the spinach trust, is sponsoring him.

◆

Although one of the four King Sisters is strting on a vacation there shall be no derth of Kings in Horace Heidt's quartet. Yvonne, 16 years old, arrived with her parents yesterday from Salt Lake City to fill in for sister Maxine. And there is yet another, still younger, who also has performed with the Heidt Brigadiers in the west.

Friday evening is to be operetta night starting Aug. 9. The NBC Beauty Box theater will switch to 8 p. m. Fridays, guest artists replacing the current headliners, James Melton and Francia White, who are Hollywood bound. Rose Bampton, young opera star, will appear in the first one, "Desert Song."

How One Woman Lost 48 Lbs. of Fat

Feels Years Younger

"When I started taking Kruschen I weighed 260 and felt logy. My friends made fun of me. I read about Kruschen and decided to try them. I took them every day for 6 months and got down to 212—I feel lighter and better in every way and can step around with the quickest of them. Everyone speaks of how much I've improved—even my skin is white and smoother."—Mabel Elliott, Englewood, N. J.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents.

When reducing attention to diet will help—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat.

To take off fat harmlessly and safely, take one half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning—don't worry—it's the safe way to reduce.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back.

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Conflicting price trends ruled in heavier bond trading on the New York Stock exchange today. Further progress was made in second grade railroad liens and some of the more speculative industrial loans, but this trend was offset to some extent by a heavy undertone in many of the high grade investment issues. Transactions amounted to $11,214,000, compared with $8,788,000 on Monday.

United States government bonds again were somewhat unsettled by the implications from Washington that administration leaders in congress will delay adjournment until late in the fall, if necessary to carry through some of the more important provisions of the President's tax program.

Treasury Issues Decline.

Net declines among the treasury's issues ranged from 1-32 to 5-32 of a point, while the guaranteed federal farm mortgage 3¼s of 1944-'64, yielded 5-32 of a point.

The unexpected decree by the Italian government abrogating the legal minimum gold reserve was interpreted as a sign of weakness and possible future devaluation, as well as an indication of a determination on the part of Premier Mussolini to carry out his political ambitions and brought about heavy selling pressure against Italian dollar bonds. Losses ranging from 2 to over 4 points ruled over a broad list of Italian issues.

Secondary Rail Bonds Rise.

Nickel Plate 6s led the advance in the second grade rail group with a gain of over 3 points. More moderate advances extended over a fairly long list of bonds in the rail list which lifted the average up .18 of a point.

The remainder of the domestic corporation sections was without feature with prices holding within narrow price limits with the trend irregularly toward slightly higher levels.

Baker Corp.

Investors' Guide: I have a $500 Baker corporation bond. Will you kindly advise me what this bond is worth today. Any information you may give will be deeply appreciated. Your column is one reason why I read the paper, but this represents the first time I have ever addressed any communication to you.—P. J. A.

Answer: Baker corporation was unable to pay the 1932 interest on the 6 per cent secured notes and effected a reorganization plan. The company met with further difficulties, however, and could not carry through the terms of the plan.

It is now practically without either assets or earnings. The security for the notes is the stock of Baker hotel, Fort Worth, Tex. The noteholders' protective committee obtained as further security stock of Baker hotel, Dallas, Tex.

No earnings statements are now available on the Fort Worth hotel. The stock of the Dallas hotel is subject to a first mortgage bond issue of $2,825,000. The latter is being reorganized under section 77-b of the bankruptcy act. The terms of the proposed plan provide that a substantial portion of the equity shall accrue to the common stock.

Lawrence Stern & Co., in commenting on the situation, say:

"Present earnings and outlook for the hotel [Dallas] are such that the committee believes that this equity may have a substantial value.

"Negotiations regarding organization of the Fort Worth hotel have also been under discussion and it is possible that there may be some salvage from this source.

"In view of the above circumstances there is no market for Baker corporation notes at this time and it is difficult to make any estimate of their potential value, at least until pending reorganization plans are finally effected."

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

Investors' Guide: I am sure that some time ago I read that the New York, New Haven & Hartford did 70 per cent of the railway passenger service in the United States. Have been told that I am in error. Will you please advise me? If not 70 per cent, what percentage of the business does it do?—M. C. J.

Answer: We have the following letter from H. W. Dorigan, assistant to the president of New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company:

"Passengers carried by this company during 1934 totaled 29,827,877, or 6.63 per cent of total passengers carried by class 1 railroads in the United States. The percentage for 1933 was 6.71.

"Passengers carried one mile aggregated 986,116,932 for 1934, or 5.47 per cent of the total. For 1933 the percentage was 5.61."

LARD FUTURES ADVANCE; BELLIES AT SEASON'S HIGH

Removal of hedges against shipping sales of cash lard and short covering lifted the July delivery to $14.45 per 100 pounds yesterday where it closed with a net gain of 12½ cents. September and October showed a firm undertone, and while meeting with profit taking sales closed 5 to 10 cents higher. The distant deliveries were inclined to drag and finished unchanged to 5 cents higher. Bellies gained 5 to 7½ cents with all deliveries at a new high for the season. Cash bellies are said to have sold at a premium over the July delivery.

Spot lard closed at $14.45; loose, $14.30; leaf, $14.62, and bellies at $18 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

SUGAR

NEW YORK, July 23.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw sugar was steady today with spots unchanged at 3.20c per lb but with forward shipment sugars 3 points higher at 3.28c. Sales included 10,000 bags Puerto Ricos early August and 40,000 bags Puerto Ricos late August at 3.20c to local refiners, and 50,000 bags Philippines August-September shipment to local and outport refiners at 3.23c. Sellers were generally asking 3 to 5 points above the sales levels.

Futures advanced 4 to 6 points on hedge lifting against sales of actuals and commission house support, but slight reactions occurred during the middle of the afternoon under realizing. Final prices were 2 to 4 points higher. Sales were 10,750 tons in the No. 3 and 1,450 tons in the No. 1. According to a resolution adopted by the board of managers, effective today, all trading in the No. 1 contract beginning with October delivery, will be suspended except for liquidating purposes, until further notice.

LESS BEING PAID TO DEPOSITORS BY CLOSED BANKS

Receipts Used to Protect Real Estate Assets.

Depositors with funds frozen in Cook county's 142 closed state banks obtained less money from liquidation during the three months ended June 30 than in any quarter in the last year.

Statements of condition issued yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett show this decrease is not caused by falling off in receipts, the latter being slightly higher than in the preceding three months.

Two reasons appear for the smaller returns. First is the mounting cost of receivership attributed to the heavy real estate holdings of the closed banks. The other is that the cash balance on hand rose by $619,168 during the quarter.

Expect Larger Disbursements.

Disbursements in the next few months, however, are expected to cut this balance and compensate with comparatively higher returns in the September quarter.

Observers point out that the mounting costs are occasioned by matters beyond the control of Receiver William L. O'Connell. Every ordinary item of expense, such as receivers' salary, legal fees, and clerical and miscellaneous costs, is lower than in the preceding three months.

The receiverships have devolved in a large part to real estate management concerns because of unwillingness to dump holdings on a comparatively dull market. To hold these properties the receiverships have paid out large sums to "protect assets." These items include back taxes, building repairs, and purchase of minority interests to gain clear titles.

Large Share to Protect Assets.

Out of total receipts of $4,756,915 in the three months ended June 30 an aggregate of $1,407,741, or 29.6 per cent, was advanced to protect assets. To apply against this expenditure $847,612, or 17.82 per cent of receipts, was obtained from rents and other income from the properties. During the preceding quarter total receipts were $4,511,021, while $826,880, or 18.33 per cent, was advanced to protect assets, and $523,471, or 9.69 per cent of receipts, was applied as refunds on advances.

Depositors last quarter obtained $1,022,278, or 21.49 per cent of receipts, compared with $1,364,893, or 30.26 per cent, in the preceding quarter. Other creditors received $1,166,209, or 24.5 per cent of receipts. This item included $605,230 repaid on loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. A separate item is the $132,170 interest paid.

Less Received from RFC.

Total receipts from the RFC last quarter were only $305,753, or 6.43 per cent of the total. Ordinary liquidation netted $3,603,550.

A comparison of disbursements follows:

		June 30 qtr. Pct.	Mar. 31 qtr. Pct.
Prior creditors....	$1,166,209	24.5	31.66
To depositors....	1,022,278	21.49	30.26
Receivers	2,953	0.06	0.42
Attorneys	170,301	3.58	5.57
Clerical	236,095	4.97	5.31
Interest	132,170	2.78	3.92
To protect assets.	1,407,741	29.6	18.33
Cash balance.....	619,168	13.02	4.53

The legal fees compare with $251.270 in the March quarter, most of the old bills now being paid. The increased cash balance, if all applied to depositors and other creditors, it will be noted, would make for an improved record, with creditors receiving more than 61 per cent. Ordinary costs, exclusive of protecting assets, then would be under 9 per cent.

Distribution of Receipts.

The following table shows the distribution of the $106,265,038 total receipts to date during the various receiverships and the comparative percentages as of March 31.

		June 30. Pct.	Mar. 31. Pct.

Losses in converting assets to cash totaled $17,995,604 on June 30. Book value, far in excess of real value, of remaining assets was $160,829,949. The balance still due creditors, mostly depositors, was $111,142,996. Another $10,384,826 is due on borrowed money.

Six Banks Make Payments.

Of the 20 closed banks for which Barrett released individual reports six made payments to depositors in the June 30 quarter, three others have acquired funds equal to another 5 per cent return, and four others have made progress toward further "dividends."

The Baker State restored 15 per cent, its first payment since closing Feb. 10, 1932. Others which yielded returns, all of which had repaid some money previously, were Arlington Heights State, Berwyn State, Boulevard State Savings, Brighton Park State, and Central Oak Park State.

The Auburn Park Trust and Savings, Baker State, and Bank of Harvey each had free cash for another 5 per cent distribution. Progress was made in the last quarter by the Brainerd State, Brookfield State, Builders and Merchants Bank and Trust company, and Bryn Mawr State. The latter, as well as the Auburn Park Trust and Armitage State, all members of the old Bain chain, have applications pending for loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Nothing Paid by Two Banks.

The Armitage and the Berwyn Trust and Savings bank now are the only ones of this group of 20 still having returned nothing to depositors.

The following individual sketches are designed to furnish best available information on chances for further returns before liquidation is complete. The operations of each bank—collections and how spent—also are detailed. Figures apply to entire receivership when not otherwise stated.

ADAMS STATE—Receipts, $389,000—little last quarter. Paid $199,600 prior claims and $48,105, or 12 per cent to depositors. Has repaid $25,500 on borrowed money and owes $98,666 balance, which has precedence over depositor claims. Cost $37,300 to protect assets, $12,600 interest, $12,400 attorneys, $3,760 receivers. Cash of $21,833 not free for dividends. Prospects not good for substantial final payout of $356,094 due depositors from $503,000 overvalued assets remaining.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS STATE—Receipts, $207,000—$12,000 last quarter. Erased $116,000 prior claims and paid $34,210, or 10 per cent, to depositors—5 per cent last quarter. Overvalued remaining assets on books at $455,000 are figured to fall far short of paying $319,000 due depositors. Some further returns are likely, however. Cost $14,500 to protect assets, $8,000 interest, $19,000 clerical, $10,700 receivers and attorneys. Cash, $4,600.

Armitage State Bank Data.

ARMITAGE STATE—Receipts, $139,000—$2,000 last quarter. Paid $74,300 prior claims, $25,000 clerical expense, $13,800 legal, $4,000 receivers. Cash, $8,400. Nothing for depositors yet, and situation indicated by hope of only 10 to 12 per cent from RFC loan application.

ASHLAND STATE—Receipts, $206,500—$4,500 last quarter. Paid $25,700, or 10 per cent, to depositors, $111,600 prior claims, $9,000 legal and receivers [still owes some legal], $28,000 clerical, and $29,000 to protect assets. Cash only $2,758. Heavy losses of $166,300 so far and only $382,000 book value remaining assets indicate small return on $254,000 still owed creditors.

AUBURN PARK TRUST & SAVINGS—Receipts, $411,300—$13,000 last quarter. Paid $91,200, or 17½ per cent, to depositors. Has $30,500 free cash, enough for 5 per cent more; also $25,000 cash held in trust. Loan application with RFC expected to yield 15 to 20 per cent. Best of Bain banks; fairly good outlook. Paid $157,000 prior claims, $48,500 to protect assets, $33,000 clerical, $20,000 legal, $5,800 receivers.

BAKER STATE—Receipts, $123,600—$32,000 last quarter, including $29,000 RFC loan. Paid $20,200, or 15 per cent initial dividend, last quarter, and $8,600 free cash is enough for 5 per cent more. Paid $45,200 prior claims, $21,000 to protect assets, $15,000 clerical, and $10,500 on other items. Outlook fairly good, depending much on real estate.

Bank of Harvey Summary.

BANK OF HARVEY—Receipts, $636,700—$36,700 last quarter. Paid $250,400, or 40 per cent, to depositors. Cash up, $29,000 to $42,500—needs only $32,000 for 5 per cent. Wiped out $248,400 prior claims, advanced $51,500 to protect assets [$6,700 last quarter], $38,500 clerical $3,500 last quarter], $4,200 interest, $16,800 legal fees, $6,800 receivers. Further substantial payments indicated.

BELMONT-SHEFFIELD TRUST & SAVINGS—Receipts, $268,200—$20,000 last quarter, $15,000 after expenses to make total cash $42,000. Little available for repayments, however. Has returned $93,441, or 47½ per cent, to depositors, with substantial payment indicated on $111,000 remaining liability. Owes RFC only $20,289 balance on $83,500 loan. Paid $35,000 prior claims, $14,000 to protect assets, $20,000 clerical, $10,000 other items.

BERWYN STATE—Receipts, $269,800—$10,000 last quarter. Paid $144,000 prior claims, $21,500 clerical, $17,200 to protect assets, $18,000 legal, $5,800 receivers, $3,500 interest. Returned $55,064, or 10 per cent, to depositors [half last quarter]. Little cash. Picture not bright.

BERWYN TRUST AND SAVINGS — Receipts, $76,500—$4,000 last quarter. Paid $26,000 prior claims, $15,000 clerical, $11,000 to protect assets, and $8,000 other items. Cash of $18,500 held against $18,800 due on borrowed money. Nothing to depositors yet, but some fair returns on $167,000 due depositors is indicated eventually from remaining assets of $332,000 book value.

Survey of Binga State Bank.

BINGA STATE — Receipts $391,200 — $21,000 last quarter. Paid $77,000 prior claims, $66,800 to protect assets, $41,000 clerical, $23,000 receiver, $10,000 legal. Only part of $34,000 cash is free, and depositors are not expected to receive much more additional than $138,500, or 12½ per cent, already paid.

BOULEVARD STATE SAVINGS—Receipts, $682,300—$73,000 last quarter, including $63,500 from RFC loan. Paid $147,500, or 20 per cent, to depositors, half last quarter. Somewhat heavy losses already indicate final pay out will be only fair. Costs include $873,000 prior claims, $74,000 to protect assets, $48,000 clerical, $28,000 legal, $9,400 receivers.

BRAINERD STATE—Receipts $130,000—$4,000 last quarter. Paid $51,700 prior claims, $13,000 clerical, $4,700 to protect assets, $8,000 legal, $4,000 receivers. Returned $37,700, or 17½ per cent, to depositors. Markedly better than most Bain banks. Hope for 10 to 12 per cent more from RFC by end of year, possibly a trifle more later.

BRIGHTON PARK STATE — Receipts $382,500 — $28,000 last quarter. Paid $219,000 prior claims [$5,500 last quarter]. $22,000 clerical, $17,000 legal, $10,000 interest, $9,000 to protect assets, $5,000 receivers. Returned $70,300, or 20 per cent—half last quarter. Cash of $30,000 reserved against $21,000 still owed on borrowed money. Losses not low, but some further substantial returns seen.

BROOKFIELD STATE—Receipts $123,200—$5,000 last quarter. Paid $56,500 prior claims, $19,700 clerical, $17,500 to protect assets, and $8,000 otherwise. Returned $16,000, or 10 per cent, of deposits and has half enough cash for 5 per cent more. Heavy losses. Only fair prospects on ultimate payout.

BRYN MAWR STATE—Receipts, $309,700—$5,500 last quarter. Paid $78,600, or 15 per cent, to depositors. Has $21,000 cash available on $25,000 needed for another 5 per cent. Hope for RFC loan for 5 to 10 per cent more. Possibly something further eventually. Costs include $129,000 prior claims, $31,500 clerical, $20,000 to protect assets, $18,600 legal, $5,900 receivers.

BUILDERS AND MERCHANTS BANK AND TRUST—Receipts $2,534,300—$87,000 last quarter. Cash up $51,000 in quarter to $55,000 total; $145,000 needed for 5 per cent. Has returned $864,000, or 30 per cent. Rather heavy losses but further substantial payments expected eventually. Paid off $958,000 prior claims, $355,000 to protect assets [$13,000 last quarter] with $298,000 refunded, $125,000 clerical, $119,300 legal, $34,000 receivers.

CALUMET CITY STATE — Receipts $127,000—$12,500 last quarter. Paid $10,000 prior claims, $33,000 to protect assets, $25,000 clerical, $11,000 legal, $4,700 receivers. Expenses heavy. How much more returns will be added to $31,474, or 10 per cent, now repaid depends heavily on real estate.

Central Manufacturing District.

CENTRAL MANUFACTURING DISTRICT—Receipts $3,030,400—$81,000 last quarter. Paid $1,568,500 prior claims and $597,000, or 22 per cent, to depositors. Repaid $32,000 [mostly last quarter] on RFC loan. Balance now $255,000 and cash of $198,000 reserved against this. Fairly substantial further returns indicated after RFC is paid. Costs include $465,000 to protect assets [$31,500 last quarter] against $303,000 income from that source, $185,000 clerical, $65,000 legal, $11,000 receivers.

CENTRAL OAK PARK STATE—Receipts $117,700 — $15,500 last quarter. Paid $56,000, or 55 per cent, to depositors [15 per cent last quarter]. Costs include $30,600 prior claims, $13,000 clerical, $6,200 to protect assets, $8,500 legal and receivers. Still further fairly substantial returns indicated.

William L. O'Connell now is receiver for all 20 of these banks.

ITALIAN MONEY FALLS IN VALUE ON GOLD DECREE

Mussolini Expected to Devalue Unit.

Gold Crisis in Holland

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE HAGUE, Holland, July 23.—Holland may follow Italy's example and abandon the gold standard as a result of today's cabinet crisis which, it is believed, will involve the resignation of the cabinet of Premier Dr. H. Colijn. Following a sharp attack launched by the Catholic party in parliament against the government's retrenchment bill, Premier Colijn visited Queen Wilhelmina. It is reported he tendered the cabinet's resignation which the queen is expected to accept. As his successor, the queen is likely to appoint the leader of the Catholic party, Prof. Dr. P. J. M. Aalberse. The main plank of the Catholic platform is devaluation of the guilder.

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—With the Bank of France giving spasmodic support to the lira today—probably with Italian funds—Italy's currency bobbed up and down like a cork in stormy weather, but closed at the bottom figure of 8.02 cents, off 23 points from yesterday's close. Gold bloc currencies reacted with the lira.

Although the Italian government's decree late yesterday suspending requirement of a 40 per cent gold coverage on currency made little immediate change in the technical elements behind the lira's value, the psychological effect was powerful. Bankers point out that in not setting a new legal limit for the gold coverage Mussolini's government has placed the gold of the Bank of Italy at its unlimited disposal.

Future Delivery at Discount.

The opening of the lira today was at 8.20 cents, off 5 points from yesterday's closing quotation. Three month deliveries were quoted here at a discount of 65 points bid to 60 points offered. In London the discount on three months' forward delivery widened to 4 to 7 lire on the pound.

Spot lire in London opened at 63 to 64 lire to the pound and declined to 65½ lire to the pound, from which they recovered to 61¼ to the pound on official Italian support.

The money market in London interpreted the Italian decrees as a preliminary to Italy's formal departure from the gold standard. The next step expected is the devaluation of the lira as a result of the expected fall in its value outside of Italy, and finally a formal abandonment of the gold standard about the same time that war is declared upon Ethiopia. Little credit is being granted to Italy in London, it was stated, with short term credits being withdrawn by banks and private individuals.

British Funds Tied Up.

While foreigners have been bootlegging funds out of Italy, it is estimated that at least 1,500,000 pounds, or about $7,500,000, in British funds are still tied up there.

It is expected now in New York banking circles that official control will keep the Italian currency from dropping too sharply, but will permit it to ease off gradually. The Italian government's action led to sharp declines in leading Italian government and municipal bonds traded on the stock exchange.

Reports from London today that the Rumanian lei had been devalued by 30 per cent were explained by dispatches from Brussels to the effect that Rumanian banks several weeks ago were authorized to pay a 30 per cent export premium on foreign drafts but that the official quotation remains the same. This amounts to practical devaluation for holders of foreign drafts. The lei was unchanged here at 1.01 cents.

The Rumanian government tonight issued a statement disavowing any plan for devaluation of the lei.

Dutch Guilder Drops.

Weakness in the gold bloc currencies that followed the lira's slump was concentrated in the Dutch guilder, which dropped well below the point at which gold bullion may profitably be shipped out of Holland. The closing price of the guilder was at 67.45 cents, off 23 points for the day, and compared with the gold export level of 67.64½ cents.

Swiss francs were down 5 points at 32.69 cents and French francs were off ⅝ point at 6.61⅝ cents, which raised the value of the dollar against francs to $1.0022, compared with $1.0016 yesterday. Based upon the old parity of the franc the dollar was worth 59.19 cents, against 59.16 cents yesterday.

The pound sterling showed some improvement today, rising ⅛ cent to close at $4.96⅝. German marks were off 2 points at 40.28 cents, and Hongkong dollars were 15 points lower at 53 cents.

Bar silver prices were unchanged in New York and London, but the price of gold bar in London was 3½ pence lower at 140 shillings 5 pence a fine ounce, equivalent to $34.84, at which price £530,000 of metal changed hands.

Bonds Decline in Italy.

ROME, July 23.—(AP)—Italian government bonds fell sharply and common stocks rose buoyantly today as the stock exchange reacted to a royal decree permitting the government to lower the legal limit of gold coverage for currency sight obligations fixed at 40 per cent in 1927. The lira held firm on the domestic market, losing only 1 centime.

Consolidated bonds, which form the majority of the public debt, fell off one point to 66, which is to be compared to the quotation of 86 when the Italo-Ethiopian dispute began. Treasury bonds dropped an average of one point each. Industrial and other stocks enjoyed rises ranging around four to six points. Metal and war equipment stocks were in particular demand.

Fascist Waste Is Worse Than War for Italy

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Yesterday's slump in the value of her currency and securities indicates that her own political spenders and not the Ethiopians are Italy's worst enemies.

Italy is going into war in the same financial condition that most nations come out of wars. If she loses in the projected African adventure it will probably be her own balance sheet rather than the barefooted Ethiopian soldiers who will lick her.

The Fascist government for years has been spending more than it has received in revenues. Lately it has been going into the red more steeply because of the tremendous cost of military preparations—for the African campaign. If and when actual fighting begins these expenses will multiply.

* *

Italy cannot borrow abroad, because her credit is too poor. Her government bonds in New York transactions have dropped from $86 to $66 per $100 of par value since the Ethiopian fracas began. Her foreign trade offers no help because she buys more goods abroad than she sells, thus requiring the exportation of gold from Rome to cover the trade deficit.

A few months ago the Fascists commandeered all investments of Italian citizens in foreign countries in order to turn them into gold so that the financially hard pressed government might have the wherewithal to continue purchasing necessities abroad. They also took over all silver coins and bullion.

That even these drastic measures have been insufficient is demonstrated by the action of the government this week in dipping into the gold reserves back of its currency. Apparently the gold that formerly backed the lira is to be spent by the government to finance its mounting military expenditures.

* *

At first this deliberate undermining of the value of her money will give Italy the semblance of a boom. Dispatches from Rome yesterday said that industrial stocks and other issues soared on the Rome stock exchange, some shares going up $4 to $6. Fiat motors, for example, shot up $6.

This shot in the arm will probably allay suspicion for a time and arouse popular enthusiasm for the new policy. The drop in the value of the lira in foreign markets will not be noticed for two reasons: first, the Italian press is muzzled and will not tell the truth; second, the ordinary citizen does not readily grasp the significance of a drop in the value of his currency in terms of the currencies of other nations. The further decline in the value of Italian securities in foreign countries will not be felt, because Italian credit was already so bad that the sale of additional bonds abroad was impossible anyway.

As the Fascist government dissipates in expenditures the gold that formerly constituted the nation's currency backing the lira will decline against foreign currencies just as the German mark declined during the period of inflation in that country after the war. This will bring hardship to Italian industries and citizens, who will find it increasingly difficult to buy foreign coal, rubber, steel, and other necessities. Italy lacks many natural resources and inability to buy them will probably cause a further reduction in the standard of living.

The results of a government's gradual destruction of the value of its money, however, come slowly and public recognition of the effects of such a policy of ruination come even more slowly. The lag between cause and effect will give the Fascists time to carry on their projected Ethiopian campaign.

What the ultimate results will be depends upon the extent of the ruinous monetary policy. The economic ruin wrought in central European nations by the inflationary policies followed after the world war led to revolution and the subsequent formation of new systems of government.

JUNE RECORDS DROP IN FACTORY JOBS, PAY ROLLS

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—A decrease of 1.7 per cent in factory employment, or about 118,000 workers, and 2.9 per cent or $4,100,000 in weekly factory pay rolls in June from May were reported today by Secretary Perkins on the basis of reports from "representative establishments" in ninety manufacturing industries. These were said by the labor department to represent over 50 per cent of the total wage earners in all manufacturing industries and more than 60 per cent of the wage earners in the 90 industries studied.

The June index of factory employment, based on the 1923-'25 average, was 78.7 compared with 81.1 a year ago, that of factory pay rolls was 68.5, compared with 64.9 a year ago. Miss Perkins said that factory employment "normally declines from May to June, decreases having been reported in nine of the preceding sixteen years." The decrease, along with losses in employment in wholesale and retail trade establishments and hotels, was partially offset by gains in fourteen industries of the non-manufacturing group.

WILLIAM J. HARAHAN NAMED PRESIDENT OF CHESAPEAKE & OHIO

Cleveland, O., July 23.—[Special.]—William J. Harahan, senior vice president of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, key road in the Van Sweringen group, today was elected president of the road by the board of directors to succeed John J. Bernet, who died recently.

Harahan, who was also elected president of the Pere Marquette, another of the Van Sweringen roads, is the son of James T. Harahan, a former president of the Illinois Central. He started his railroad experience with the Louisville and Nashville railway at New Orleans in a minor capacity. He started with the Illinois Central in 1892 and was assigned to the Chicago offices for a number of years.

This is the second time that Harahan has held the presidency of the Chesapeake and Ohio. He gave up that position to Bernet in 1929, but continued to take an active part in management of the line. He was president of the Seaboard Airlines railroad for eight years before going with the C. & O. in 1920.

Harahan was born in Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 22, 1867, and was educated at St. John's college, New Orleans.

Chicago Stocks Most Active in 14 Months

In the most active trading since May 22, 1934, fifteen issues listed on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday registered new highs for the year, while six issues equaled their previous 1935 high records. Advances far outnumbered declines in trading which reached a total turnover of 65,000 shares.

The most active issue in yesterday's trading was the common stock of the Chicago corporation. This stock, which is considered to stand a chance of enhancement in value in the event of inflation, advanced ¼ of a point to close at 2¾ on a turnover of 13,950 shares. The preferred stock of the same investment company eased a fraction.

Two Automotive Issues Easier.

Contrary to the general advance two of the leading shares in the automotive group moved fractionally lower. Bendix on a turnover of 3,100 shares declined ⅜ to close at 17½, while Borg Warner eased ⅝ to finish at 43⅝. Perfect Circle moved up 1 point to finish at 37.

Butler Brothers was another active issue. It closed unchanged at 7 on a turnover of 7,750 shares. During the session it reached 7⅛, which was just a shade under its high for the year. Marshall Field, which recently reported improvement in earnings, climbed a fraction to close at 9.

Commonwealth Edison Higher.

Commonwealth Edison in a limited amount of trading moved up 1⅜ points to finish at 80⅞. Public Service of Northern Illinois issues closed unchanged from the preceding day.

Both Swift and Swift International moved higher, the former gaining ⅜ and the latter ½. Quaker Oats preferred, which holds the banner position in the list, moved up 2 points to close at 148, a point over its former high for the year of 147.

SEC EXTENDS OVER-COUNTER REGISTRY LIMIT

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—The date when registration will be required of brokers and dealers who transact business in over-the-counter markets was extended today from Aug. 1 to Oct. 1 by the securities and exchange commission.

The action was taken to give the commission more time in which to check up with state regulatory bodies on information contained in applications. It also was explained that dealers in remote sections had asked for further time because information of the requirements of the commission had been slow in reaching them.

The task of making a check has proved an onerous one. Several hundred of the applications did not arrive until well along in July and others are still being received.

Since no unregistered broker or dealer may use the mails or any instrumentality of interstate commerce after Oct. 1, and since thirty days must elapse after the filing of the registration statement before registration becomes effective, the commission emphasized the necessity for the filing by brokers and dealers of accurate registration statements before Sept. 1.

Brown of South Bend, causing the meeting to be postponed first from morning to afternoon and then to yesterday in order to check all proxies.

STOCKS RISE BUT REALIZING CANCELS GAINS

115 Hit New Highs; Volume Heavy.

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Stocks continued their good behavior today as 115 issues set new high marks at the peaks although late recessions wiped out most of the biggest gains. Profit taking especially affected pivotal industrial stocks, although the close was about steady with Monday. Leadership of the carriers had a bullish effect on sentiment, because with these issues confirming the rise by the industrials it was felt that the market's position was being properly rounded out.

Revival of inflation sentiment was one of the interesting developments of the session. Keen interest was shown in the currency metals for the first time in weeks. Other basic industry stocks also improved. While the general list was a bit spotty at intervals, offerings were well absorbed and there was no evidence of any change in the constructive attitude of most speculators. Total volume for the session was 1,739,050 shares, the largest turnover since May 28.

Substantial Blocks Change Hands.

Substantial blocks of stocks changed hands early in the session. Steel common crossed 41 in large volume but Chrysler encountered realizing sales and dipped to about 56¼. Not much interest was shown in the utilities or the oils, although these stocks held well. Basic industry shares and rails reflected improved demand near the close of this period.

United States Smelting sold at 111¾, up 3¾; American Smelting pushed through 44, and Noranda got above 38. In the rail group Atchison touched 55 and Central, on large volume, got up to 18⅛. Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, Southern Pacific, and Union Pacific were strong.

Mixed trading developed in the afternoon except for a few industrials, which lost small fractions. There was less outside interest during the early afternoon, but no selling of importance took place. Steel common changed hands around 41⅝, du Pont near 107½, and Atchison around 55. Carriers were well bought at their peaks.

Public Interest Growing.

Public participation is decidedly on the increase, several leading commission houses declared in viewing the market following the latest upturn. With many analysts in the street anticipating a corrective reaction because of technical conditions, the general list has stubbornly refused to give ground, and this has bolstered the bull cause.

Outside demand is generally built up by one major factor—business trend—and this influence recently has assumed decisive bullish aspects. Heavy industries, notably steel and construction, are furnishing the high spots of strength. Moreover, the continued flow of favorable profit statements for the second quarter, most of them from leading corporations, and preliminary advices suggesting additional betterment in the September quarter, has slowly worked to bring the public into the market.

AGREE ON PLAN TO REORGANIZE WESTERN PACIFIC

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—The Western Pacific railroad has reached a virtual agreement for reorganization with the bondholders committee and probably will file a plan shortly with the interstate commerce commission, Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, said today.

Jones said the RFC is ready to advance $10,000,000 to the railroad for rehabilitation of the property if the I. C. C. approved the plan. The Western Pacific now owes the RFC about $2,900,000.

As collateral, Jones said, the railroad would either be required to give bonds paying 4 per cent interest for the first ten years and a higher rate thereafter so as to average 4½ per cent over a period of not more than 30 years, or 4 per cent bonds of a maturity of from twenty to twenty-five years.

Republic Steel Has Its Best June Quarter

Republic Steel corporation yesterday reported the best second quarter earnings in its history. Profit was $922,329 after all charges, or 1 cent per common share. Profit in the first quarter of this year was $1,834,236, or 46 cents per common share, and in the second quarter of last year $864,125, or only $1.45 per preferred share.

Earnings for the first half of 1935 were more than three times the profit reported in the corresponding 1934 period. They were $2,756,564, subject to audit and adjustments, or 47 cents per common share, against $805,443, or only $1.35 per preferred share, for the first half of 1934.

Earnings of the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation fell sharply to $44,412 for the quarter ended June 30, 1935, against the profit of $886,252 in the 1934 June quarter. The company lost $794,789 in the first quarter of this year. Net loss for the first half of 1935 was $750,377, against loss of $1,038,272 in the first half of 1934.

Cutler-Hammer Earnings Rise.

Cutler-Hammer, Inc., earnings for the first half were also sharply above last year's earnings. Net profit after all charges was $221,438, or 67 cents a share on 329,600 common shares, excluding treasury stock, against profit of $105,489, or 32 cents a share, for the first six months of 1934.

Current assets on June 30, 1935, amounted to $3,454,845 and current liabilities were $558,815. Cash was $503,136 and notes payable to banks were $300,000.

The tentative statement of Remington-Rand, Inc., for the three months to June 30, 1935, showed a profit of $478,704, equivalent to 13 cents per common share, according to James H. Rand Jr., president, at the stockholders' meeting yesterday. Profit in the second quarter of 1934 was $165,026.

Delay Vote on Recapitalization.

The meeting had been called to approve the proposed recapitalization plan. It was postponed until July 30 because the required amount of first preferred stock proxies had not been received, although more than two-thirds of the second preferred and common stocks had expressed approval.

G. A. Efroymson, president of Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc., estimated the first six months' profit of the company at $110,000, against an actual loss of $413,459 for the first six months of 1934.

Earnings of Bayuk Cigars, Inc., for the first half of this year fell off slightly to $394,120, or $3.14 a share, from $426,491, or $3.53 a share, for the first half of 1934.

The McWilliams Dredging company had a profit of $300,381, or $3.11 a share, for the first half of this year, against $286,401, or $2.97 a share, for the first half of 1934.

Paducah Cooperage Shows Profit.

Net income of Paducah Cooperage company for the first half of 1935 was $6,698, against a net loss of $131,110 for the corresponding 1934 period. The improvement was made despite a drop in gross sales.

A profit of $30,660, or 39 cents per common share, for the first half of this year was reported by the Lindsay Light and Chemical company. This result is after all charges "unless additional taxes are assessed." It compares with net income equal to 23 cents per common share for the first half of 1934. Directors yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 10 cents a share, payable on Aug. 17 to stock of record Aug. 3.

KROGER GROCERY SUMMER SALES BEST SINCE '31

The Kroger Grocery & Baking company yesterday reported sales of $17,014,381 for the four weeks ended July 13, the best for the period since 1931, and compared with $16,792,328 in the corresponding period of last year, an increase of 1.3 per cent. For the twenty weeks ended July 13 the company's sales totaled $124,747,067, against $118,249,029 a year ago, a gain of 5.5 per cent.

Safeway Stores, Inc., in the four weeks ended July 13 had the best sales for that period in the company's history, it was announced. The total of $23,038,026 compared with $19,080,864 in the 1934 period, an increase of 20.7 per cent. In the twenty-eight weeks ended July 13, the sales total was $147,642,672, a gain of 17.7 per cent over the $125,493,217 for the corresponding period of last year.

LOSS IN STUTZ STOCK DEAL SET AT $800,000

SEC Launches Probe of Security Sales.

How two brokerage houses—McCormick & Co. and Kopald, Quinn & Co.—sold 293,510 shares of common stock of Stutz Motor Car company during January, February, and March, 1934, when not more than 133,000 shares were outstanding at any one time, was told by investigators for the Securities and Exchange commission here yesterday. Losses suffered by purchasers from the two companies were estimated to be in excess of $800,000.

Both brokerage houses operated similarly on partial payment plans by which the purchaser paid 50 per cent down and was not entitled to delivery of his stock until he paid up his balance.

Schwab, Gorrell Testify.

While sensational material was furnished by SEC accountants, most of the five hour session was devoted to testimony of two "big names"—Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, former army flyer and president of Stutz, and Edward H. Schwab, brother and business agent for his brother, Charles M. Schwab, chairman of Bethlehem Steel corporation.

Testimony of both men left the impression that the steel magnate, despite his $250,000 annual salary, found it inexpedient to advance more money to Stutz. C. M. Schwab, who acquired control of the company after a corner on Stutz failed in 1920, has been regarded as the company's guardian angel since that time and has been called upon to supply cash whenever Stutz was in difficulty.

Yesterday he was pictured by both Gorrell and Schwab as unable to advance $26,000 to the company last year without borrowing money.

Under questioning by John L. Flynn of the SEC it was brought out that the price of Stutz common rose from $4.37½ to $10.62½ a share between Jan. 10 and Feb. 9, 1934, and that a majority of the sales were made near $10. In later months, it was said, the brokers repurchased most of the shares from their customers at $5 or less. In all instances sales were based on quotations for the stock on the Chicago Stock exchange.

Few Deliveries Made.

A. L. Godie, SEC accountant of Evanston, told of his findings in books of McCormick & Co. Sales were made in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, and Denver, totaling 181,060 shares for $1,503,729. A major portion of these shares was repurchased later, said Godie, including 73,944 for $350,765 in May of 1934.

Practically no deliveries of the stock were made to purchasers, said Godie, who estimated that the company could not possibly have delivered more than 30,000 shares, the maximum it owned or held option for at any time.

Condon H. Ronan, also of the SEC, testified similarly concerning Kopald-Quinn, whose sales, made in Atlanta, Chicago, New Orleans, and Houston, totaled 112,450 shares. Godie said the brokerage house never was in a position to have delivered more than 16,278 shares. It repurchased 118,865 shares subsequently at an average price of $5 or less, he added. Kopald-Quinn's profit was placed at slightly more than the $300,000 estimated loss to customers. The McCormick deals were estimated to have cost the public $506,000.

SEC Hunting Option Holder.

Schwab also told of his giving an option for 26,000 shares of stock to a Sam Genis, sought by the SEC, but as yet unlocated. It was through Genis and others that the stock found its way to the two brokerage houses.

Gorrell went into details on his myriad difficulties in raising money to keep Stutz afloat. He described his long struggle to obtain a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, an effort which still is in progress. The Stutz chief also told of his difficulties with the SEC and assailed the red tape which he has encountered at both agencies.

The hearing will be resumed today.

LONG-SHORT HAUL REPEAL IS URGED BY HOUSE GROUP

Declare Public Interest Requires Enactment.

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(AP)—The house was told in a report from its interstate commerce committee today that public interest throughout the country "clearly requires" enactment of the long-and-short-haul bill by Rep. Pettengill [Dem., Ind.]. Pettengill, who wrote the committee report and plans to seek early house action, described the measure as intended to enable the railroads to meet competition by charging less for a long haul than for a shorter haul over the same route in the same direction.

"Railroads no longer have a monopoly in the transportation field," said the report. "Ships and trucks are in position to handle a large part of the trafic that formerly moved exclusively by rail."

Cite Competitors' Freedom.

It was argued that "there is no long-and-short-haul prohibition in effect on any other competitive form of transportation and none is proposed in any pending legislation in congress respecting regulation of water carriers, trucks and buses."

Meanwhile the house interstate commerce committee approved the administration bill for federal regulation of motor trucks and buses.

Common carriers—those operating on fixed schedules between fixed points—are to have their rate schedules subject to interstate commerce commission control. Contract carriers—those operating by trip or contract—must file their minimum schedules with the commission. The legislation is expected to come up next week in the house.

Reduced rates on interstate transportation of crude oil by pipelines were opposed today at an interstate commerce commission hearing by John E. Shatford, representing the Louisiana-Arkansas Refiners' association of El Dorado, Ark. Shatford contended the lower rates permit distant refineries to compete with him and other independent refiners for the southwestern market.

Start Hearing on Rail-Barge Rates.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 23.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today opened a two week hearing here on the petition of railroads serving the Mississippi valley and the midwest, for cancelation of all joint rates of the railways and Mississippi river and other inland waterway barge lines.

COTTON MARKET UNSETTLED BY DROP AT NEW ORLEANS

A collapse in the July delivery of cotton in New Orleans, the price dropping as much as $2.20 per bale, unsettled the market yesterday. According to trade reports there was some selling of July against purchases of October cotton by brokers who frequently act for the government pool. Outside speculative interest remains light and mills are taking spot cotton slowly, in view of the numerous decisions holding the processing tax unconstitutional. Closing trades were at net losses of 9 to 16 points in Chicago and 5 to 21 points in other markets, July at New Orleans leading.

Trade reports placed pool holdings of spot cotton at 650,000 bales and of futures at 901,600 bales as of July 18. Crop reports continue favorable.

Spot cotton closed 15 points lower, with New Orleans 11.50 cents, Houston 11.55 cents, Galveston 11.70 cents, and New York 12.10 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK—July 23.—(AP)—COTTON—Unfinished goods markets continued inactive today, awaiting a decision in the trade as to what practice shall be followed in rebates of processor taxes. Finished goods sold in small lots, chiefly for early shipment. Silk goods were in slightly better demand in the gray goods division. Acetate rayons for immediate use were 2c a yard higher. Wool goods were firm and inactive; shipments increased. Burlap trading was very narrow with prices unchanged.

CHICAGO STEEL PLANTS REPORT NO SLACKENING

Usual Summer Letdown Is Lacking This Year.

Steel activity in the Chicago district this year is reversing the usual seasonal trend, in which there is a letdown during July and August, and is holding at a level as good or better than that prevailing during recent months, according to statements made by a number of executives yesterday.

At the offices of the Illinois Steel company it was said production at the large South Chicago and Gary plants is not showing any signs of a seasonal decline, such as usually occurs in normal years during the summer months.

The Inland Steel company said business is holding up well, the usual seasonal decline being absent. Shipping was estimated to be at a rate of better than 50 per cent of capacity and the outlook appears encouraging.

Ryerson Reports no Letdown.

Joseph T. Ryerson & Co., Inc., largest independent steel distributor in the country, also reported that the customary seasonal slack has been lacking this year, with business remaining on a par with that prevailing in the last three or four months. It was explained business generally has been on the upgrade to an extent sufficient to absorb the usual July and August slack. Business was said to be active in all lines except residential and commercial building, which continues to be in the doldrums. However, there has been a substantial amount of building by industrial concerns which are absorbing a considerable amount of steel.

All steel company officials were united in attributing an important part of the improvement in the steel business to the betterment in farm conditions.

Find Farmers Buying More.

"The fact that the farmer is getting higher prices for his products means that he is buying more," one executive asserted. "Buying by the farmers starts a purchasing circle which touches almost every line of business.

"In all my many years in the steel business this is the first year that I can recall in which the farm implement business has shown a gain during the summer months.

"Another important factor is the changing methods in the automobile industry, where the new tendency is to try to level manufacturing operations to provide stability of employment."

It was reported that orders for steel cover a wide range. Of particular significance, it was explained, is the fact that miscellaneous orders continue to hold steady. This indicates the small business man is doing well. The likelihood that there will be good crops this year gives hope that the steel industry will make important progress during the fall, it was said.

CITY NATIONAL TO OCCUPY FIRST FLOOR QUARTERS

BY AL CHASE.

Occupancy of the entire first floor banking space, comprising approximately 18,000 square feet, in the 208 South La Salle street building, by the City National Bank and Trust company, was announced yesterday by President Philip R. Clarke. This floor area, used several years ago by the bank and at one time by the former Continental National Bank and Trust company, will be used by operating departments of the City National now on the fourth and fifth floors.

The move not only provides for more efficient service to the public but insures ample room for expansion," said President Clarke.

The fourth and fifth floor space will be released about Nov. 1, for use by other tenants, according to Charles A. Lawton, manager of the building.

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday entered an order continuing the hearing of demurrers to the governmental condemnation proceedings against property owners on the south side for a $7,000,000 housing project for colored families, until Aug. 12. Judge Holly said it was a physical impossibility to hear the case, his calendar was so crowded. It will now go back to Judge Philip Sullivan, where the demurrers originally were filed by Attorney Earle F. Tilley.

Although it was asserted at Chicago PWA housing headquarters that options still were being sought, it was admitted by Frederick Z. Marx, attorney for Ickes, that they are being taken on a cash purchase basis and will be until the Tilley case is settled. Tilley said yesterday that if an adverse decision is rendered he will carry the case to the Supreme court of the United States. Marx intimated that if the government is victorious it will attempt condemnation proceedings again, notwithstanding the Cincinnati ruling that it was illegal. That decision, Marx said, does not affect this territory.

THE REAL ISSUE

"Shall Utility Holding Companies Be Destroyed and the Entire Electric Industry Be Put Under Federal Control?"

THE attitude of the Associated System on the Wheeler-Rayburn bill is and has been well known from the outset. It has been stated in advertisements published throughout the nation, in letters to Associated security holders, in published statements and reports. The Associated System came out into the open to fight this bill. It did not become a member of any committee. We deemed it preferable to defend, over our own name, our 300,000 security holders from this threat to their savings and our 1,450,000 customers from the political bureaucracy which is grasping for control of their service.

THE REAL ISSUE

The real issue in the fight on the Wheeler-Rayburn public utility bill is the death sentence for utility holding companies and ultimate complete control of the public utility industry by the Government. In the Senate bill the sentence is absolute. In the House bill provision is made for life imprisonment with an optional death sentence. In addition, the two bills provide for control by Washington bureaus of the financial and management policies of utility holding companies, accompanied by an entering wedge by the Federal government into the regulation of the operating properties.

If either bill is passed, undoubtedly State regulation will ultimately be superseded by Federal regulation. Government ownership will be the final step.

Those demanding this bill are grimly determined to destroy utility holding companies. These companies are fighting not only for a principle, but for their very lives.

We believe this legislation is unconstitutional, unfair, and an unjustified destruction of the property of American citizens. It has become increasingly apparent that proponents of the bill would try to jam this bill through Congress in spite of nation-wide opposition.

PROPER RECORDS KEPT

As to protests against the bill, whether by telegraph or mail, which the employees of the System assisted in obtaining, they were definitely intended to be authentic in every respect. The sending of any such telegrams or messages which were not authentic did not and does not have the sanction of the System and would not under any circumstances have been permitted if known. Authentic protests were easily secured from both investors and customers when once the nature of the bill was known to them.

The fact that there have been thrown away some so-called "records" is attempted to be made to appear a heinous offense. These were made up principally of newspaper reprints, cartoons, editorial comment, and memoranda as to the provisions of the legislation, which were used by employees in attempting intelligently to urge Associated customers and security holders to protect their own interests and oppose the Wheeler-Rayburn bill.

No fair-minded person could think that such material contained anything which would reflect on the campaign conducted by the System. Yet this single act is being used to make it appear that our methods in this campaign of self-preservation have been dark and our motives sinister.

The System keeps proper permanent records of all business and financial transactions. These include expenditures in connection with its fight against the utility bill. They are open to authorized investigators who wish to examine them.

The purpose of this advertisement is to make our position clear, and to remind the public that it has been clear from the beginning. We urge utility investors and customers to make their position equally clear to their Senators and Representatives. The real issue is the Wheeler-Rayburn bill.

WHEAT RECEDES ON DOUBTS OVER DAMAGE BY RUST

Prices Here Follow Break in Minneapolis.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Wheat encountered a flurry of selling in the Chicago market yesterday that carried prices down more than a cent a bushel from the level of the preceding day. Severe declines in values in the Minneapolis and Kansas City markets were important influences behind the liquidation here.

In the Minneapolis market some futures fell 5 cents a bushel, the maximum permitted, while in Kansas City prices went off nearly 2 cents. September wheat in Chicago closed at 84⅛ cents, a decline of 1¼ cents from Monday's price.

The break in Minneapolis caused speculative sentiment to veer sharply here. For several days the Minneapolis market has proved most sensitive to news of the spread of black rust in the spring wheat belt.

Doubt Severe Rust Damage.

When the Minneapolis market began to tumble yesterday traders grew skeptical of the alarming crop damage reports coming out of the northwest. The break served to reinforce the belief that has been felt all along in some quarters that the seriousness of the situation has been exaggerated.

Actually there is no way to accurately estimate the damage done nor will any reliable appraisal be possible for another 10 days. Conservative observers incline to the belief that the spring wheat belt will have a fair harvest, if not the bumper one anticipated a few weeks ago.

Hedging selling in the market yesterday was not unusually heavy, according to brokers. The market was strong in the early trading, with prices advancing more than a cent. From the high prices of the day the market declined nearly 3 cents a bushel.

Prices on September Futures.

Closing prices on the September futures, with comparative quotations, follow:

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Week Ago.
Wheat	$ .84⅛	$ .85⅜	$ .82⅜
Corn	.75⅛	.74⅞	.76
Oats	.31¼	.31¼	.31½
Rye	.45	.45½	.44½

The reaction here took place in the face of an upturn in foreign markets. In Winnipeg prices climbed half a cent a bushel, reflecting the apprehension that rust will become a serious factor in the Canadian crop. The Buenos Aires and Liverpool markets rose over a cent a bushel. The continued drought in Argentina is beginning to get more recognition in the world market, although to date it has been overshadowed by other bearish market influences.

Neither the rust scare nor renewed inflation talk has brought any material broadening in public participation in the grain market.

HOGS CONTINUE RISE; REACH NEW SEVEN YEAR HIGH

Gain 10 to 25 Cents; Top Is $13.25.

Further advances of 10 to 25 cents were scored in hogs yesterday as receipts fell sharply, carrying the market to $13.25, the highest level since September, 1928, and establishing a new July peak for the last nine years. Prices yesterday were $1.30 to $1.50 above quotations four weeks ago and $2.50 to $3 above the level prevailing at the opening of 1935. The top yesterday shows a rise of 70 cents since the previous Tuesday, the biggest seven day advance since February.

Fresh pork failed to follow the rise in live costs to the packer, wholesale quotations at some of the distributing points going down as much as $1 for the day and $3 for the week, but this failed to deter packers, who are badly in need of supplies to keep their plants working with a minimum force.

Trading in hogs slowed down for a short time in midsession when some of the larger interests balked at the unfavorable ratio between pork and hog prices, but an advance estimate of only 7,000 hogs for today's market sent buyers scurrying through the yards for volume again near the close when all interests were paying the full advance. Only 9,000 hogs arrived yesterday.

Cattle receipts were light but with wholesale beef weak to 50 cents lower again the cattle market was sluggish and weak to 15 cents lower with the exception of a few light steers and hefers. Calves were steady.

Quality of steers was rather plain and nothing in the receipts sold over $11.35. It was the lowest Tuesday top since Jan. 1. The bulk of the supply of steers of beef merit consisted of stock selling at $8 to $10.65, with some low grades ranging downwards to $4 and below.

More action featured the lamb trade and about 25 cents of the recent losses was recovered. All interests paid up to $8.25 for closely sorted ewe and wether natives.

CARGILL TAKES ELEVATOR LEASE OF ROSENBAUMS

Court Sanctions Deal as Reorganization Step.

The Cargill Grain company of Minneapolis is expected to take possession of the Northwestern elevator in South Chicago about Aug. 1, it was learned yesterday. The firm is taking over the lease formerly held by the Rosenbaum Grain corporation under a ruling by Federal Judge William H. Holly, before whom reorganization plans for the latter concern are pending. The lease runs until the middle of 1937.

Through its acquision of the Northwestern warehouse the Cargill firm now controls more elevator space than any other firm in Chicago.

Can Store 10,000,000 Bushels.

The Northwestern house has a capacity of 10,000,000 bushels. Adjacent to it the Cargill company has another elevator with a capacity of 1,000,000 bushels.

The Cargill company is paying $70,000 to the trustees of the Rosenbaum company for immediate possession of the Northwestern house. Arrangements have also been made for the purchase by Cargill of the grain in the warehouse. Under the lease which the firm is taking over it will pay an annual rental of $178,000 to the Chicago and North Western railway, the owner. Provision for extra rental payment in case the annual business exceeds 25,000,000 bushels is made in the lease.

Seeks Chicago Space for Years.

The Cargill company has sought for years to acquire additional elevator space in Chicago. Until now, however, it has been unsuccessful. The company is expected to apply shortly for clearing privileges on the Chicago Board of Trade. The exchange rules were recently amended to allow corporate membership in the clearing house.

Hearings on the reorganization of the remaining Rosenbaum properties will be resumed tomorrow before Judge Holly. With the loss of the Northwestern elevator the firm has storage space with a capacity of 6,000,000 bushels in Chicago.

MEN

I could never begin to put in writing the real meaning of this opportunity. It is difficult to write an ad that will attract the attention of good men, due to the fact that so many advertisements appear in the paper.

Our business is wonderful and is getting better every day. Our men are happy in their work—making real money. John Radder, former R. R. man, made $1,171 for four weeks' work. He has a wife and 15 children—never sold before he came here. Harry Solvin, a painter, made $1,503 and $1,106 for two 4 week periods. Bell, a boy just out of college, made $960 in 4 weeks. This was his first job. Al Grosser made $1,624 in 4 weeks. Paul Lecuyer made $1,091 in 4 weeks. He was a former Kankakee business man before the depression caused him to close his shop. Doug. Rodda made $716 for 4 weeks' work. These are facts; they are actual commissions and bonuses earned. I could list 50 names, but it would only take up a lot of space.

It does not matter what line of work you have been following. If you are out of a job here is a lifetime opportunity that I will prove to you pays more money than any other proposition in the country. We are merchandising an electrical unit invention, a mechanical specialty only a few months old in the Chicago territory.
